VICTORIA BEACH MAN, AUGUST 24, 1924

Adieu!

THE SUMMER SEASON is drawing near its end. Very soon the residents of this chosen spot within the boundaries of Manitoba will close up their cottages and camps to return to the city. The pleasant memories of days spent on the scene of Nature will go with them, till the turmoil of the noisy city life will gradually shade them for a period of time. We say for a period, because we believe that nobody, who spends a few months here, or even a few days, can ever you, and serve disinterestedly. We believe there are only five commodities at this resort which you obtain free of charge—namely, water in the lake, air, scenery, unadorned sermons, the like of which we have never heard of in the city, and "The Victoria Beach News." The old proverb says:—"Do not examine the teeth of a horse which you received as a gift." We like to draw under the cover of this proverb. We therefore cannot abstain from expressing some resentment at a suggestion, that we should have forget them. Nature is so beautiful here, so inspiring. We suppose that is why we have so many men of God with us, so many preachers. They get not only rest, but also inspiration. That's why we have so many professors and teachers. Because, besides a refreshing rest, they also get unfolded before them nature's splendor and beautiful scenery. This has such a soothing effect on their over-worked minds, that here, better than anywhere else, they get their nervous balance restored for another year. That's why we have so many doctors here. The doctor cannot get rest anywhere, unless he travels "in-ognito." Such are the duties of his profession. He is liable to be called on for help anywhere and he cannot refuse. But here he is immune from such danger. Here he can rest to his soul's delight. Here, even, the only resident physician tells us, that soon a plate will have to be passed around, or another plot will have to be purchased. But it would be unfair to only mention those privileged professionals who, with their families, can spend a season here. What about hundreds of business men? They also realize that the candle which burns at both ends will melt away soon, and they come here for rest. What about clerks and artisans? Their number is a legion—and it is still growing. Plenty of water for all of them. Plenty of pure invigorating air, plenty of foliage.

But do not let us deviate from our subject. As the time of departure of this Beach approaches, we also have in close season. Though with a regret common to all of us, we close with the satisfaction that we have also contributed in some measure to the pleasure of our friends. And before breaking our pen for the season, we wish to express our satisfaction at the spirit in which this paper has been received by everybody. The number of applications for missed copies was so large that we concluded that our readers are not using "The Victoria Beach News" for kindling, but they keep it as a reminder of delightful impressions of which they were the recipients. Your satisfaction is our pleasure. We have been glad to serve kept out of politics. Surely, we have a right to express our opinion, a right to free speech! We don't force that opinion on anybody, for that is not our policy; but we would not feel well if we were forbidden to say what we think. Would not you? Is it not better to say what you think than to say what you don't think? Our belief goes even farther. We believe that politics should be discussed not only during the election time. They also should be discussed between the elections, but discussed in a clean and calm manner, without rancor, without hatred. The better we understand the political issues the more uniform will be our opinions, the more stable Government we will have. We also wish to express a number of thanks. We have already thanked our readers for the manner they bore with us and their various expressions of satisfaction with which we were received. We wish to thank the Victoria Beach Company for the financial support we have received from them. It takes money to issue a publication, and they were the first to extend a friendly hand to us just as well as they were the first to tender a generous hand to the Victoria Beach Community Club by giving a magnificent "pizza" free for their building, besides a generous donation. As far as we know, no public thanks has been given them yet. We also wish to thank the Canadian National Railways for their participation in aiding our existence. We mention particularly Mr.

Kingsland, Mr. Crossman, Mr. Quinlan, and Mr. Higgins. It was not difficult at all to convince them that it is to the general good to have a local gossip carrier. We also wish to thank our advertiser—Crescent Creamery Company. We must not overlook our merchants and utility people, Messrs. Falls, Harzer, Thom, Kilpatrick, Anderson, Mrs. Birdsall, Mr. Larson, Holland Creamery, and all the others who will pardon us for not mentioning them again this year. Adieu!

Yours respectfully,
"The Victoria Beach News."

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King vs. Mr. J. J. Davies

We had an opportunity last year ago to listen to a speech delivered by Mr. J. J. Davies, the Secretary of Labor in President Coolidge's cabinet. Just about a year later we listened to a speech delivered by the Hon. Mackenzie King at the Industrial Bureau in Winnipeg. They both were magnificent speeches, but they were both totally different and diametrically opposed in some. The result of careful weighing of the doctrines promulgated by these two speeches and of re-consideration of the economic conditions prevailing in the two countries represented by the respective speakers was this: that the Liberal party has lost at least one staunch supporter of nearly twenty years standing. Davies' speech was thoroughly professional, Mackenzie King's was just the opposite. Here is the recapitulation of the former:—We are accused of selfish and narrow minded motives in putting a high tariff on our imports just as much as we are attacked from various quarters for promulgating the laws restricting the immigration from other countries. Now, I want you people to understand that both these measures are for your own good. We have established in this country by a long and costly struggle of labor organizations a certain standard of living and we don't want to go back on it. We wish to maintain it as far as possible by legitimate measures. The standard of living rises at a parallel rate with the standard of wages. Wages are in a great measure controlled by the well-known economic law of supply and demand. The higher the supply of labor, the cheaper will be its price. Now, admit for a moment that we open our boundaries to any Tom, Dick or Harry. There will be such an influx of hands ready and hungry for work, that inevitably prices will go down. True enough we have fair wage schedules and other regulations, but the tendency to oblate this is always so strong, that to keep the regulations in force would require a liberal outlay of machinery at a great expense. Now, I say this. If you earn five dollars a day and can save out of this two dollars, is it not ten times better, that you should send half of your savings to some other country, where your relatives and friends may be anxious to come here, and let them stay where they are rather than to bring them here and let them compete with you on the labor market and lower your scale of wages to three dollars per day? The same reasoning applies to imported commodities of other than labor kind. Those were the words and that was the gist of Mr. Davies' speech. We have been impressed with his logic so much more by looking around and seeing everywhere undoubted signs of prosperity, the productive machinery wheels running everywhere.

Now what did Hon. Mackenzie King say? In substance he said:—We want to abolish the import tariff and cheapen the cost of living in this country. True enough, the abolition of import duties will lower the cost of commodities, but it will also deprive us of work. We will have plenty of cheap goods to buy, but we will have no money to buy them with. That was exactly the situation in the United States during President Cleveland's administration and such will be the situation in this country if we support the doctrine of the Hon. Mackenzie King, and the party he is the leader of. Is it wise for us to do so? No! emphatically no! Having a neighbour like the United States with one hundred and ten millions of population and a perfectly functioning productive machinery,

North Centre Winnipeg Liberals!

What is the duty of the Liberals of North Centre? One of the finest types of businessmen is a candidate in that constituency. He should be supported by Liberals to ensure that no one supporting the interests, which put Winnipeg back for five years in the business world, is given a place in Parliament. Mr. Joseph Banfield is a man hard to get to stand the strain of candidature. Liberals as well as Conservatives should think seriously, and in the end give Mr. Banfield their whole hearted support.

the open door policy in this country is disastrous. This is not a mere theory. Look at the facts. See the trend of the people in the direction of the United States and you will have your answer. But, not only Canadians born, but even so called "greenhorns" from immigrants whom we have imported from Europe at a handsome expense to this country, also flock into the United States. Not quite a year ago the jails of border towns were full of individuals who tried to evade the immigration authorities on their way to the States. We cannot say that such conditions existed in 1912, or 1913, or even 1914. Of course the war times cannot be taken into consideration. Who was then at the steering wheel of this country? A government elected on the Conservative platform? Well, let us have them again!

Agricultural Implements Industry

A recent statement published by our Ministry of Trade and Commerce shows the average number of employees in Agricultural Implement Industry in 1921 as 9,198. This number was reduced steadily during the liberal regime, so that in 1925 it amounts to only 6,554, a loss of 2,644 employees. We can safely presume that a greater part of this number have gone to the United States, because there was no employment for them here. They naturally took their families with them. Allowing five persons to each family, this country probably has lost thus 11,229 people. Presuming further (rather safely) that only half of these people were of mature age, able producers (United States will not admit any invalids) what would be the loss to this country in dollars and cents on account of their emigration. Allowing five thousand dollars for each able-bodied man and woman (a rather low estimate), financial loss to this country would be estimated at over twenty-eight million dollars. We are entirely disregarding the potential value of the other half, which could safely be estimated at another paltry sum of fourteen million dollars, making a total loss of manhood of say forty-two million dollars. Now, anybody who wishes to be admitted to the United States has to produce to the Immigration authorities of that country a certain sum of cash and also pay his railway fare which in a larger part goes to the United States railroads. Of course all this calculation is merely approximate, but it is based on facts and rational reasoning. We may say that the loss to Canada on account of handicapping this industry runs into several tens of millions of dollars. What has Canada saved by creating conditions destroying this industry? Figures published last May by the Minister of Trade and Commerce show, that we have imported $1,275,655,000 worth of agricultural implements from the United States. During the same time United States farmers sold to Canadian cities and towns $72,000,000.00 worth of agricultural produce, or $21,000,000.00 more than we have sold to the United States. Now consider these figures and draw conclusions for yourself. If an adequate protection was put on the Agricultural Implements, the Canadian farmer may have to pay two-and-a-half million dollars per annum more for his implements, or say ten million dollars in four years. Canada would have saved during the same time about fifty million dollars in the people who have left the country. Please do not be too partisan, however, and see for yourself, which party has a better policy? The one who destroys Canadian industries to cheapen the cost of living; or the other which wishes to protect the industries, and keep the population of this country on an increase and save it a tremendous loss? As to the farmer, he can be compensated for his loss caused by somewhat higher prices for implements in some other way—than by killing Canadian industries. An American mechanic was asked at one time which government he preferred, republican-protectionist, or democratic free trader. He replied:—“During Pres. Cleveland's time (democratic president and emperor) we had plenty of commodities in this country, but we had no money to buy them with. Now we have plenty of commodities and plenty of money to pay for them. We make them ourselves.” A vote for the conservative party will help to modify this state of affairs so that the industries will be reasonably but adequately protected, so that the population will be kept in this country, which in fact will help us to increase wealth and help to pay the taxes. Dismiss your partisan prejudices, look into history, and

With Mr. and Mrs. Falls having almost decided to go out of the restaurant business, which they have conducted so well for the past five years, the Company may build next season an attractive rustic building to be used as a cafe and a soft drinks counter. There is also some plan on foot to build a dining room at Pinchurst Inn, as the nucleus of a nucleus of modern summer hotel building. A new sub-division may also be placed on the market as nearly all the lots in the original sub-division and the added portion up to Eighth Avenue and King Edward have been disposed of.

you will surely see that each ascent to power of Conservative principles was always followed by a wave of increased prosperity. We had our seven lean years, and it is true that the fat years came. We have to put our shoulders to the wheel and help them to come.

An Instructive Canoe Trip

Mr. Chas. and Fred O'Connell returned this week from an extensive canoe trip of over five hundred miles through north-eastern Manitoba and Western Ontario's mineral and timber regions. They claim that the potential wealth and natural beauty of our Northern Manitoba must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Leaving Winnipeg on June 23, they travelled down the Red to Lake Winnipeg, up the East shore to the mouth of the Manitoba, where, on arrival at a very late hour of the night, they were treated to a midnight dinner of prime young steurgeon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan, whose reputation for hospitality to the "voyageurs" during the past years is well known.

The trip up the Manitoba River at about forty miles means a climb of three hundred feet to overcome about thirty-five waterfalls and cascades. The portages, however, are all short, making this route a popular one for anyone travelling with a very light load. From Kettle Rapids their trip took them through Turtle and Caribou Lakes, Manitowagan and Long Lake. They visited the Ritchey Mine at the latter lake, and were surprised at the development taking place here without railroad facilities. From here they visited Bull Dog Lake, where they heard the amount of work done at the Cryderman is equally surprising.

Leaving Bull Dog Lake, the boys journeyed and prospected eastward through beautiful clear-water Garser Lake, near the height of land, made the two-mile portage into Island or Gem Lake, where they found Captain Atkinson, who has located on one of these wonderful natural parks that one seldom finds, and which appears to contain a rich mineral belt. This section of Ontario is similar to north-eastern Manitoba, and as the canoeists returned west and passed from the Iniskating and Winiskating Lakes, through Snowshoe, and several other clear-water lakes, they wondered how long it would be before this wonderful playground and hunter's paradise would be served by some sort of rail connection, enabling those so inclined to get away from the more restricted summer resorts and take advantage of these thousands of choice lake-shore and island home sites, with fish and wild game of all sorts in abundance.

Returning by way of Bird Lake and Bird River down to Lake du Bonnet, thence down the Winnipeg River to Lake Winnipeg, the situation is reversed, the portages being all downhill, and although there are three long portages between Garser Lake and Lac du Bonnet, with only a few short ones, Mr. O'Connell claims that they much preferred it to the Manitoba route.

The canoe trip down the Winnipeg River from Lac du Bonnet to Fort Alexander today is extremely hazardous for anyone but experienced canoeists, due to treacherous eddies and whirlpools caused by diversion of the main flow to the north side of the dam at Great Falls, and several channels having been blasted out further down the river.

A notice should be posted at Silver Falls, especially warning anyone against portaging there on the north side of the river. In case they land on that side, they should paddle back upstream at least three hundred yards and cross over to the south side, where it is claimed the portage is safe.

The O'Connell brothers were impressed with the tremendous water-power stored up at Great Falls, a portion of which is being used at present to turn two tremendous turbines. The power-house itself is well designed, and presents a nice appearance from several miles down the river.

They claim the work at Pine Falls Pulp Mill is progressing rapidly, and were amazed at the development which has taken place there since their last visit. The boys left their outfit at Victoria Beach on reaching there, returning to Winnipeg by train on Tuesday night.

Flourishing Church Annual Meeting

At the Victoria Beach Community Church annual meeting, held after the service Sunday morning, August 22, the really fine record of the Church was reported on for the past season.

J. W. Pratt, the Secretary, showed in his report that since July 4, when the services were commenced for the 1936 season, the average attendance had been 252. This, considering that the summer residents were on holidays, speaks very highly in favor of the ability of the different clergymen who have conducted the services.

The financial report indicated there would be approximately $200 in the treasury when the season closed, which was voted over to the Community Club for the purpose of purchasing 50 chairs and painting the Club-House.

The congregation showed such confidence in the officers and executive that they were returned to office on unopposed, without a dissenting vote. The officers returned were: Dr. Neil John MacLean, Honorary President; Mr. C. H. Hall, President; Mr. L. W. Pratt, Secretary-Treasurer; Executive: Mr. Potter, Mr. Dack, Mr. J. J. Conkila, Mrs. N. J. McLean, Mr. A. Moore, Mr. W. H. Pratt, Dr. Sedziak, Mr. P. O'Brien, Mr. Passon, Mr. McAlister, Mrs. Harris, Mr. J. S. Little and Mrs. Willis.

It was decided to send each clergyman who has conducted services during the summer a personal letter of appreciation on behalf of the Executive and the members of the Church; and also to the orchestra for their splendid help each Sunday. The method of voluntary offers from clergymen to take charge of the service will be continued next season.

St. Vital Pastor Conducts Service

One of the largest congregations of the summer attended the Church service Sunday morning, August 23, when Rev. William Stenson, pastor of St. Vital United Church, preached on the subject, "The Greatest Factors in History." The reverend gentleman adopted a vigorous style, and his clear expressions of thought added much to a well-constructed discourse. Mrs. Nell John MacLean sang the offering solo, "O Happy Day," the music by Stenz, her clear pronunciation and sympathetic treatment of the beautiful words adding greatly to the stimulating effect of the service. Keith Melkko was accompanist.

This Sunday, Rev. Dr. Doyle, who has always been a warm friend of the Church at Victoria Beach, will conduct the service. Last Sunday's service was largely attended, there being 265 present, and the collection was over $30.

It's Still Vacation Time!

Club-House Receives Baptism of Paint

The Club-House is to be painted. This will be news to the out-gazers and to those who have done so much to credit the building and wish to see it in good preservative order. Through the generosity of the Church Executive and the members the sum of $75 was voted for the purpose last Sunday, and this, with the assistance of Mr. Arnold Smith, who is donating some of the paint from his factory in St. Boniface, and the subscriptions received from out-agers, the amount necessary was subscribed. Sheriff Inkster's initiative in the matter brought the plan to fruition.

The cost will be $150, including paint, and $75 for the labor, and the work will be finished this week. It is hoped, Labor Day will see the Club-House resplendent in its new dress. The roof is to be red colored, and the walls white, with "pink cream" trimmings, two coats being given.

At the meeting of the Victoria Beach Municipal Council, held in the Club-House Saturday last, it was decided by the councillors to clear pathways along some of the narrow lanes and streets, to avoid contact with the dust and mud at times stirred up by autos, teams and wagons.
