Pine Falls Basements Flood, Again

Role reversal for firefighters - pumping water out of, not into houses.

Unusually High Rains Call for Drastic Measures

by Charles Norman

Kim Wilson got a foot of water in his basement last Saturday. "I'm just fed up." He said. "This is the fifth time, and nothing is really being done."

This is not strictly true. Two years ago, when basements flooded after a sudden downpour, the Mill Engineering Department discovered a storm water drain was draining into a townsite sewer system pumping station. this was repaired, and it should have been enough to prevent any major problems in the future.

But this year has been unusual. There has already been more rainfall this summer than at any time on record. "The ground is saturated" said Mel Jaster, "there is nowhere else for it to go. The system just can't handle it."

The Pine Falls Fire Department did their best. In two and a half hours they pumped 250,000 gallons out of a manhole opposite the Mill Main Office, and into a ditch. "A good part of that would have backed up into Pine Falls basements." One firefighter said.

The townsite sewer system overflows into the mill sewer which recorded an increase in flow of 1.4 million gallons last Saturday.

Mill Management meets with Cabinet

Abitibi Mill Manager, Fern Pitre, and Woods Manager Glen Pinnell met with the Provincial Cabinet in Pinawa on Wednesday August 11. Pitre said he was very, very pleased with their reception.

Pitre and Pinnell made a presentation based on the latest Abitibi Price projections on the future of the newsprint industry. The essence of the Abitibi projections is that the economy is in better shape than most people realize, and that uncertainties caused by the U.S. budget and problems with overseas economies will be on their way to resolution by the Fall or year end at the latest.

Newsprint sales depend on the advertising market. The company said consumption has been weaker than expected because the economy has taken longer to rebound than expected. Classified advertising has been doing fairly well, but retail advertising has been weak. However Abitibi anticipates a "real snap back for

Canada Post Answers Questions on Belair Move

The reasoning behind the recent proposal by Canada Post to change Belair postal service, was stated early this week in a telephone conversation with Mr. Claude Legal, the Retail Network Officer, Mid-West Division of Canada Post. According to Mr. Legal, Canada Post utilizes natural means such as attrition, retirement or employee terminations to change the age old face of rural postal services. In the case of the Belair Post Office, the Postmistress, Mrs. Leslie Smith, resigned on May 15th, leaving the facility without a Postmistress. Mrs. Elizabeth Green is replacing Mrs. Smith in a term position. The term expires on August 31st. The Office is currently being operated from Mrs. Green's home. Mrs. Green has been an associate Postmistress since 1981 when the Post Office was operated by Pat Gibson. Mrs. Green was also Associate Postmistress during the period when the Post Office was operated by Mrs. Smith. Betty Green now has twelve years experience with Canada Post.

Canada Post proposes customer retail service from a local retail outlet, such as Belair General Store. Normal sales of stamps, money orders and other postal items would be sold by the franchise operator. All franchise operators must undergo a credit check, and security checks. All employees of the retail outlet must be trustworthy. Mail would be received by customers from community mailboxes. These mailboxes would be located on municipal property, with a proper approach for vehicular traffic. Mail will be delivered by a rural route contract person, who sorts the mail at a group site, and then deposits it in the boxes. This includes all advertising and flyers.

Canada Post officials believe the level of service will be increased with the advent of a retail outlet, and community mailboxes. Convenience is cited as the main advantage. Customers will have access to their mailboxes twenty four hours a day, seven days a week. Currently mail pick up is restricted to three and a half hours in the morning, six days a week.

Postmasters have the authority to sign certain documents for customers. Documents such as insurance forms where proof of identity is required. The operator of a retail outlet will still have this authority. The operator of the retail outlet will not be able to sign passports.

Canada Post officials will be hosting an information session at Walter Whyte School, on August 18th 1993, at 7:00 P.M. Residents of Belair are invited to come and air their concerns. Mr. Legal will be happy to listen and advise.

Postmasters Against Rural Closures

The current issue of "The Canadian Postmaster," has printed some pretty interesting tidbits of information, and statistics. Polling was done of the four political parties to determine what stands the parties are taking on issues such as privatization, post office closures, contracting out, and rural issues. The Conservative Party recommends that Canada Post be privatized, continues to deregulate, and plans to abolish service to remote areas. The PCs also support the cut-backs and closures which are currently devastating rural areas. The Reform Party supports privatization of the vast majority of Crown corporations. The Reformers have no official position on contracting out. Reformers support deregulation, and a reform of postal service that would ensure rural and remote areas continue to receive postal services comparable in quality and cost. The Liberal Party opposes privatization, recommends that Canada Post maintain its existing retail network collection, processing, and delivery of mail. The Liberals also oppose contracting out. They also believe that postal service should be equitably provided to all residents, both urban and rural. The New Democratic Party oppose privatization of postal services and contracting out. They recommend an end to post office closures and they believe all Canadians have the right to full postal services. Further that these full postal services be protected.

The Canadian Postmaster and Assistants Association believe the closing of rural post offices must be stopped. Since 1986 Canada Post has closed more than 1460 rural postal outlets. This has resulted in job loss for 3,500 employees at a time in our history when jobs in the rural marketplace are almost nonexistent.

The Canadian Postmaster and Assistants Association magazine also states, "most people don't agree that the closing of rural post offices is an improvement. People know what it is like to be forced to go to a private retail outlet and try to retrieve a parcel, or to try to find out how long it now takes for a letter to get from one town to the other after it is sent to the city for processing."

ENJOYING YOUR SUMMER?

August is quickly coming to a close, which means September follows...and everybody knows September, besides being the time when kids are back to school, usually heralds autumn and then winter. Isn't that a depressing thought??? Oh well, summer, or what we have laughingly call summer for the past two years, is fast becoming history. Perhaps we could feel better about it all, cold and rain etc. if only there weren't such maniacal hordes of mosquitoes to contend with. The only way one can find any enjoyment in this mosquito ridden outdoors is if one is the possessor of a screened deck. One crazy alternative is to beg, borrow or steal a complete suit of armor. This outrageous outfit would of course have to be completely sealed. This 'd tend to get a little hot, and just a tad uncomfortable, not to mention noisy! But what a conversation piece you'd be!!!!

New Secretary/Treasurer in Powerview

by Charles Norman
Michelle Wazny took over the position of Secretary/Treasurer from Joan Sokoloski on July 16, and handled her first Council meeting on Tuesday August 10. This is her first job in municipal administration.

Wazny, who looks as if she just graduated from high school, graduated from Lac du Bonnet Senior High School eight years ago.

She studied Business Administration for two years at Red River Community College, majoring in Accounting. After graduating she worked for a year with Nygaard in Winnipeg, and for five years with Air Canada.

She says she will miss the free trips with Air Canada, but she and her husband of eleven months, Dan Wazny, wanted to move back here. She lives the economy next year" and expects a suppliers market in the following two or three years.

The company base their projections on an early end to the recession, and the fact that there will be no new capacity entering the market before 1996. They anticipate that existing newsprint capacity will be reduced through plant shutdowns and conversions to other products, (some conversions to directory grade paper have already been announced).

The company forecasts that by 1995 the industry will be running at close to capacity, and that prices will be strong enough for the industry to recoup its recent losses. They expect this will continue for several years, primarily because there will be no new production capacity competing for the newsprint market.

in Lac du Bonnet, where both of their families live. Dan is a Hydro lineman trainee, currently working in Gillam.

Wazny will be starting a University of Manitoba correspondence course in Municipal Administration in September.

She said she enjoys her new job very much. "I've got a lot to learn," she said, "but I find it very interesting - for sure."

ATV's "really not that bad"

Get real Loraine, it's really not that bad, I walk some of those paths, I don't find these bikers speeding up behind me and running me into the bush. I also know the difference between the sound of 1) a large bee; 2) a buzz saw; 3) a dirt bike. Are you paranoid or on something other than water?

I was a snowmobiler twenty years ago and they made us quit riding within the city limits, we moved out to the flood way and that was too close so we were banished to the bush as you put it. We were one of the lucky ones as we had a cabin, the kids here bike/snowmobile where very few humans dare to tread (Belair), I don't know where your coming from, but please don't paint all the bikers with the same brush.

Get a life and leave the kids alone, life's too short for your pettiness.

Local youngsters return from Denver.

by Charles Norman

Eleven local teenagers and three adults arrived home Monday evening full of excitement and enthusiasm after their six day trip to Denver for world youth day and an opportunity to see and hear the Pope in action.

To everyone of the young people the highlight of the whole series of events was the arrival of the Pope by helicopter at Mile-High Stadium.

"It was an experience, it was really big," said 14 year old Angie Guay. Her 15 year old sister Jackie went further. "It was awesome, a thing you would never forget." She said. "A once in a lifetime thing - it was wonderful." She said when the Pope arrived the crowd just went wild. "your heart felt like it was pounding out of you. You just felt like crying."

What impressed 16 year old Kelly Pinnell was the fact that there were "thousands and thousands of people from all over the world all there for one purpose." She said the arrival of the Pope was "really exciting, the highlight for just about everybody"

Vanessa James wasn't sure when the time came to leave for Denver that she really wanted to go. "But when I got there it was totally different." She said. "He brought us closer together. His words are full of wisdom. It was a great experience."

16 year old Lance Nault said the atmosphere was unbelievable. "A sum of 100,000 Catholic youths were slowly beginning to become 'one body' It was so exciting meeting and having fellowship with teenagers from across the world.

The Pope told the 250,000 pilgrims that an "anti-life mentality" is gripping humanity as it moves into the modern technological age. The changes, he said are fostering an attitude of hostility to life in the womb and life in its last stages.

He implored the young people to devote their lives to the Churches traditional and fundamental laws, rather than building a set of private values.

"The good shepherd continues to be the sure hope of humanity." He said, to thunderous cheers. "Have confidence in Christ."

New Development at Peddens Corner

Three local businessmen, Merv Pedden, Cal Shade, and John Loos are planning to build a new strip mall at Peddens Place. The developers expect the new mall to be open for business well before Christmas.

Major financing for the $500,000 project is to be provided by the Royal Bank under the Small Business Loans Act. The investors learned last Friday (August 13) that the banks head office had approved the loan, subject to their being no ground contamination from the underground fuel storage tanks.

The mall will be built to the North of the existing buildings which will be removed as soon as the new building is in operation. The existing fuel tanks are scheduled for removal this week. Construction of the rest of the project is expected to begin after inspection and clearance from the Lac du Bonnet Department of the Environment.

Project contractors Contemora Steel Ltd., of Winnipeg will be installing new gas pumps and fuel tanks immediately. Pedden expects the gas bar to be back in operation before Labour Day. Propane will be available throughout the construction period.

The mall will include a laundromat, restaurant, and convenience store. The laundromat will be operated by Pedden, and the restaurant by Loos, who's present business Tasty Treats is up for sale.

Pedden said the parking area will be graded this fall and paved in a year or two.

Shade, who put together the business plan, and found it attractive enough to invest in himself, said one of the things that made it attractive was the availability of sewer and water. He said there are plans for further commercial development of retail or office space on the East side of the property.

Dear friends and customers,

As you have no doubt heard, there will be some significant changes make to Pedden's Place.

Your valuable patronage over the years included purchasing fuel at our pumps and we would like you to be aware that there will be an interruption in our ability to service you with fuel for approximately three weeks in August, during which time the existing fuel tanks will be removed and replaced.

Our convenience store, laundromat and restaurant will remain open in their existing premises while our fuel facility is upgraded and we hope that you will continue to come around and keep track of the construction progress.

Thank you for your consideration.

Your's Truly
Merv Pedden

Stead Mens Slo-Pitch News

By Norm Viznaugh
The Annual Men's Slo-Pitch Tournament was held in Stead this past weekend. Rainy weather put a damper on the games on Saturday, and only a few games were played, but on Sunday the organizers battled against adversity and diligently worked on a schedule to get all of the games played. Fortunately it all worked out, and after all of the preliminary games were finished, the finals were held. Pine Falls and area were well represented. All final games consisted of seven innings, with extra innings if required. The results were as follows:
On the "A" side - The "Head Pins" from Pine Falls and area defeated another local Pine Falls team, "The Stones", 18 - 17 in eight innings.
On the "B" side - The "Neon Cowboys", the other Pine Falls and district team, defeated the "Untouchables" 9 - 5.
On the "C" side - The host team the "Stead selects" defeated "F Troop" in yet another contest that went into extra innings, getting it done in nine innings.

All in all it was a fun tournament and everybody had a good time, - well, maybe we were a little wet, especially out in the left field bleacher area, where the "Water Slide" competition was held, with the winner being Powerview's own Chukie, - unofficially of course.
Congratulations to the winners in the tournament, and special thanks to the organizers of the tournament, Mark Otto, and Pete Hildebrandt. Also to the ladies in the canteen. See you next Summer guys.

Air Strike Effective - Opposition Devastated

It was obvious from the opening kick off that the Bombers wanted a win. Whenever I see a team run a short side reverse on the first kick return of the game I either question their sanity or think they may have something to prove. We definitely had something to prove after the Calgary game. Both our offence and defence had to show the world they were not only capable of winning, but that they could also beat the big boys.
In all fairness to the Bomber's efforts, the Eskimos started out being intimidated mostly by the crowd. Yes, that noisy, boisterous, and just plain offensive crowd opposing teams have come to know and hate showed Edmonton something that ran a chill to the very depths of their souls - class. Just before the playing of the Anthem the announcer asked the crowd for a moment of silence in respect for the passing of Vince Lee. Lee was one of the founding fathers of our Bombers and even coined their name. When the announcer asked for silence from the crowd he got it. Standing on the sidelines, I could hear the traffic outside the Stadium. When one person would talk, the whole crowd could hear it. After this dazzling display I peered over to the Edmonton bench and they looked spooked. I guess silence in Winnipeg, if you're not used to it, can be a very scary experience. They fact that our defence was on them like an insect plague didn't help them much either.

The most miraculous thing to happen at the game occurred at half-time. I arrived at the game early and was not well prepared for this; in fact, it was as embarrassing as it was strange. I bumped into somebody. He was definitely as shocked as I, until we both noticed there were lots of people bumping into one another. Who would have thought all those people would turn up to watch their home team beat up an old time rival in the most exciting brand of professional football on the planet? May wonders never cease. Admittedly 25,786 people is quite a few thousand shy of the crowds we used to get when Edmonton came to town but it's what one is used to not what one has. Besides, Warren Moon plays for a team that can wait forty-five seconds between plays. He had to do twice the work in the old days.

We learned a few things in this past game. Our defence is still capable of carpet bombing opposing offences. NORAD hates Eskimos; but first and foremost Dunigan can Runagain. Not only that our receivers can catch a ball when they decide to; even if their quarterback has to do it. Dunigan's running not only won a game and helped him become accepted in quarterback hell (Winnipeg), but it also earned him the coveted Community Voice Victory Point, for which, he receives nothing. Nothing, that is, but the fame and glory of being mentioned in this prestigious column.

The Bomber's face the test of time this week on a hard road trip first to BC, then three days later to Sacramento. Don't expect a lot, these are two hard teams to play in such a short time so just winning will do, we don't need any blow-outs; we just need a good welcoming committee for when they play at home again. Think of it this way, If we hit 28,000 I may be crushed in the mob at half time.
