Elvis headlines at Festival Chateauguay

The king is back! On Friday July 13 at St. Georges beach a large crowd was treated to a night with Elvis Presley. International Elvis impersonator star Daylin James wowed the crowd with dynamic vocals and a striking resemblance to Elvis. His show called "The Comeback king" was the headline event of the Festival Chateauguay weekend, and was put on by the Manitou Rapids Art Council. James was a big winner with the crowd and had the tent rocking for most of the evening opening with Shake, Rattle and Roll right through to closing with Suspicious Minds. James also displayed a great sense of humour throwing in many jokes and one-liners. He also took a moment to perform a gospel song for the crowd.

Daylin James, originally from Thunder Bay Ontario learned about Elvis at a very young age as his mother was a huge Elvis Presley fan. James used this as inspiration and stated he became an Elvis impersonator as a tribute to his mothers fascination with the king. In James younger years he often sang Elvis songs and was told that his voice had a striking resemblance to Elvis. At age 21 James felt a need to expand and began performing with a small country rock band. Even without singing Elvis he was still often told how he sounded like the king.

After working with three other groups in both Pop and Rock, as well as heavy metal, his last band received an offer to open for meatloaf. Reluctantly Daylin declined and decided to study music in university. After two years and much disappointment Daylin decided to leave music forever or so he thought.

In 1996 James was asked to perform as Elvis at a private birthday party and the rest as they say is history. After receiving many calls and offers James started performing Elvis on a regular basis. "When you know you're good at something you go with it" he said. Soon

Festival organizers and Arts Council members (l-r) Diane Dube, Ginette Vincent, Fran Thompson and Sandi Duval with Elvis Tribute Artist, Daylin James

he was performing huge events and in 1997 at the Canadian Elvis Convention Daylin James was named the Canadian Elvis Tribute Artist Grand Champion after posting the highest score overall in both the Canadian and international divisions. Adding credibility to this already prestigious title is the fact that the judges were Donna Presley (daughter of Elvis beloved aunt "Nash"), D.J. Fontana (Elvis original drummer) and the Jordanaires

Great run for Amy Clark

By Charles Norman

Amy Clark, who is about ten or eleven years old, finished sixth overall in last Saturday's Wellness Centre Fun Run at Grand Marais, beating all the adult women and finishing the run at a fantastic pace with energy to spare. Her time for the five km race was just over 27 minutes. First at the finish was Jeffrey Booth in a time of 18 minutes and twelve seconds.

There were fewer entries this week, (41) than in last week's run at Lester Beach, (63), one reason being, perhaps, that there was another major run at Grand Beach the following day.

The run is one of a series of three this year, and four last year to raise awareness and funds for a major Wellness and Recreation Centre to be located at the intersection of Highway 11 and Highway 59. Next week, Saturday a third Fun Run and Pet Walk will start at Charlie Wall Park at Hillside Beach. It will also be 5km. Entrants can register at the park up to 9:30 am on Saturday July 21. For more information call Gloria Fillion at 756 2913.

Winners (by age group)

- Male under 13, Alex Druwe, 28:33
- Female under 13, Amy Clark, 27:24
- Female 13 - 17, Lindsay Wankling
- Male 30 - 39, Jeffrey Booth, 18:12

- Female 60 - 69 Gina Roth.

Error correction

In last week's issue of The Echo, third place in the female overall category was given as Dominique Druwe, it should have been Nicole LeGras. Nicole was also the winner of the under 13 category - not Dominique Druwe. (Dominique Druwe is a male)

Jeffrey Booth gets his medal for having the best overall time of 18:12

If it's an emergency, come to the ER. If it's not, there may be better choices.

Emergency Room Physician Dr. Ricardo Lobato de Faria

Hospital emergency rooms are busy places. And patients with life-threatening emergencies are always treated first.

That means if you have a minor injury or illness, you may have to wait. If you're looking for a second opinion about a long-standing problem, the emergency room is not the best solution. And unless it's urgent, the ER can't get the test your doctor ordered completed any earlier.

- If you think it's an emergency, go to the ER.
- If it isn't an emergency (e.g. mild or chronic headache, back pain, minor cut or burn, sore throat, cold, possible sprain) go to your family doctor or local walk-in clinic. In Winnipeg, you may also visit the Misericordia Urgent Care Centre or the Pan Am Minor Injury Clinic.
- If you're not sure what's right for you, call Health Links-Info Santé and talk to a nurse anytime day or night.

Pine Falls School closing marks the end of an era

By George Bayly

Personally, I find it hard to believe that the educational institution that was the centre of learning for children in Pine Falls and District for 81 years, is now closed.

Every day for 13 years from 1947 to 1960, from Kindergarten to Grade 12, I trudged off from our house on Cedar Street only four houses away from the school. After the grand bell in the cupola above the school had rung at 8:45 and then finally at 9:00 a.m., students in each classroom sang O'Canada and then repeated the Lord's prayer.

At four o'clock sharp, students rose from their desks sang God Save the King (until 1952 when Elizabeth II ascended the Throne of England), and then were dismissed.

Pine Falls School opened on October 1st, 1926 in two rooms with Grades 1 to 3 taught by Miss Laura Douglas (Mrs. Scotty Lauchlan) and Grades 4 to 8 taught by the Principal, Mr. Harold Greenway. By 1928, the school had expanded and Principal was Mr. W. Gresham who taught the High School and Miss Hume, Miss Mabel Payne, Mrs Howard, and Miss Bertie Morris, who taught the other grades. Miss Payne left town in 1930 and Miss Morris married Gordon Derapsk, one of the American engineers who had come to install the paper machines. At the end of June, 1930 an Elementary School Chorus under the direction of Miss Mabel Payne was a part of the Garden Fete, a talent show which was presented on a stage erected on the Village Green. In September of 1930, two new teachers were welcomed to the school. Miss Alma Smiley who taught grades 3 and 4 and Miss Aileen Moore (later married Joe Lyons) who taught grades 1 and 2 and the Music classes. After her husband passed away in the late 50's, Mrs. A. Lyons went to Winnipeg where she taught music at the St. Mary's Academy.

At the end of June 1930, Pine Falls School had completed its fourth year of existence and according to the Abitibi magazine, the results were favourable as there was an 88% pass list. Some of the promotions were Arlene Witt (McIntyre), Clarence Hutchison, and Louis Lacharite to Grade 2 Jr.; Leverne Taylor, Harold Robinson, and Germaine Lacharite to Grade 2 Sr.; Clayton Farmer, Fintan Lalor, Stewart Kahle, Francis Kolesnik, Isabel Young and Mary Irvine to Grade 3; Madge Brown, Margorie Brown, and Joan Bissett to Grade 4; George Lalor and George Dean to Grade 5; Foster Brown, Freida Mastin (O'Conner) and Ruth Thibedeau to Grade 7; Grace French (who married Jack Huhn), bill Irvine, Frances Walton and Russell Bowman to Grade 8. There were three categories of promotion: Honors-80% to 100, Pass-70% to 80, and on trial-under 70%.

During the Depression, Pine Falls School operated full time and Leonard School in Powerview remained open for months in 1932-33, but was opened full time in 1934 because businessmen Jim McDonald (McDonalds' Garage) and Sam Granovsky (built and operated the store which is now Midway Foods) paid their taxes in advance.

Fred Ludke, and American who had come for construction of the mill and town, was the band master and taught school children to play various instruments. Not all students were acdemically inclined so vocational courses were offered under the guidance of the mill manager Mr. C.C. Irvine who wanted those more adapted to trades be given some instruction in Electrical and Machine trades. Some students went to the mill for lessons. Mechanical Drafting or Drawing was offered by Mr. Harold Brown of the Engineering Department in the Mill in 1937. Some students built a snowmobile in the school basement, about the same time as a man named Armand bombardier had built a snowmobile in the garage attached to his house and Val D'Or, Quebec.

World War II broke out in 1939 but classes at Pine Falls school continued as usual. Many new teachers arrived in Pine Falls during and shortly after the war ended. Mr. H.M. Dunfield was the School Principal. Miss Mary Vickers (Mrs Bill McLeod), came from southern Manitoba to begin her excellent career which lasted over 30 years. She taught of the Bayly children over that period of time.

After her husband, Mr. Ben Van Malsen passed away, Mrs. Vesta Van Malsen started her long and successful teaching career. Miss Mary Amott married Mr. Red Halpin, one of the three Halpin brothers who came to work for the Company in Pine Falls. Miss Bird Gamey, an English and French teacher who had studied at the Sorbonne in Paris was from Rouyn-Noranda in Quebec and prior to her arrival in Pine Falls, had taught in Flin Flon, Mb. Miss Gamey, who resided in the Manitow Lodge during her long teaching career in Pine Falls, was highly respected by all students, staff, and townsfolk. She played a big role in the establishment of the Pine Falls Library which was first located in the Old Mercantile store building beside the drug store. In 2003, I met Margaret Lewis (McKew) who informed me that Miss Gamey was living in a personal care home in Victoria BC and had just had her 100 birthday. I immediately sent her a card and letter to which she soon replied in her own hand writing which I immediately recognized. She started her card by saying "Dear Joey (my Pine Falls nickname), I can well believe that the young rascal that I taught in Pine Falls would rise to great heights. Continue to enjoy your travels abroad." Apparently she still did daily crosswords and reads volumes (as she always did).

Another highly respected teacher who came to Pine Falls in the 40's was A. "Tony" Jorowski, a great teacher and well liked in the community, taught grades 8 and 9 during his career in Pine Falls. He was strict disciplinarian who did not want anyone to fail his grade and his departure from Pine Falls was a huge loss to the community. When Mr. Dunfield departed in the early 50's, high school teacher Mr. George Sadler was appointed Principal. Other high school teachers at that time were Miss Ethel Hoffman, Mr. M. Stamler, Miss Olsen, and Mr. Sawatsky. Mr. Lorne Finkbeiner came originally from the Virdean area to teach grades 7 and 8. Students enjoyed his art classes especially when he would take his classes down by the Manitow Rapids to do outdoor sketching.

When I was in grade 2 my teacher was Miss Blaker, grades 3 and 4, Miss Vivian Glass, and Mrs Van Malsen. Another teacher Mrs. Christine McSherry started every afternoon by reading a novel to her class. I remember her reading us "Oliver Twist"

In 1947, the Kindergarten teacher was the mother of one of my class friends, Margaret Edith Coubrough. Classes with Mrs. Jesse Coubrough began in the United Church basement for a few weeks until the new kindergarten room which was being built on to the school, was completed. A new wing was added to the west side toward the United Church and then, in the early 50's, four new rooms were added at the back toward the playground to accommodate grades 9 to 12. The wall in the foyer of the school was demolished to create an entrance hall. The dark oak wood wainscoting with the old pendulum clock encased in its wooden cabinet next to the portrait of King George VI, and the dark oak staircases which swept up on each side of the foyer gave the hall an Edwardian atmosphere. The custodian in the 40's and 50's was Mr. Prentice who always played Santa Claus at Christmas time and after his retirement was succeeded by Mr. and Mrs Charlie Roberts. In 1957 the Principal, Mr. George Sadler moved to Winnipeg and was replaced by Mr. W. Cutforth who, I believed, stayed only for one year. The following year, the science teacher, Mr. Mike Tataryn became Principal. Mr. Eldon Isherwood arrived to teach mathematics and Mr. Harry Craig arrived to teach grade 7. In 1960 a young medical student, Tome laird, received a temporary teaching permit and taught high school mathematics after the departure of Mr. Isherwood. An enrolment had increased that year, the grade 12 class was banished to the multipurpose room in the basement next to the chemistry lab.

Over the years, graduation exercises were in the form of a banquet and dance. For example, in 1950, they were held in the hall at the Chateau with its wonderful greatly polished hardwood floors. That year, Dennis Wardrop delivered the Valedictory Address and Lorraine Rigg read the class histories and prophecies. The host was Mr. E. J. Kahle, Official Trustee, and Superintendent of the Mill stores. The toast to the graduates, given by John Bayly was responded to by Nesta McLeod (Hutchison)...

The Trades and Labour Council Scholarships awards were presented to Lorraine Rigg and Dennis Wardrop by Mr. Bill Hibbert, president of the Council. Mill manager, Mr. Ralph Hayes offered congratulations on behalf of the Manitoba Paper Company. Principal, Mr. H. Dunfield presented the diplomas to the graduates: Lorraine Rigg, Ray Mansell, Nesta McLeod, Patricia Metzler, Verna Perry (Eastcott), Leif Sunde, and Fred Ford (Marg's brother).

Other principals of Pine Falls School were Dick Friesen and Bill Borelase both of whom, as I remember, played for the paper Kinds hockey club. Laura Robinson, who married Harold Robinson, Marion Dracass who married Jack Mitchell, and June Bridges who married Jack Dudka, all taught at Pine Falls School. Nesta McLeod (Hutchison) and Verna Perry (Eastcott) grew up in Pine Falls and had great teaching careers in town where they both still reside.

In June of 2002, I wrote a two part article entitled Golden Rule Days-Memories Of Our School in which I related my memories of attending school, K to 12 at Pine Falls School. It is, of course impossible to mention the thousands of students who passed through the doors of Pine Falls School during the past 81 years. Many graduates of Pine Falls went on to become highly successful in their chosen fields of work. Among them are MP's, Ambassadors to foreign countries, doctors, nurses, lawyers, engineers, professors, teachers, financiers, retail sales managers, and industrial tradesmen.

It is sad to think that the building where we spent the early years of our lives will never be the same, but we all know that in this world, nothing ever remains the same. The good news is that the school will still be offering education in the form of a Trades School with four of the classrooms to be known as the Winnipeg River Regional Trade School which will be offering pre-employment upgrading courses in September.

It is hoped that the historical artifacts, documents, and memorabilia from its time as Pine Falls Elementary School and Pine Falls Collegiate Institute will be preserved. We can look back fondly on those golden years and the memories of classmates some of who are no longer with us, memories of teachers, field trips, the High School Cadet Corps, and school dances. It is the end of an era in Pine Falls history.

Keeping children safe in and around vehicles

Never Leave Children Unattended in Vehicles. Your vehicle can pose threats to children even when it's not on the road. Each year, children are injured or killed by someone accidentally backing up or pulling forward in driveways and parking lots, or from being left inside a vehicle during hot weather. In other cases, children have set cars in motion while playing, unsupervised, with the gear-shift or inadvertently getting strangled by power windows or car seat belts.

Don't overlook sleeping infants, especially if you're in a rush. Place your purse or cell phone in the back seat or a small toy in the front as a reminder. Always check the car seat before you leave your vehicle. The temperature inside a closed car on a hot day can rise as much as 20 degrees in the first 10 minutes - and continue to rise rapidly.

When sharing child pick-up and drop-off duties, communicating is important. Know where the child is.

Check to make sure the buckles or fabric of the car seat hasn't become overheated in the sun.

Cover the car seat with a light cloth to keep it shaded.

Use window shades to shade the inside of the car from excessive heat.

Always lock car doors and the trunk after you and the children have exited to prevent children from playing inside parked cars.

Keep car keys out of children's reach so they can't enter the vehicle without an adult's knowledge.

Watch young children closely around the car when loading or unloading.

Be wary of child-resistant locks that can trap children inside. Teach older children how to unlock the door lock.

Keep rear folding seats closed to prevent children from crawling into trunks from inside the car.

Be wary of power windows; children have been inadvertently strangled.

Take Precautions When Backing Up. Look carefully behind the vehicle before you get in and again before you put the car in gear to back up.

Back up slowly, and pay attention to your mirrors. Know where your kids are before you back up. Teach children that "parked" vehicles might move. Let them know that they can see the vehicle; but the driver might not be able to see them. Make sure all child passengers have left the car after it is parked. Be especially careful in and around cars during busy times, schedule changes and periods of crisis or holidays.

Protecting and Asserting our Northern Sovereignty

For those of us living here in southeastern Manitoba, in close proximity to the US border, the vast expanses of territory in Canada's North are sometimes difficult to appreciate. Like so much of the rest of the country, the North seems remote, inaccessible, and even foreign to many Canadians. But as Prime Minister Stephen Harper said last week, the North and the Arctic are "central to our national identity as a northern nation. It is part of our history. And it represents the tremendous potential of our future."

That's why, in the last election campaign, the Conservative Party campaigned on a commitment to increase the Canadian Forces' capacity to protect Canada's Arctic sovereignty and security. And in government, we have moved to fulfill that commitment, because the situation requires action today to meet the challenges of the future. We must make it clear to the world that we will protect our territorial sovereignty over the area. For instance, Canada's north is already attracting increasing levels of interest from other countries for its oil, gas and minerals. For Canada, developing those resources will be critical to our own economic success and prosperity in the long term.

Currently, the Canadian Navy can patrol the coastal waters of Canada's East and West Coasts, but it does not have the capability to effectively patrol all three oceans. The Navy can only operate in northern waters for a short period of time, and only when there is no ice.

So last week at Canadian Forces Base Esquimalt on Vancouver Island, the Prime Minister announced the construction of up to eight Polar Class 5 Arctic Offshore Patrol Ships and the establishment of a deep water port in the far North. These ships will be custom-designed and built in Canada, and will be amongst the heaviest, most versatile armed naval vessels capable of sustained operations in ice. With steel-reinforced hulls, they will be capable of operating in ice up to one metre thick, and each vessel will also be equipped with a helicopter landing pad. They will be able to patrol the length of the Northwest Passage during the summer navigable season and its approaches year-round, and will also be capable of full operations on the East and West Coasts throughout the year.

To conduct sea-borne surveillance operations in the Arctic, a deep water port will be constructed to allow the patrol ships to re-supply and re-fuel.

Defending the nation's sovereignty is the highest responsibility of any government. I'm proud to be part of a Conservative government that takes that responsibility very seriously indeed. This new initiative along with others our Government will announce in the near future will improve security on Canada's three coasts. And they give the Canadian Forces the tools they need to enforce our claim to sovereignty and our jurisdiction over the Arctic.

Ask the Neighbourhood Mechanic

by Dave Redinger

High temperatures, high speeds, heavy loads. These are a recipe for vehicle failure. As we are heading into summer driving it's time to get into a habit of the pre-flight inspection. Let's take a page from the air craft industry. Every plane, be it a Cessna or 777 is pre-flight inspected. Easy stuff. Oil level and condition. If it's dirty change it. Not sure change it. Check the level of the coolant, the brake fluid and the washer system. Make sure the wipers sweep the glass without chattering and smearing. If the glass is cracked change it. The windshield is part of the support structure of the cowl and roof area. Most importantly check your tire pressures. Higher loads and high speeds may require an increase in tire pressures. If the tread is worn or the tire is cracked replace them. Not sure give your mechanic a call. Before you load your family in, check it out. As I always say "the side of the road is not the best way to meet people".

My husband is from the old school that said that your car should have its oil changed every 5,000 km. On our last two vehicles, there was a readout on the dash that spelled out the oil life in your vehicle and that your oil didn't have to be changed until the readout signified that it was to be done. In fact, our present vehicle is a 2006 Montana Van on which we have OnStar. As you probably know, with OnStar you receive an email monthly denoting any problems you might be experiencing, together with the percentage of oil life and number of kilometres driven (quite amazing, I think). The dealership has told us that the vehicle does not to be serviced until it is so noted on this email. My husband still doesn't believe this and says that it's just GM's way of bring down the value of your car when trading because they will say that it was not serviced regularly. Not too long ago, I heard you say that "Ford had just joined the other manufacturers in admitting that oil changes weren't required more frequently than every 10,000 km (or something to that effect). Please let me know what your feelings are so we can end this feud over vehicle servicing."

Legislation was enacted in the US that limited the amount of service a vehicle required over a specific mileage period. Secondly oil sludging was oc-curing on newer engines due to higher running temperatures. Americans traditionally were poor in their maintenance habits and the oil monitor was an easy way to ensure service. Having a monitor relieved the manufacture of some of liability when it came to engine failures due to lack of maintenance. The oil monitor measures the oil temperature and compares it to the length for time the engine is running. However, these calculations are for normal driving. Here in Canada we use the severe service schedule. To be safe change the oil and filter every 5000kms or 4 months which ever occurs first. It's good insurance for a healthy engine.

Oh, one more thing. Your husband has it all wrong. Manufacturers would do anything to keep the value of their vehicle high as they age. The car business relies on the financial sector to fund new models. If the thing is worthless after 4 yrs then the cost of ownership would be to high to finance. So the higher the residual the easier it is to own. Proof? look at Mercedes, Honda, Toyota etc. These vehicles have a high residual value. This translates into lower lease payments and lower finance rates.

Summer Grilling - Tips for Cleaning Your Outdoor Grill

Outdoor grilling is one of summertime's delights. Even basic foods seem to taste better when cooked outdoors. Whether the grill of choice is charcoal or gas, these tips will help keep it in peak performance. Begin by checking the grill manufacturer's instructions for specific cleaning requirements.

Rust is the major enemy of charcoal grills—and the major cause of rust is failing to clean out the ashes regularly. To do this, turn off the grill, make sure it's completely cool. Then, remove the grates from inside the grill. If there's no ash catcher underneath the bowl, use a garden trowel to scoop out the ashes.

If the grill has an ash catcher, be sure to clean it, too, once the ashes are removed. Carefully discard ashes in a plastic trash bag. Otherwise, they will fly all over, covering everything (including yourself) with soot.

Clean the grate and the inside of the grill with a spray-on over cleaner. Check the label to make sure the cleaning product is safe for both these surfaces, and follow the grill manufacturer's use instructions. Let the cleaner sit long enough to soften the accumulated grease and grime. Then, wipe the cleaner off with paper towels. Follow by washing with a hand dishwashing detergent and water. Clean the outside of the grill, too, using a warm detergent and water solution and a non-abrasive cloth. Rinse and wipe dry.

Gas grills should be checked to make sure there are no leaks or blockages. Make sure the grill is turned off and completely cool. Then, inspect the burner and gas supply tubes for spider webs, grease build-up, rusted areas—anything that would slow down the gas flow. Clean these areas following the grill manufacturer's cleaning instructions.

Clean a gas grill after every use by turning the grill on "high" and letting it "cook" for 10 to 15 minutes with the lid closed. Turn off the grill and let it cool slightly. Then, loosen the residue with a brass bristle brush. Once the grill is completely cool, wipe the inside and outside surfaces with a soft cloth and warm, soapy water. Rinse and wipe dry.

Good maintenance will extend the life and working of the grill.
