Leader sold

Effective Tuesday, September 1, the Lac du Bonnet Leader will be owned by a Quebec based conglomerate, Quebecor.

Lac du Bonnet's community newspaper is to become a regional paper, delivered free to surrounding communities including Pine Falls, Northern communities and possibly Beausejour.

Quebecor is a forest products company with newsprint production facilities in Quebec. The company owns several Eastern daily newspapers and the Winnipeg Sun. It also owns five regional weeklies in Manitoba including the Selkirk Journal. Free distribution of the Journal in Pine Falls will be replaced by the Leader.

Merv Farmer, of Interlake Publishing, who manages Quebecor's Manitoba weeklies, said national advertisers like the convenience of buying advertising in larger circulation papers rather than a host of smaller, community based newspapers, but says there is still a place for the locally owned and operated weekly.

Voice Publisher Charles Norman is not happy with the news. "The free regional publications are parasitic," he said. "They cream off the national advertising, without which it's difficult for a community newspaper to make a profit, but don't provide the news coverage that's a vital part of any small community. They're not newspapers, they are flyers."

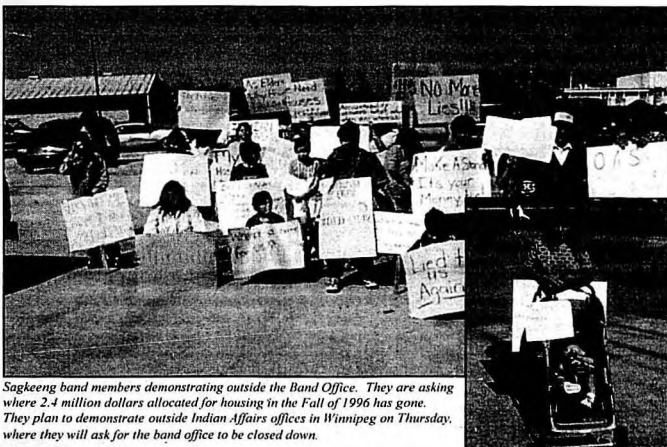

He disagreed with Farmer's comment on the convenience of national advertisers. "It's not convenience, it's laziness on the part of advertising agencies," he said. "The agencies are able to convince the big automobile companies that they are getting coverage in Pine Falls by buying advertising in the Journal. It's simply not true. Hardly anyone in Pine Falls reads the Journal."

He said the Pine Falls post office got fed up with having to clear up discarded flyers and installed a huge garbage bin for the discards. "On days when the Journal is delivered the garbage can is immediately filled with copies of the Journal." He said. He did admit that many of them had had the Safeway flyers removed first. "The Journal is a good buy for Safeway," he said. "but not for the big three auto manufacturers." He said most of the trucks sold by Chrysler, General Motors, and Ford in Manitoba are purchased in rural communities but their advertising policy is contributing to the demise of community newspapers in the very communities that they depend on for the majority of their truck sales. By advertising in a flyer like the Journal, which no one reads, they are missing out on reaching mill employees with a payroll of twenty-five million dollars, large profit sharing checks, and the forty million dollars they are getting for the sale of the mill.

Norman said he does not see The Leader coming into Pine Falls as a threat to The Voice in the short term. "As long as I can keep working this community will have its own newspaper," he said. "The challenge is to make it profitable enough for someone else to take over." He said he expects to lose some advertising from Lac du Bonnet, but hopes to more than make up for it with advertising from Selkirk. "As long as our local advertisers stick with us we'll be OK," he said.

"Advertising has to work for the advertiser" he said, "and that depends on readership. A paid newspaper guarantees that the paper is read, a free distribution offers no guarantees at all, but The Voice needs subscribers to ensure coverage for advertisers." He said The Voice plans to improve its news coverage of the Beaches to support a subscription drive in that area, but appealed to existing subscribers whose subscriptions are due to renew. "Call us and put it on your Visa," he said.

Sagkeeng band members demonstrating outside the Band Office. They are asking where 2.4 million dollars allocated for housing in the Fall of 1996 has gone. They plan to demonstrate outside Indian Affairs offices in Winnipeg on Thursday, where they will ask for the band office to be closed down.

Where did all the money go?

By Charles Norman

Sagkeeng residents are wondering where the 2.4 million dollars earmarked for housing in 1996 has gone. Only two houses have been completed since then, and neither of them went to any of the 300 Sagkeeng members who are on the housing list.

At a demonstration outside the band office Tuesday, August 25, Leslie Dorie told The Voice that Sagkeeng received 2.4 million dollars in the fall of 96. He was elected to the housing committee in December of that year, but said by the time they got started there was only $1.7 million left.

Dorie said the housing committee asked for the money to be put into a separate account and made available only for housing, but the request was denied.

"It dwindled down to $700,000, and this is what we had to build houses and do repairs," he said. He does not know how the other $1.7 million was spent. It's so difficult to get answers from them, (the band administration). They don't give us straight answers."

Dorie said the band has built only two houses, both of them RTMs (ready to move). One of them for $60,000 and the other for an estimated $100,000. "The guy with the $60,000 house doesn't even live in it, he's rented it out," he said.

Dorie said that Chief Fontaine said, "We're going to give you $750,000 to build 10 houses." His committee stretched the budget to 21 units and began to build some of them, but funding ran out. They were not completed, and demonstrators said the uncompleted houses are open to the weather and are beginning to rot.

One resident said her basement has been filled with raw sewage because sewage pumps are not properly monitored. She said there is half an inch of mould on the walls, and it causes a disease in her children which causes their lungs to bleed.

Elder J. B. Guimond said Chief Fontaine asked them to postpone the demonstration but they refused. Guimond showed The Voice his own home, where he lives with his wife and two teenage grandchildren. "We can't live in this house this winter," he said. The floor of the house has separated from the walls, there is mould on the walls, movement of the house is causing windows to break and doors to jam. One door cannot be used at all in winter, and ice forms on the outside walls.

"We're frustrated with the band leadership and the workers in the band office," he said. "When we go in there we're treated like dirt." We are going to INAC (Indian and Northern Affairs Canada, in Winnipeg) Thursday and ask them to close the band office down.

Triple "C" Committee promises positive program

Dear Editor:
Re: The Sagkeeng Situation

The Canadian Charter of Human Rights gives me the right to voice my opinion, therefore, I am providing my opinion to the readership of The Community Voice.

First of all, I'd like to thank Mr. Charles Norman and The Community Voice staff for treating me with respect and dignity during our conversations and meetings. In the past issues of The Voice people of Sagkeeng and the readership have seen and read about what happens when you express concerns about the Sagkeeng government system.

Basically, people who voice their concerns are blackballed from what little services the First Nation can still provide. The people who do not respect their fellow citizens are the people that support the welfare hand-out system of Chief Jerry Fontaine and Council. These people will cry "racism", even when the concerns are being raised by their fellow First Nation members. Even the Federal and other governments have turned a blind eye and deaf ear to our pleas for a forensic audit.

People of Sagkeeng, take a good, long hard look at our community and see who is profiting. We are all fools if we think the Sagkeeng First Nation is not in financial trouble. The longer we deny the facts, the longer we will take to make positive change. As long as we allow the leadership of Chief

Jerry Fontaine and Council to exist, we can assure ourselves, our children, and our future generations that the welfare handout system will also exist. In other words, we will be able to confirm our youths' worst fears... that there is no hope.

The Triple "C" Committee is developing a program for positive change in the community. Work with us.

People of Sagkeeng, it is time to speak up in order to make positive change for the next seven generations to come. Remember... the truth shall prevail!

Sincerely,
Martin James

Alumni praise School Reunion organizers

Dear Editor:

I just had to write this letter to thank all the former students and teachers of Powerview school, who attended the reunion, for the memories. I am not a former student of your school but I now know how fortunate Danielle, (my spouse) is to have gone to Powerview School. During my childhood I never spent more than a year or two at any school so I will not have a reunion of my own to attend. But, while others re-kindled old memories I kindled new memories that I will carry with me until the next reunion, hopefully not in another 70 years.

To those of you whose wives I really did not date before you married them, thank you for not punching me in the nose. I had a great time talking to those of you who started remembering me from my youth as well as those of you who knew I had never been a former student (despite my insisting I was one of the trouble makers in the back row). I have never laughed so hard with any teachers as I did this past weekend and you made me wish I had attended Powerview School. Congratulations to all the volunteers and organizers for such a successful reunion.

Yours truly,
Ron Dupuis
Fort Nelson, BC

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank all who were involved in making the Leonard and Powerview School reunion such a success. The many months of anticipation culminated in the party of a lifetime. Their outstanding efforts and great hospitality re-kindled the warm feeling of

"coming home".

Congratulations on a job well done.

Louise (Pepin) Blahitka
Petersfield, Manitoba

Dear Editor,

My wife and I cannot overly emphasize how much we enjoyed the Leonard-Powerview School reunion-starting with the opening ceremonies followed by the Wine and Cheese on Friday night, the delicious buffet and dance on Saturday, the pankake breakfast Sunday morning, the local entertaining talent in the afternoon.

All the hosts and volunteers who dedicated their time and effort to make the weekend a memorable occasion should be very proud of their accomplishments.

Much enjoyed!

RCMP News Release

There have been several complaints against asphalt paving companies in the Lower Manitoba Area. These companies are believed to be the same company from Calgary, Alberta and uses deceptive and high pressure sales tactics. Usually preying on the elderly,

The common method used involves advising the occupant (s) at the residence that they are working in the area and have a surplus of asphalt left over from a previous job. This asphalt must be used up by the company and supposedly offers a significant reduction from the normal price. At times a blank contract is signed by the occupant with the perpetrator filling in the job quotation and cost later. Also, occupants may be advised halfway through a job that the person initially making the contract had no right to do so and has since been fired. In each case the cost of the job has been two or three times more than the going rate. The quality of the work has also been reported as poor. Further, these companies do not obtain applicable municipal licences and have been very mobile using various names to avoid detection.

Detachments are being advised to enlist the aid of the media to alert the general public and should they encounter these or any other sales people, they request that they:

1. Obtain a completed contract prior to any work being performed.
2. Request to see the licence issued by Consumer & Corporate Affairs and the municipality.
3. Obtain full names with photo I.D., addresses and phone numbers, and:
4. Contact the municipality, Consumer & Corporate Affairs, to verify all information.

Letters to the Editor

Travelling in the back of a truck is dangerous to people too

Dear Editor
Talk about irony. It was early spring last year when I saw a cartoon in a magazine which profiled the back view of a young baby facing animals (a cat and a dog). The caption from one of the animals read "Don't you have a humane society protecting you?". Of course this picture was aimed at the issue of abortion in society today. Well, it is just over one year since I saw that cartoon and look at what has happened recently. The government, our elected representatives, have established and set the tone for the enforcement of law which prohibits animals (specifically dogs) from riding in the back of an open vehicle. The rationale for the law is for the protection of the animal. I was a volunteer on the local ambulance service for 18 years and responded to numerous accidents where injuries were sustained by human cargo travelling in the back of an open vehicle. By the way, this practice is still being used today as you have probably noticed on numerous occasions. It seems ironic that we set laws to protect animals from injury and/or abuse; perhaps it is time to establish a Humane Society to protect the human race from the crime of neglecting ones personal safety. Then again, as Peter Warren would put it, "That's one mans opinion."

Humanitarily yours,
Ronald Pachkowski

News from Bissett

This week the Voice is beginning a weekly column by Bissett resident Leslie Tucker

by Leslie Tucker

Alive and growing, Bissett, the community that has seen it's share of economic booms and busts - is still on the map. In this transitional time, we are seeing many families and individuals moving in, and others moving on. Because of this, no one knows exactly how many children will be attending the Nursery-9 San Antonio School until the school year officially begins on August 25th. Most concur the numbers will be equal or slightly higher than last year's initial total registration of 30 children.

As the end of summer grows near, focus is turned toward keeping busy through the winter. To that end, a Moms and Tots group and an aerobics/fitness class are in the works. An organized skating program is being explored and a piano teacher sought to give lessons to a number of eager students. Jazz & ballet will also be offered for children 4 to 12 through the winter with a recital in early spring. These new activities, coupled with the tried and true regular events should serve to keep both young and old occupied through what is predicted to be a mean winter.

As in any small community, boredom and tedium are battles we face, but can be fought by employing innovative ways to use the amenities available to us. The Community Hall, available free of charge for non-profit groups provides ample space for activities of all kinds. We are limited only by our imaginations, desire and commitment to provide our families and community with a diverse range of experiences.

In later articles, we will explore the numerous business ventures, both big and small, that exist in Bissett and give an ongoing expose of the richness of character of the growing community.

Board OKs Annexation

The Municipal Board has recommended the annexation of parts of the Rural Municipality of Alexander by the Village of Powerview.

The annexation, which includes that part of the RM between Pine Falls and Powerview, and the area immediately east of the Village has to be approved by the Manitoba Cabinet. This is usually a formality, but the board has suggested, without a formal recommendation, that the annexation also include the land to the east of Highway 304 and south of Highway 11.

Cabinet meets on Wednesday, the decision is expected early in September. If the government approves, there is an appeal process which the RM may decide to take advantage of.

Sewer services for residents of the areas to be annexed was at the root of the annexation proposal by the Village of Powerview. It is too late in the season for these services to be installed this year. Construction is likely to begin in the late spring of next year.

The Municipal Board met in April this year at the Pine Falls Curling Club. At that hearing only the R.M. of Alexander was opposed to the annexation. Everyone else at the hearing spoke in favour.

Better Management of Asthma

"Asthma" comes from the Greek word for panting but for nearly two million Canadians who suffer from asthma - five per cent of adults and ten per cent of children - it means a strict regimen of medication and watchfulness to prevent an attack or episode that can be life-threatening.

Most people have seen family, friends, or colleagues use an inhaler to prevent on-coming asthma attacks. And, for the last 20 years, these bronchodilators have been a lifeline for asthma patients by relaxing muscles around the tubes of the lungs to bring immediate symptom relief.

But for most patients with asthma, managing their illness arming themselves with knowledge, implementing environmental controls to reduce or eliminate the presence of "triggers" that cause allergic reactions; and a daily regimen of medication to manage symptoms of the illness - coughing, wheezing, chest tightness or shortness of breath.

In the last decade, the understanding of asthma has changed dramatically. New scientific evidence supports the idea that asthma is a chronic inflammatory disorder of the airways. This new understanding has led Canadian researchers to explore alternative treatments that offer specific control of the inflammatory process before structural changes in the airway begin and create symptoms.

For patients, the key benefit of this new treatment approach is the ability to manage their disease through the use of once-a-day, oral, anti-inflammatory medication that is safe for adults and children over the age of six. This easy-to-use approach will also have a positive impact on the biggest obstacle to managing asthma - poor compliance with preventative or "controller" medication. And, it will lessen pressure on parents who are responsible for ensuring their children take their medication regularly and properly.

Clinical trials of the new drug show this new class of medication is comparable to the current regime of inhaled corticosteroids in controlling asthma, and the new drugs start to work within days of starting treatment. It's well tolerated by both adults and children and can be used for the prevention and chronic treatment of asthma, and for patients who are not adequately controlled by daily doses of inhaled corticosteroids. An additional benefit is the finding that many patients using the new drug can reduce their use of steroids which have been shown to cause premature bone density loss after long term use.

Thanks to Canadian researchers, children and adults with asthma throughout the world may soon change the way they manage their illness and the impact that it has on the quality of their daily life and their term health.

H.E.L.P Centre

Year ago, the Eastern Beaches area was populated by a small community where everyone knew each other and often your neighbours were your own relatives. If assistance of any kind was needed, you knew you could call on either your neighbours and/or your relatives.

As time progressed, city folk found the Eastern Beaches a lovely spot, not only to own a cottage, but to retire in. Consequently, community size increased and your neighbours were strangers and your own family was miles away. Since most of the newcomers were seniors, attendance at the local senior centre increased and new friendships were made. The city folk became interested in finding the type of programs that would be available to them, so they could continue to live in their retirement homes, content with the knowledge that, if necessary, assistance was just a phone call away.

Two couples, Rene and Mar Desmet, and Wayne and Jeanne Antaya attended a government sponsored seminar regarding the health and welfare of seniors in the Eastern area. This would lead essentially to the formation of resources centres in many small towns and communities. A survey was taken, whereby the seniors indicated that not only was a centre beneficial, but necessary. After a committee was formed, meetings held, a grant applied for and received, the centre is an actual fact.

The name for the resource centre is H.E.L.P Centre, which stands for Helping East Lake

People Centre. It is under the umbrella of the Seniors Scene Inc., #1 Ateah Rd. Victoria Beach, and is operating out of the office of the Senior Scene. The H.E.L.P Centre will be open Wednesday 1pm-4pm, Fridays 10am-1pm.

For more information and service at the other times, phone 756-6471. Resources Coordinator is Diane Rickner. Opening day is Sept. 09/98.

It is with pleasure Chairman Willa Gilchrist invites everyone to the Informal opening and to meet the Coordinator on Sept. 8, following the Senior Scene Inc. Annual meeting, which is held Sept. 8, 1998 at 1:30pm.

Small Business Tour - September 10th

Marilyn Zarecki, Home Economist

The third annual Manitoba Agriculture Eastern Region Home Economists Small Business Tour is scheduled for Thursday Sept 10, 1998 from 9:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. The cost is $20.00 per person and includes morning coffee and muffins, lunch, an air-conditioned 47 passenger motorcoach plus afternoon dessert and coffee.

The tour begins in Lorette at the Old School House Gift Shop. This authentic one room school house which is now converted into a gift shop, showcases some of Manitoba's finest artisans, antiques and gifts. Following, we visit the Prairie Dried Flowers Co., where we will learn about the various stages of growing and selling over 100 varieties of dried flowers. At 11:00 A.M. we head for Emu Vision, where we will take a guided tour of an Emu farm and boutique of speciality Emu products. Prairie Star Farm and Petting Zoo is our last stop before lunch. Lunch will be served in the picnic area of this small business. We will then tour the Petting Zoo and the herb and flower garden. At 1:30 P.M. we head for Cousins, a business offering country style hand finished furniture, located just north of Oakbank. It also offers handpainted folk art, crafts and dried flowers in the adjacent craft store. Our last stop is Woodland Willows, a tea room and gift shop located south of Anola. The barn was built in 1907 and was used for barn dances and silent movies. It is still in mint condition and holds many memories of the good old times. Tour, shop, and have afternoon dessert and coffee, in this most unique setting.

This tour is intended to provide individuals interested in starting and operating a small business with an opportunity to experience a variety of small businesses. There will be plenty of time to network and exchange ideas on the bus and with the different business owners.

Wear comfortable clothing and shoes as there will be some walking involved.

For more information or a registration form, call me at 268-6015. Registration deadline is Sept 8th. Since there are only 47 seats on the bus, it is on a first come, first serve basis.

Hope to see you on this tour!

Don't be disappointed if you plan on playing in this year's 4P Mixed Slo-pitch tournament to be held Saturday, September 5th and Sunday, September 6th. Entries will be limited to the first twenty four teams paid.

Tournament organizers Denten Normand and Michelle Moore expect to have twenty four teams paid up by the end of this week, so that the draw may appear in next week's Voice.

Last year's champions the Powerview Fire along with the Whipmasters, Hardbodies, LBR Slammers, and Midnight Hooters are among some of the teams contending for this year's title and cash.

The games will be played at Rupert Park, Industrial diamond and one of the Powerview school diamonds. Three games guaranteed, six males, four females. The Pineview Mixed Slo-pitch 1998 rules will apply;

1. 6'-12' arc using using the mat as the strike zone.

2. All games are six innings with a 10 run knockout at the fourth inning.

3. Any batting order is allowed.

4. Designated home run hitters rule - (hitter becomes designated as home run occurs) If ball is hit out of park by someone other than the designated homerun hitter a strike will be the result and if it is hit on the third strike the batter is considered out on a foul ball and the ball is dead. (no tag-ups) S.P.N. Rule 3-39.

5. No option for female after a walk to previous male. She must hit. As per S.P.N. male still advances to second base.

'The Stones' defeated in National finals

The Stones Men's Slo-Pitch out of Pine Falls and the surrounding areas have just returned from representing their province at the S.P.N National Championships in Saskatoon Saskatchewan July 31- August 3.

It was the Stones third trip to the Nationals having been there also in 1996 and 1997. The privilege of competing in this prestigious tournament is quite an honour and the boys were impressed by the talent level there, as well as the professional way the tournament was ran and organized. Jitters were evident for the team on the first day of competition, but on the second day they jelled together and won both their games to finish the round robin portion of the Nationals at 2-3. The next day turned out to be very eventful and unfortunate as many injuries hit the team in the play-offs.

Every player save for two out of the 13 were hit by the dreaded injury bug with the most serious and severe falling to our pitcher Neil Boulette who suffered a perhaps career ending torn Achilles tendon in his left leg. This injury just served the purpose of bringing the team together and although we had lost the game, it put everything into perspective and made us realize how important our health is to us all. So here's to the team, and to Neil on a speedy recovery. Next seasons preparations have begun with the team to compete in the Manitoba Provincials on September 5, 6, 7 1998 and trying to secure a spot in the 1999 S.P.N Nationals to be held in Niagara Falls, Ontario.

PFPC close to solving landfill odour problem

The odour problem from the Pine Falls Paper Company's Broadlands waste disposal site is close to a solution.

Sludge from the company's Waste Water Treatment Plant has been landfilled at the site since the treatment plant went into operation in late 1995. It has caused severe odour problems in the immediate area, and has caused objectionable odours in St. Georges.

The site has been covered with a "Geo-Membrane" a 12 mil reinforced carbon stabilized plastic.

The plastic covers a collection system consisting of four inch diameter weeping tiles connected to a six inch header. The system is maintained under a negative pressure by a compressor which discharges to a methane flare. The intent is that the methane given off by the sludge can be burned and thus destroy the high volatile compounds in the sludge gas which cause the odour.

While the plastic cover has had some effect in controlling the odour, the company has not yet determined the correct operating procedures needed to ensure that the relative mixture of methane and air will burn, thus the flare is not yet in operation.

If it is found that a workable system of flare operation cannot be achieved, the company intends to use a chemical process, probably an activated carbon scrubber, similar in concept to that used in gas masks.

The company will be installing a sludge dewatering system at the Waste Water Treatment Plant to dry the sludge to a point where it can be burned in the company's boilers. The process is scheduled to be in operation in January of next year. Once it is in operation sludge will no longer be shipped to the Broadlands landfill. However the sludge already in the landfill is expected to continue to produce methane and obnoxious gasses for another fifteen years. Thus the methane flare, or activated carbon scrubber, will be in operation for that time. Leachate, water collected from around the landfill, will also be continuously shipped to the Waste Water Treatment Plant for treatment.

Born October 21, 1833, in Stockholm, Sweden, Alfred Nobel, like his 44, had a talent for inventing. By the time he was 16, Nobel was a chemist and could speak English, French, German, Russian and Swedish. Along with chemistry and physics, Nobel was interested in English literature and poetry, too.

In the 1860s, Nobel started producing liquid explosives; but five people, including his brother, Emil, were killed when the factory blew up. The Swedish government would not allow him to rebuild the factory, and he became known as a "mad scientist." However, Nobel continued to experiment with explosives, and by 1868, he had patents for dynamite in Britain and the United States.

Nobel had laboratories and factories in more than 20 countries. Along with explosives, Nobel invented other things, such as synthetic rubber and leather and artificial silk.

With his investments in explosives and oil, Nobel became very wealthy. When he died in 1896, Nobel asked that his money be used for prizes to people who had helped others. Today, there are the following Nobel prizes: Literature, Peace, Physics and Chemistry, Physiology or Medicine and a Memorial Economic Sciences award.

Polio, or poliomyelitis, is an infection that can cause problems with a person's nervous system, even paralysis. During the 1940s and 1950s, in one and more cases of polio were being reported. The worst year was 1952, with 58,000 cases and 3,000 deaths in the United States alone.

On April 12, 1955, a vaccine, or shot, was released in the United States to help get rid of polio. That vaccine was developed by Jonas Salk.

Born in October 1914 in New York, Salk started researching viruses in the 1930s when he was a student at New York University.

Salk became an associate professor of bacteriology and the head of the Virus Research Laboratory of the University of Pittsburgh Medical School in 1947. There he began his research on polio, using the "killed" polio virus.

In 1952, Salk tested his vaccine on children who had recovered from polio. Then on people who hadn't had the disease. When the vaccine was tested on a large amount of people in 1954, the number of cases of polio went down. Following the release of the vaccine, people all over the United States were vaccinated. By 1958, polio was wiped out in both North and South America.

Salk's work to help cure disease did not stop with polio. In the 1960s he opened the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in California. There he worked for a cure for multiple sclerosis and AIDS until he died in 1995.

LAST WEEK'S SOLUTION

IT'S TOO BAD THAT NINETY PERCENT OF THE REFORM PARTY GIVE THE OTHER TEN PERCENT A BAD NAME.
 - JOHN CROSBY

HOROSCOPE

- ARIES March 21 - April
 It may not be the best week to buck the system or fight the powers that be at work. But keep moving forward while protecting your inner individuality. Things will continue to improve at home. Just remember to keep an open mind!
- TAURUS April 20 - May 20
 Concentrate on clearing up financial problems this week. Then you can get back to basics and start over from scratch. Has your love life been suffering? You can get it back on track by devoting an evening to your partner. Make sure you don't let anything interfere.
- GEMINI May 21 - June 20
 Whatever you do this week, don't engage in needless gossip. It could really hurt your reputation at work. And you don't want to take that chance, especially when you should be starting to consider alternatives to your present position and/or career.
- CANCER June 21 - July 22
 You may feel like a little child this week... open, exploring and completely sheltered. But remember that comfort also has a price, and you shouldn't begin to think that things won't change. Be ready for change with an open mind and resolve.

- (August 27 - September 2)
LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
 Beware of having too much fun this week. If you're not careful, you could let some details slide, and then your actions will be much less effective. Lend some help and encouragement to a young person or new recruit. It will benefit you, too.
- VIRGO August 23 - September 22
 Fast and efficient is how you will be described this week. But even while you're being efficient, don't let your creativity slide. Use it to develop new solutions to old problems and great solutions to problems that pop up this week. Don't forget a loved one's birthday.
- LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
 This week, it will seem as if everyone is indifferent, which will make being nice a challenge. Work at it! Don't let your relationship troubles drive you to striking out at someone who doesn't deserve your anger. Take a break from your partner to gain a new outlook.
- SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
 Those in authority will be on your side this week. Use the situation to your advantage. You'll also find that others will appreciate your loud, clear voice and precise choice of words. You will feel empowered to move forward with your life this week.

- SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
 Don't let your mind wander too far, or you may miss something that could prove important to you. Legal matters will move slowly during the week no matter what anyone says or does. Even though a social event holds no appeal, work it into your schedule.
- CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
 Decisions you make at the beginning of the week will work out to be right, and they will stick for a long time. Even if the word relaxation is not in your vocabulary, take time out for a little of it this weekend. Plan time away with family or friends.
- AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
 Even though they may seem tedious, the research and fact finding you work on this week may present you with a way out. A repetitive explanation or sequence of events will start to wear away at your patience. Hold your tongue and hold onto your patience.
- PISCES Feb. 19 - March 20
 Some situations that arise this week may require an in depth approach and thoughts. Look to water or the ocean to bring inspiration this week - either one will spur on your creativity. Get in touch with a close friend who understands the way you think.

Margaret Cameron Tollifson (nee Ross)

Peacefully, on August 20, 1998, Margaret Cameron Tollifson (nee Ross), beloved wife of Melvin V. Tollifson, passed away at the Pine Falls Health Complex after a valiant struggle with cancer.

She was born in 1923 at Binscarth Mb. where she received her education and commenced employment with the Royal Bank of Canada. Later, she joined Hudson's Bay Company and was with that company for several years, mostly in Pine Falls.

She was a caring and giving person to her family and friends and community. She was a devoted member of Pine Falls United Church and a Past District Deputy of Coronation Rebekah Lodge #51 of Pine Falls. Margaret was predeceased by her parents, Donald and Catherine Ross, only brother Gordon Ross and eldest sister, Janet Adams.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn, her sisters Marion Fraser (Max) of Binscarth, Mary Bristol of Fresno, California and Norma Ross of Winnipeg; brothers in law Edward of Carnduff, Sk, Kenneth of Ft. St. John, B.C. and Mervin of Carnduff, Sk; sisters-in-law Annie Pringle, Betty Hawkyard, and Marjorie Tollifson, all of Regina; plus several nephews and nieces.

Cremation has taken place and at her request, no funeral service will be held. Interment will take place in Binscarth Cemetery.

The family expresses sincere thanks to Dr. Kuschke and nursing staff of Pine Falls Health Complex and to Dr. Harris, Oncology Clinic, Grace General Hospital, Winnipeg. Thanks also to Rev. Cindy Terry, Pine Falls United Church for her caring and understanding.

If friends so desire donations in Margaret's memory may be made to a charity of their choice.
