Vol. 6 #38 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1998 Pine Falls, MB

Annexation Approved

Effective January 1, 1999, the boundaries of Powerview will extend from Pine Falls to Highway 304.

The Village of Powerview began the process of annexation of parts of the RM of Alexander last year. The issue was the provision of sewer services to residents and businesses in the areas adjacent to the village, and which the RM could not provide.

The annexation application was heard by the Municipal Board in April this year. The board recommended approval. It has been approved by cabinet. The approval was announced Tuesday.

At present there is a strip of land between Powerview and Pine Falls which is part of the RM, this strip will become part of the Powerview. The Eastern boundary of Powerview will extend on the North of Highway 11 up to, but not including Manitoba Hydro property, or the Pine Falls Generating Station. South of Highway 11 the boundary will extend to Highway 304. The wording of the order in council does not make it immediately clear whether property on the East of 304 is included in the annexation. The Voice will publish a map of the revised boundaries in next week's issue.

Members of PFPC's donation committee support nutrition program at Powerview School

Rumour untrue

Rumours that $400,000 from the Pine Falls District Health Care Foundation are being transferred to the Regional Health Authority are based on a misunderstanding.

The Regional Authority and the Foundation are in the process of negotiating the transfer of some funds, (the amount has not been determined), but the funds in question are not derived from donations to the foundation, they are surplus funds from provincial government contributions to the hospital which were transferred to the foundation. The money will be used in the Blue Water District, and spending will be determined by both the Foundation and the Regional Authority, with both having a veto on application of funds.

In 1998 The Pine Falls district Health Care Foundation contributed more than $70,000 to local health care as follows:

Pine Falls Paper Company has made a $12,000 donation over two years to the Wings of Power Program. The mill's philosophy about its social responsibility is consistent with Tembec's corporate philosophy which is to "promote health, education, culture and recreation that contribute to improving the individual and collective quality of life ...".

2) the level of community support for each proposal. The Nutrition component of the Wings of Power program for students at Powerview School and a similar program at Sagkeeng School definitely fall into that category. Ensuring that young students are not hungry and have proper nutrition, also ensures that these students will learn better. Upon approval of the donation request, members of PFPC's Donation Committee headed out to Powerview School to get a hands-on and realistic look at the program. "We want to show our support to these programs in a more meaningful way — its more than just about making a financial contribution; the employees and management at PFPC want our company to make a difference. We hope to do this by getting into the community and supporting such programs to the extent our resources allow" said Judy Habing, Director of Communications. In addition Habing confirmed there are new guiding principles and evaluation criteria that the mill's Donation Committee established and are committed to follow.

The Wings of Power program is a community based grassroots program comprised of local people from all walks of life who have come together to find ways to empower families to enhance wellness, learning and growth opportunities for children in our community. Wings of Power has four pillars to its program: nutrition, literacy, parenting and early prevention. The generous donation from PFPC is supporting the Breakfast Program which is part of the nutrition pillar. Anyone interested in learning more about the Wings of Power program is invited to call Andrea Ayotte, Wing of Power Coordinator at 367-2296.

PFPC's Donation Committee has, in addition, its own mission "to provide innovative community support to enhance the future of our communities... sharing in the responsibility for supporting charitable and non-profit organizations that enrich the communities in which we live and interact with, to improve the quality of life for all."

The Donations Committee looks at each request to determine 1) the benefits to the communities and

MOVE CLOCKS BACK one Hour on Oct. 25

Manitoba clocks move back one hour in the early morning of Sunday, Oct. 25, when standard time returns to the province. Under the Official Time Act, daylight saving time, uniform for the entire province, ends on the last Sunday in October and begins the first Sunday in April.

This year, the official reversion to standard time occurs precisely at 3 a.m., Oct. 25, at which time clocks are turned back to 2 a.m.

Many years ago Pine Falls changed to daylight saving at a different time from the rest of the province to accommodate shift changes in the mill.

Boundary changes an election issue

The issue of boundary changes to the Rural Municipality of Alexander does not seem to have a high priority with many of the candidates.

One candidate for Reeve, the incumbent, Ken Danwich wants to keep the RM the way it is, another candidate, George Harbottle says he will consult with taxpayers on the re-examination of existing boundaries.

Danwich will not get his wish. There will be changes. The boundary between the RM and Powerview was changed by order in council on October 2, and announced Tuesday. It comes into effect on January 1, next year.

By the end of next year Pine Falls will be independent of the Pine Falls Paper Company, and will either join the Village of Powerview or the RM of Alexander. A third alternative, incorporating as a stand alone municipality, would require an amendment to the municipal act, which is not likely to be acceptable to the government.

There will be changes. Existing municipal boundaries do not make sense now, and will make even less sense when Pine Falls becomes independent of the company.

What does make sense, (the Municipal Act requires that municipal boundaries make sense), is for Ward One, along with Victoria Beach, and Beaconia (now Part of St. Clements) to be one municipality. Ward Two should join St. Clements, Ward Four should join the RM of Lac du Bonnet, and Ward Three with Powerview and Pine Falls should be one municipality.

That requires the involvement of four municipalities and Pine Falls. A study needs to be carried out to determine the costs and benefits of the various alternatives. Doing nothing is not one of the alternatives. Residents and taxpayers have to be involved throughout the process.

Danwich has said that he wants to keep boundaries as they are now, and that larger, rather than smaller municipalities are more viable. He may have a point, and a properly organised study of the whole region would demonstrate that one way or the other. But if he is to fairly represent taxpayers he has to be open to change. He has not given any indication that he is.

Harbottle is open to boundary changes, with the proviso that taxpayers are fully involved and properly informed.

This municipal election will shape the configuration of municipal boundaries for many years to come. Voters will determine, in this election, which route they want their elected representatives to follow. The results will be more than usually interesting.

Opinion

Run for chief of your reserve. The path is virtually paved for you to hijack the will of your people and enrich yourself at the same time. There's no requirement to account to your electorate. If elected and only if you wanted to, you could call a band meeting once every couple of years to announce something. Use a bulletin board for your communications system. If you handle things right, you could probably arrange matters so you would never have to face an election again.

Now we all know by far and away the majority of our leaders are not dictatorial leaders, but are good honest people doing a difficult job and giving it their best. There's a lot of strong honest leaders out there. Our problem is a system which allows the weak, dishonest ones to become elected and to do virtually anything they want and get away with it. Do we have no recourse to this? Surely there are solutions, which our leaders should be working on.

Of course, and we've already started. There are many communities who've dealt with these problems and found their own solutions. There are leaders and Elders out there who know the answers and could offer their knowledge and experience for the benefit of others. Trouble is we're not good at sharing this information. The so called governance institutions out there to address these kinds of issues are few and far away, not to mention expensive. I do know the AFN is presently in a development process on a Governance Transition Centre envisaged in the RCAP report.

The national chief has even suggested that it should be located right here on the muddy river in the heart of the prairie. It's an idea whose time has come. In the interim there's nothing to stop anybody from going ahead and organizing resources and making these available to our people.

As well, we're doing pretty good retrieving ideas from our past to reform how we do business in medicine, justice, education and social work. Why shouldn't this work in the area of our politics? It seems to me when you look closely at how our communities organized and governed themselves in the past, there were all the hallmarks of democracy and then some. The white man only insists on a majority for decision making. But in the Ojibway, Cree traditions, to cite two societies, the measure of community decision making was by consensus. The more people who partook in decisions the more solidly the leadership could stand with the community. Where western societies point to the importance of transparency in democratic decision making, our social systems adhered to numerous practices aimed at publicizing and witnessing important decisions and events. In these societies where complex rules pertained based on clan and kinship, it would have been difficult to practice governance in isolation of the community.

The rule of law is an oft cited feature of western societies which, again, had its counterpart in our traditions of the past.

Perhaps what we are seeking in our politics is a return to the basic paradigm of political organization which suited us in the past before the Indian Act came along and changed how we governed ourselves. Obviously we can't just return to the past. What we have to do is improvise as we have done in the areas of healing and justice circles and reform our governments while remaining true to our traditions.

The longer term solution will require a fundamental realignment of our relations with other governments under the constitution. The Indian Act must be abolished because it can't be fixed. In the mean time there are things we can do which would go a long way toward solving the present situation.

In previous articles in this paper, we've suggested a number of things and questions communities could consider to make life and the exercise of governance on the reserve easier and more democratic. These are common sense things recommended for the most part by people who actually live on reserves. No bureaucrats, consultants or lawyers were involved.

Some of these are:

1. We need a place in the band office where public information is stored which folks can browse through and inform themselves as to what's going on. The kind of information which would be most helpful would be minutes of council, last year's audit, description of our program and services.

2. Can I get a description of our government? How does it work? Who's in charge? What are the rules, laws and policies?

3. The chief and council are always going on trips and sometimes I notice community people get to go. How do you get on the list? Where are people going this month?

4. There should be a regular report to the community on what our government has been doing all year in our behalf.

5. Does the Council follow the Indian Act? Which sections are we following and not following? Does the Act allow for us to rely on our customs at all? What are our customs?

6. I notice the band is getting involved in more businesses. Where does the money earned from these businesses go? How do we decide who gets the jobs in these businesses? Does everyone have a fair shot at getting one these jobs?

7. Do we have an annual budget? Who decides spending priorities?

These ideas and questions could be addressed and implemented, with virtually no cost, tomorrow. All that would be needed is some political will and a respect for our people and our traditions.

Taking charge of our Governance

An Editorial from the October Issue of the First Perspective - A monthly aboriginal newspaper serving Manitoba and Saskatchewan

by James Wastasecoot
Publisher
Winnipeg

In this part of Indian Country, as the skies resound to the calls of geese winging their way to warmer climes, we hear another type of call issuing from the throats of protesting Nishnabek, Inninew and other Indians on our city streets. Their call is for democracy.

The protests coincided with the annual assembly of the Manitoba Chiefs who were gathered at Dakota Tipi last week. And while they were busily engaged in an agenda which included, "honoring all past grand chiefs", the protesters were clearly sending the message there's little honor among our leaders worth celebrating.

Let's not try to minimize the problem by turning our backs on them or sticking our heads in the sand with the dismissive statement that these are just a few muckrakers, malcontents who happen to have supported the wrong side in the last election, and are now just sore losers. We all know how bad things have to be to provoke Nishnabek/Inninew/Dakota to take up a protest sign and bare his/her innermost troubles to the whole community and the media. For every Indian who took the trek to the city to protest there are probably dozens of friends and relatives back home on the reserve who support their cause. Something is seriously wrong and rather than denying it, our leaders should be taking steps to address these matters. This, after all, is the job of leadership. Where are the leaders here?

Let's face it: every community has problems, some of which form the larger public agenda it attempts to address through its political system. Sometimes, as we have witnessed in Canadian society many times, those problems extend to the very core of what constitutes good government. It would be strange to think that we are somehow immune to problems of corruption and irresponsible conduct in public institutions, that this type of behavior only happens in the white man's system. Let's not kid ourselves, we have our share of bad politicians. The question is what are we going to do to improve conditions where problems clearly exist?

Well, perhaps the first step is to simply acknowledge we have a problem. This won't be difficult for the knowledgeable leaders and Elders who will point out the real problem here is a systemic one. The real problem is a governance system imposed on our communities which allows the Minister of Indian Affairs and her officials to intervene and dictate the very nature of our institutions, but does not allow Indian people that same right. It's a system full of holes and just ripe for the pickings of any dishonest and greedy politician who wants to foist his/her brand of government on a community. Do you want to become a dictator of a people?

Harbottle Election Committee

PRESS RELEASE

On the question of a council's active role in economic development, George Harbottle said "Economic development, to me, is community, cultural and recreational. These three key elements are essential to the future of communities.

Continuing, Harbottle said, "Our huge Municipality, covering some 20 townships, has a diverse population with diverse needs. Concerns about delivery of services, contracting out, infrastructure/facilities are very real. They must be dealt with in a fair and equitable manner, to ensure cost-effective management on municipal dollars."

"The voters lists have caused a lot of confusion. We must find a system of enumeration that will ensure that all eligible voters are indeed on the list. Boundaries need to be examined to reflect the interests of the ratepayers."

"A new style of government would see meetings in each ward. To promote more effective communications," Harbottle said. "Principles, not personalities, and co-operation not confrontation will form the guidelines as we head into the new millennium."

Award of Recognition Given to RN, Cheryl Boisvert

Cheryl Boisvert, a local Registered Nurse at the Pine Falls Health Complex, was awarded on Wednesday with an honourable recognition plaque by the Best Wishes Magazine. Celebrating their 50th year of print, the maternal magazine, chose to help commemorate the occasion with a contest that would give well deserved recognition its lucky winners.

Boisvert was nominated by a co-worker, Elaine Vincent who had been reading the maternal magazine and saw the contest. "I thought that it would be nice to see someone here win one of the awards, so I nominated Cheryl. She has the most experience in maternity, and has helped deliver babies for the past 33 years."

Apparently it was not only Cheryl that was surprised by the honour, so was Elaine. "I had entered her name in that contest so long ago that I almost forgot all about it."

Upon receiving her plaque, Mrs. Boisvert was surrounded with congratulations at the hospital. Decorated with a corsage and presented with a cake by her excited fellow co-workers, she was overwhelmed with gratitude. "All I can say is that I am very surprised and thankful for the recognition," said Cheryl Boisvert, who had a look of deep appreciation that gave away her thoughts.

Canada's Baby Magazine Best Wishes plaque award states Cheryl's achievements, thanks her for her generations of baby care, and inducts her into their Best Wishes Hall of Fame for Nurses. The plaque will go home with Cheryl for her family to see and then will come back to hang on the wall in the hospital. Congratulations!

Interview with three of the candidates for council

The Voice attempted to reach all candidates seeking election to municipal positions, but was able to reach only three, all from the R.M. - Diane Sourisseau and Doug Neal in Ward 1, and George Fontaine in Ward 3.

Diane Sourisseau said she believes in honesty and integrity, with an open and accessible representation for the taxpayer. She said she is bringing to the political arena no empty promises. She has been talking to people throughout the ward, and has visited more than 700 cottagers, since August to determine peoples concerns. "I want to become more involved in the community. I have the time and energy to do this." She said.

Doug Neal - Incumbent Ward 1

Diane Sourisseau - Ward 1 Candidate

George Fontaine - Ward III Candidate

Doug Neal, on the subject of boundary changes for the RM is not new. It's a concept that's been around a long time. What must be remembered is that the provincial government does not recognize seasonal residents as part of the population requirement when setting up a municipality. However I am not opposed to boundary changes if such changes will benefit the constituents and not be just a change for the sake of change."

"Part of my vision for the future", he said, "is to have civic addressing implemented. This will give everyone a street name and number so emergency vehicles can find you quickly. I would like to see the planned recycling facility come to fruition. This will eliminate the requirement for landfill sites."

Fontaine said he is in favour of boundary changes to the RM, and said Ward 3, along with Powerview and Pine Falls would make sense as a municipality, but said any changes should be done with the people - not behind their backs. He also said grading and other services should be more responsible to the community. Fontaine said this is a very good tourist area and is concerned that there are no camping facilities in the area.

About Manitoba's Hunter Education Program

The purpose of Manitoba's Hunter Safety Training Program is to promote responsible ethical hunter conduct, emphasize the importance of wildlife management, laws and regulations and to encourage the safe handling of hunting equipment. Students will obtain a better understanding of their obligations to the resources, the landowner, other hunters and to themselves.

Manitoba law specifies that any person under the age of 19 applying for a wildlife certificate must show proof of successfully completing a firearms safety course provided by the department. The Wildlife Department is responsible for formulating the course of instruction and providing certified instructors. The result is a corps of volunteers, examined and certified by the Province providing the required training. These concerned individuals give their time and effort so that others will be able to enjoy the sport of hunting safely and responsibly.

Today's increasing criticism of hunting and firearms by the "anti" groups points directly at yesterday's poor behavior and misuse. Tomorrow's privileges may well rely on the ability to correct such bad behavior and misuse through education and example. The Manitoba Hunter Safety Training Program is definitely a step in the right direction.

The Hunter Safety Training Program will cost $20/kid and will be taught on either a Saturday or Sunday by Instructor Ed Jacobs. For more information call Tina at 367-8883 or 367-9128.

Bissett News

The 46 Students who attend the grand 60ish-year old San Antonio School in Bissett are welcomed in the morning not by an electronic buzzer, but by an old (possibly the original) school bell rung by the school's principal, John Millen. Originally heated by hot-water steam from the mine's mill with no insulation in the exterior walls, the school has had extensive renovations over the past six years. Presently, with its hardwood floors, steps and banisters, the original integrity of the building still remains intact.

The school includes Nursery to Grade 9 in classes into Nursery to Grade 3, Grades 4&5 and Grade 6-9. Staff is comprised of three full-time teachers, a 1/2 time educational assistant and a 1/2 time caretaker. Through funding, private donations and high teacher commitment levels, the school seeks to continually develop resources to foster solid academic goals. Presently, there are 17 Macintosh computers available for student use, with hopes of being "on-line" this month. To enhance the physical education program, a 2nd ping-pong table has just been purchased.

Bissett has a problem unique to isolated communities of having no television and feelings of being without the aid of a satellite dish, contributing both to a sense of isolation and feeling of being affected by news at any level. The purchase of a satellite dish for the school serves to alleviate this problem. With understanding and interpreting media part of the new and soon to be implemented Language Arts curriculum, the teachers look forward to the availability of provincial, national and world news and educational programming.

Our local news includes Bissett's by-election of October 14th, which saw Byron Grapentine voted in for the 2 1/2 year term and Susan Spindler for the 1 1/2 year term. The election was received with less than the usual interest with slightly over 50% of the community population placing their vote.

They're back! Head lice have again invaded the community, and while there is no need to panic and shave your head (though some may want to just for the look), caution is advised. The school has a "No Nit" policy aimed at reducing the transmission of this parasite, with a handful of parents trained in detection checking the students on a regular basis. (Thank you to these marvellous volunteers!) To prevent further infestation, infected students must leave the school, take the treatment and return only when they are nit-free.

The adult women's aerobic class is going at the school every Tuesday and Thursday night at 8:00pm. It's very much a beginner's class and is a fun evening out, and all adult women are welcome to drop in when their schedules permit.

Also in the recreation department, there will be a survey sent out to all residents of Bissett on community recreation... please take the time to fill it out and return it. The meeting aimed at forming a recreation committee for the town was not well attended, which led the three of us who were there to believe either a) everyone forgot or, b) everyone is satisfied with the activities available in Bissett or, c) everyone wants anyone else to do everything.

Mahatma Gandhi said... "The difference between what we do and what we are capable of doing would suffice to solve most of the world's problems". We're not aiming quite that high, but we would like to tackle the "nothing-to-do" problem for the men, women and children who live in the Bissett world!

Why a Support Group?

A Support Group is a gathering of persons experiencing common problems resulting from critical life situation.

Group members meet regularly in a safe and supportive environment to share feelings and exchange ideas on how to cope.

Daily care of a relative with a chronic illness can bring out a jumble of emotions. Loss, guilt, frustration and anger are all normal emotions for the caregiver. Sometimes it helps to share these feelings with others in coping with disease.

Keeping this in mind, the objectives of a Caregivers support Group are as follows:

- To enable caregivers to develop effective coping skills and ability to function in dealing with the different stages of disease.
- To provide caregivers with information about diseases, its management and community resources.
- To provide caregivers with emotional support
- To provide caregivers a safe place to discuss their problems with their peers
- To develop support networks among caregivers

The Support Group meets the last Thursday of the month at the United Church in Pine Falls. If you have any questions or concerns please call 367-9128. Sponsored by the Winnipeg River Seniors Service, facilitator Margaret Richardson.

The Morning Walk

As the Fall Season is upon us, the preparations for Snoopy and my morning walks have definitely become much more complex. No longer can I just slap on a pair of shorts, find a tee-shirt and slip into a pair of runners. Since I am the first one up, it falls to me to start the fire to warm up the house. After that chore, comes the eternal search for appropriate warm clothing. The first thing on my list is to look out as to whether or not it is raining and then to read the outdoor temperature. Out come the sweat pants and tops, warm socks, a jacket and then the choice of footwear-- rubber boots, duckies, runners, and soon, sadly boots-- and to wear or not wear gloves and a scarf. After making all these executive decisions, I finally get Snoopy ready for the walk.

The silence is overwhelming. Our summer birds, with the exception of the odd robin, have flown to warmer climates. I hear the odd chickadee, and, off in the distance, the caw of the crows. We have met more and more ruffed grouse on the public trails. A few mornings ago, we ran into a male who was strutting up and down a fallen log exhibiting his mating dance. Snoopy's barking and howling did not, in the slightest, affect his courting rituals.

Even on the nicest mornings there is a chill in the air reminding us that Winter is just around the corner. Most of the trees have dropped their leaves and I enjoy walking down the trails and listening to the crunch underfoot. It is very difficult to resist the urge of kicking the leaves along the path, and often I just give in.

On wet mornings, Snoopy and I walk quickly and get our walk over with as soon as possible since neither of us likes to get wet. On sunny mornings we doddle and soak in the sunshine. Often we herd a flock of white-throated sparrows which will run in front of us, pecking a morsel of food here and there, and then running away from us when we get close again, and then finally flying away.

Most mornings lately the lake has been a slate gray with the waves crashing against the shore. Some days it was so overcast that I could not see Gimli, which is only 27 kilometres away. On a clear day I can see smoke curling from the chimney of the distillery. Most mornings I see the commercial fisherman out on the lake pulling in their catches.

Overhead are all types of gulls wanting for their share of food. I have also seen flocks of pelicans patiently awaiting their turns. A fisherman is definitely not alone of the lake.

This morning I truly enjoyed my walk. I had pleasant company, Snoopy and my friend to talk to. When my friend comes along on our walk, we sometimes walk for hours since we talk and walk and the time and miles just fly by.

Wings of Power

Introducing the Speech-Language Pathologist

Wings of Power has hired Leslie Goerzen as the Speech-Language Pathologist.

Leslie Goerzen has been working for the Agassiz School Division for the past eight years where she has been servicing the whole division and more recently focusing on the Lac du Bonnet, Beausejour, and Powerview areas. Goerzen is full of great ideas and she brings a wealth of experience to Wings of Power.

Goerzen is focusing on "improving the language skills of children so they have a better opportunity to become successful in school". Goerzen emphasizes working with and educating both parents and children about the importance of language and literacy. Education will be through workshops, in formal assessments, and screenings.

Language and literacy are important areas of focus because they are the basis for reading and academic success. Goerzen defines language as "the words you use to understand and express your ideas, needs, and wants". She said language begins the day a child is born so it is important to fill you child's world with language. Children who are not read to at home have a lot more difficulty in learning to read than those who are read to from an early age and on a regular basis. Goerzen will be working in the community to heighten the awareness of language and literacy issues.

New Temporary Location

Wings of Power would also like to announce their new temporary location. St. Theresa Church and Notre Dame du Laus Church have generously donated the use of the basement at St. Theresa Church. The new address of Wings of Power is 39 Pine Street in Pine Falls.

Partnership

Wings of Power is partnering with Debbie Veil, the Public Health Nurse, to offer Parents and Preschoolers workshops. The workshops will focus on the health and language issues of children ages 1 to 4 years. The workshops for parents who have children ages 3 & 4 years will be offered on November 17 at 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. or 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The workshops for parents who have children ages 1 & 2 years will be offered on December 8 at 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. or 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Parents and Preschoolers workshops will take place at Pine Falls School. Free baby-sitting and snacks will be provided by Wings of Power for those who attend. Wings of Power is also in need of volunteers, i.e. baby-sitting during workshops & making crafts, for our programs to run successfully. If you are interested in attending a workshop or if you are interested in volunteering please contact Wings of Power at 367-9641 or 367-2296.

Dragon Lady Power Skating

Twenty-five Kids participated in a weekend power skating clinic from October 16th to the 18th. The kids ranged in ages from 17 to as young as 5, with both hockey and ringette players combined. Everyone involved had a great workout as well as learning some technics to improve their skating abilities.

Val Johnston (aka Dragon Lady) ran a tight ship teaching the younger group from skating to shooting. With the older group she took the time to show them how to take a check with the intention of trying to avoid injury. Speaking to the Dragon after the weekend was done her only regret was how fast the time went, because she enjoyed the enthusiasm and willingness to learn displayed by the kids. She has a lot more that she could pass on to them and would like to come again if there is enough interest in bringing her back.

We would like to thank Tyson Papineau and Gary Richardson for volunteering their time in assisting the Dragon on the on the ice and Sonny for supplying the Dragon with lunches. It was greatly appreciated.

If anyone would like to see another clinic held, contact any Minor Hockey executive and if there is enough interest she would gladly return.

What's Happening in Grade Two at P.V.S?

Powerview School - Grade two students shovel dirt into the school's new garden, they also planted many bulbs in a repeating pattern, which is also a grade two math concept.

This year, the Grade Two English class has twenty-three students, fifteen boys and eight girls. They are a lively, happy group and very keen to learn. My name is Sylvia Reid and I am their lucky teacher for the year.

Every morning, the class is divided into two groups so that all the students can receive more help with their Language Arts (Reading and Writing). Half of the children stay with me and the other half go to Mrs. Sheane's room. The children love Mrs. Sheane and her wonderful story readingskills. I, too, am enjoying working with her and her special ability to bring out the best in each child.

Today, I want to tell you about four things: our Grade Nine partners, our volunteers, our garden and our Hidden Treasures theme.

1. Our Grade Nine Partners

This year, we have teamed up with Ms. Blatz's afternoon Grade Nine English class, which comes to our room once a week. Each child has his own Grade

Nine partner whom he is getting to know. With the help of these wonderful partners, the Grade Two children will be able to practise their reading through a variety of enjoyable activities (reading books, filling out surveys, reading recipes and cooking, treasure hunts, board games).

The Grade Twos are loving this one-on-one attention; for many of them, this has become a very special "Big Brother" kind of relationship. The photos on our hallway bulletin board are proof that this is definitely their favourite class of the week. The Grade Twos are becoming very attached to their partners and they are experiencing how teenagers can contribute in such a positive way.

2. Our Many Helpers

We would like to thank the many people who have helped our class in a variety of ways. Ms. Blatz and her Grade Nine class come once a week. Mrs. Fountain patiently and thoroughly helps students with basic reading skills, and Mrs. Cowie frequently brings her special touch of magic to our room. Mrs. Grenier and Ms. Ball, the two wonderful ladies who run our library, have supported our class of budding readers in many ways.

Volunteers add a great deal to our classroom. Mrs. Lavoie sewed 25 lime green bookbags for our Home Reading program, Mrs. Duff threaded each bag with red drawstrings and Mrs. Polischuk brought us fifty gourds of all shapes for math class. Mrs. Hapel and Mrs. Gogo help students in our classroom once a week; Breanne Pelland, our capable, cheery Grade Twelve Peer Tutor, gives us one hour of her time each day and Ms. Claudine Courchene, our fourth year student teacher, accomplishes a great amount of work in our room every Tuesday.

Mr. Magnan has been very supportive of our garden project and found the railway ties for its borders. The Grade Nine boys moved the heavy railway ties while Mr. Reid rototilled the ground and then anchored the logs with Rebar. Mr. Muhl brought us two loads of soil from his property, lent us 12 shovels, and has not even once complained about the extra mess. Cody helped the children shovel the dirt off the truck and Mrs. Ada Duff and Mrs. Duff gave us plants. Thank-you to all of you! Together, we can make a difference.

3. Our New Powerview School Garden

Next time you come to Powerview School, have a look at the Grade Two garden by the main entrance. In September, the students discussed ideas, made plans, and wrote letters to Mr. Magnan asking for permission. (The letters are priceless!) They talked about bulbs, cut open onions and tulips, measured the ground and shovelled dirt for days during their recesses and lunchtimes. They planted the bulbs in a repeating pattern, which is an important Grade Two math concept. (After all twenty-three children had shovelled and raked, that repeating pattern may have become a bit "creative"!)

Along the way, the students have:

- explored new vocabulary
- learned about the seasons, seeds and bulbs
- practised their reading and math skills
- discussed and experienced what it feels like to co-operate and to work as a team - a classroom community with shared goals and concerns for each other.

When the children look at the photos of themselves building the garden, they often make comments that show their sense of pride in accomplishing such a big project. We have talked about how, by working at the job a little bit each day, by doing one small task at a time, by helping each other, and by not "giving up" they were able to accomplish their goals. Now we are using these same strategies to become better readers, writers and "math magicians".

4. Hidden Treasures

This week, we have begun a Reading and Writing theme on Hidden Treasures; this includes stories such as "The Ugly Duckling" and will lead us to talk about the special talents that are hidden inside the children's hearts and minds.

Just as each bulb in our garden has a special hidden colour or shape or scent, so each child has Hidden Treasures (strengths and skills). Just as each bulb will blossom in its own time, so will each child's ability to read and write develop at his or her own pace. Of course this will lead to class discussions about what the bulbs need in order to grow, and about what the children can do to help their own reading, writing and hidden treasures to grow.

In summary, this is a lively group of happy children who are working very hard to improve their reading and writing skills. When you see our garden blooming next spring, think of all the new skills, talents and attitudes toward school and each other which are beginning to blossom in these young people.

Call for nominations for Crime Prevention awards

Nominations are being sought by Oct. 30 for individuals and organizations who help keep communities safe through crime prevention efforts, Justice Minister Vic Toews has announced.

"The Crime Prevention Awards have recognized and honoured the innovation and commitment of many Manitobans who actively work in their communities to increase safety and prevent crime," said Toews. "I invite nominations for these awards to celebrate the commitment of these Manitobans and to ensure we share their expertise and ideas with others."

The two newest award categories are the Innovative Early Intervention Award which recognizes the importance of the early years of a child's development in preventing criminal involvement in later years. The Alternative Justice Initiatives Award recognizes community-based justice projects such as justice committees, family group conferencing and healing circles.

The six other categories are: individual, under 18 yrs; individual, 18-24 yrs; individual, over 25 yrs; crime prevention initiative by a group or organization; police agency or officer; and corporate crime prevention partner.

Nomination forms are available from local police stations or RCMP detachments or by calling Manitoba Justice at 945-8360 or toll-free 1-800-282-8069, extension 8360. Completed forms must be sent to Manitoba Justice, 200-379 Broadway, Winnipeg MB, R3C 3L6 by Oct. 30.

The Crime Prevention Awards will be held Nov. 30 at the Winnipeg Convention Centre. The awards will be part of a two-day conference running Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 to focus on crime prevention through social development.

Maximize Your After-Tax Retirement Income With A Dividend Fund

With ever-increasing life expectancy, your retirement dollars have to last longer. It's critical that your capital continues growing as you withdraw income during retirement. But, given a short investment time frame and need for minimal risk, how is this best accomplished by an investor nearing or in retirement?

An excellent option, which gives investors both income and the potential for capital growth without undue risk - is a dividend mutual fund. The type of fund buys stock in Canadian blue-chip companies, ensuring you more of a conservative investment than a mutual fund based on lesser-known, speculative stocks. These companies periodically issue portions of profits, called dividends, to stockholders. The dividends are then distributed to dividend fund investors, providing a regular stream of income. And since stocks have historically increased in value, a dividend fund brings the opportunity for continuous growth to your retirement nest egg. For example, a $100,000 investment in 1986 in the AGF Dividend Fund that made $700 monthly payments to the investor, would still have increased in value to $129,000 by 1996.

Another benefit of a dividend fund - especially important at this time of year - is the tax advantage. There are three types of investment income: interest income, capital gains and dividend income, and each is taxed differently. Income from interest-bearing investments, such as international bonds or GIC's held outside an RRSP, are fully taxable just like salary income. Capital gains, though taxed more attractively than interest income, are still taxed at a higher rate than dividends. Depending on the province in which you live, dividend income, on an after-tax basis, can be worth up to 38% more than the equivalent amount of after-tax income. For example, in British Columbia, $10,000 worth of interest income is worth $4585 after taxes. The same amount of dividend income is worth $6345 after taxes. That's a considerable amount of money to keep in your pocket!

A great way to give growth potential to your retirement income is the AGF Dividend Fund. Since the fund's inception in 1985, it has consistently been a top performer among dividend funds, providing investors with an increase in their capital, even after monthly income withdrawals.

School Project Ideas On Hydro's Home Page

The Internet offers a wealth of information on almost every topic. When it comes to your next school project, Manitoba Hydro's home page has answers to every electrical question. It's the perfect place to stop for ideas and research.

The site at www.hydro.mb.ca includes information ranging from the beginnings of electricity in the province to how power is produced today. It's easy to find out where Manitoba's power comes from with facts and photographs on all the province's generating stations.

There is also a complete listing of Manitoba Hydro's publications that will offer more information on specific topics. Find out how much energy major households appliances use and how much they cost to operate on a monthly basis. Customers can also take advantage of Manitoba Hydro's convenient payment options like the equal payment plan and pre-authorized payments. Learn about Manitoba Hydro's energy saving programs that can reduce your monthly electrical bill. There's also a section that helps customers understand the parts of a hydro bill and how to read a meter.

For the most recent news in electricity, check out the What's Newsworthy section for current news releases. The site also features information on Manitoba Hydro's environmental initiatives and an interesting and often humorous peek at electrical appliances of the past.

So whether your project is about PowerSmart appliances or the history of electricity in Manitoba, visit www.hydro.mb.ca for a wealth of information.

LAST WEEK'S SOLUTION

I THOUGHT I HAD IT PINCHED DOWN, BUT I GUESS I HADN'T DONE IT FAR ENOUGH.

-DON LAMONT

HOROSCOPE

ARIES March 21 - April
It's time to listen to your inner feelings. This is the week to work on improving communication with your partner. Share your thoughts and don't be afraid to express them in your own way. Just the fact that you've opened up will impress your partner.

TAURUS April 20 - May 20
Your organizational abilities will shine this week. They key is to believe in yourself as much as others do. Friday will be a bad day for you, especially with members of the opposite sex. Enjoy the attention - it will be a great boost to your confidence.

GEMINI May 21 - June 20
Rely on your intuition in the areas of love, marriage and partnerships. Share your ideas and listen to constructive criticism. No matter what you learn, don't be too hard on yourself. Just use your newfound knowledge to make things better at home and on the job.

CANCER June 21 - July 22
You're very family oriented, but this week you may feel torn between others' demands and your own needs. Work on the balance of things in your life. Monday will be a key day when it comes to work. Keep an open mind when it comes to dealing with coworkers.

(October 22 - October 28)

LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
Domestic arrangements may make you want to pull your hair out this week. Have a little patience, stay in control of your emotions, don't say what's on your mind and don't allow others to cause you to lose your cool. By Sundays things should be ironed out.

VIRGO August 23 - September 22
While you should speak your mind, try to be sensitive to other people's feelings this week. One of your best traits, listening without passing judgement, will be put to the test. After all is said and done, you'll earn the respect of the people around you.

LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
It's time to put the past behind you by ending a relationship you've been hanging on to. Depend on your charm to help, and once you do that, you'll be able to enjoy life more. Things could get a little sticky on the job this week. Watch your back.

SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
Events could take some strange turns at work this week. Whatever you do, don't give in to mind games and threats. Just continue to speak your mind positively. Carry your positive attitude home with you. It will help you deal with a problem there, too.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
Be optimistic this week. You'll be able to communicate your wants and needs very efficiently. Let your adventurous nature take over this weekend. Plan an exciting outing with a friend or your partner. It's just what you need to help you grow closer.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
There have been some major changes in your life recently. Allow them to become positive influences on how you look at your friends, family and coworkers. Saturday will end up being the best day of your week. Plan something special in anticipation of it.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Use your friendly, people-oriented demeanor to your advantage at work this week. Start by improving the teamwork there. It will boost everyone's self-confidence, and in turn be great for the company. Problems will begin to work themselves out at home.

PISCES Feb. 19 - March 20
Your strong, romantic emotions this week will make you feel more energetic than you have in quite a while. In addition to those romantic feelings, you'll need to express your inner sensitivities to gain the understanding you've been seeking.
