

4-P Festival now big business with $13,000 budget

by Pyteke Blaauw

Business support is required

"We need the backing of the business community, if we want to continue to grow." Those were the words spoken by Leon Bouvier, in charge of public relations for the Paper, Power, Pea and Pickerel Festival 1986, at a reception on May 7 in the St. Georges Community Centre.

President Danny Nault echoed the same sentiment, outlining to an audience of approximately 30 people, how strong business support to an equally strong festival can be of mutual benefit.

The people attending this reception were quickly caught up in the persuasive and determined mood emanating from all the members on the board. Perhaps it was the content of the 4P drink, which was served courtesy of the board, but people were eager to offer suggestions and willing to grapple with the many questions that face this committee in charge of organizing the fifth 4P Festival, traditionally held on the Labour Day weekend.

Annual budget of over $13,000

The festival has grown in magnitude. The 4P Festival started with the aim to produce a community event suitable for each member of the family.

The entire festival should pay its way but not be profit oriented, and that it should enhance this area and also promote it.

With its humble beginnings in 1982 it has mushroomed to one of the major tourist attractions in the Eastman region. It has done so through many hours of volunteer labour. "But we are unique in our approach," reiterated president Nault. "The festival itself nets very little revenue." That is because the participating groups, individuals and organizations enjoy great independence. They are in charge of a certain facet of the weekend's activities, they take full responsibility over it, but also cash in on the possible profits. The only thing the 4P Festival organization asks is a 10% donation of this profit to the committee. "Look at other festivals," continued Nault, "all the activities are festival oriented and so is the revenue. Also most other festivals have solid financial backing from the business community."

Meanwhile this board relies on government subsidies to offset the cost of the overall organization. And one of these days that will no longer be available.

The purpose of this night's reception annex public meeting was not so much to solicit financial donations from the business community, as it meant to appeal to the marketing expertise of these businessmen and women.

"We are slightly disappointed with their response," noted Bouvier. "From the 70 invitations we sent, only a handful of business representatives are here tonight!"

But the ones who were there were eagerly asking questions. "What is it, you really want us to do?" Was the most frequently heard question. "Do you want us to sponsor an activity, take charge of a certain activity or are you looking for suggestions in regards to new activities?"

Said Nault, "We are basically looking for money to put into prizes, in order to get people interested in participating. With good prizes activities do grow. Take the pickerel derby for example. With either good prize money or trophies participation will go up."

"Give the businesses a precise list of all your needs, break them down in realistic proportions, tell them what you want from them, for how much or for how long and they will be more apt to lend you their support," stated Fran Poor attendance ...

PFRA reflects on past year at annual meeting

by Pyteke Blaauw

The annual Pine Falls Recreation Association meeting is perhaps the closest resemblance to a municipal meeting as this town will ever see. The public interest in this annual event, which took place this year on Monday, May 12 in the Golden Leisure Club in Pine Falls, unfortunately was rather low. Thirteen people attended, of whom eight were immediate board members.

Sizeable budget

Annual meetings are not usually show stoppers, neither do they draw large crowds, particularly in small communities. But here with an organization with over 400 members who pay $9.00 per month in membership fees, and with a proposed annual budget of more than $100,000, which supplies the four major recreational facilities to the community — the arena, curling rink, heated outdoor swimming pool, and the Lennard Rupert baseball diamond — and nobody shows!

This might be an indication that the community is pleased and satisfied with the management of the P.F.R.A. Outgoing president Jack Power, in his president's remarks left that impression.

No committee reports

In the absence of committee reports, Power listed the different member organizations which fit under the umbrella of the P.F.R.A. and/or which used the facilities in the year 1985-86.

Hockey

The Minor Hockey Leagues had shown good overall showing in regional and provincial playoffs. The house leagues had run smoothly. Intermediate hockey could have been better and the Ol' Timers' hockey team had done well.

Ringette

Ringette, with 52 girls registered had shown improvement in tournaments and divisional games. With its 1986-87 executive in place this organization is ready for a next season.

Figure skating

The figure skating club has enjoyed a good year, although was sometimes hampered by ice time scheduling problems. Power expressed his confidence that these troubles would not occur in the ensuing season.

Curling club

With a strong executive, and plans underway to improve the curling ice surface, Power wished all to go well for the curling club in the forthcoming season.

Baseball

Thanks went to Danny Nault for his part in organizing the baseball activities.

Tennis

There is no tennis club to speak of at present. Richard Fenez acted as general coordinator and court control officer in the past year. The hope was expressed that an active tennis club would come forth.

Cross-country ski club

This organization was blessed with lots of snow and conducted many activities on its well maintained trails.

Judo club

Admittedly small in number, but considered very worthwhile, with Andy Russell as leader.

Playground committee

This newest member group of the P.F.R.A. with plans to construct a playground on the Village Green, has met one-third of its fund-raising objective. It is anticipated that construction for the playground equipment will start this summer.

Canteen committee

Mrs. Sharon Brown, coordinator for the canteen in the rink was praised for the efficient

Agassiz Division holds festival performance day

by Anna Schmidt

On Wednesday, May 7, music students from Pine Falls, Lac du Bonnet and Powerview gathered at Powerview School for two memorable performances. In the morning, students in the early grades sang, danced and played for an enchanted audience. A group of entertaining French speaking puppets visited from Pine Falls, and Park Avenue Grade 2's gave a heartfelt rendition of the poem Runny Nose. Participating from Powerview School were Grade 1 and 2 students singing three spring songs.

In the afternoon, students in Grades 4 and up took the stage. This proved to be a truly exciting display of talent. From the first magical chime of the Centennial School bell ringers to the last click of Powerview lummi sticks, the audience was treated to a range and variety of talent that is a credit to the division. Christine Spickard and Daniel Grant displayed the flexibility of the synthesizer while they demonstrated their own musical skills. The Grade 6 class provided a taste of the wild west with "Buffalo Gals" and Keri Morrison played a well-prepared recorder solo. Quincy Zulak brought the house down with a showstopping drum solo.

The show ended with a real treat — a guest appearance by Aces High. This local group looks and sounds very professional and was received with enthusiasm. Aces High has the great gift of making its listeners really want to get up and dance. I for one look forward to the next time they perform.

New 4-P board members

Crocus tea well attended

Pine Falls Health Auxiliary annual Crocus Tea and Bake Sale was officially opened at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, May 9 by president Mary Gold. She welcomed visitors from Lac du Bonnet, Beausejour and Winnipeg.

At 2:15, hospital administrator Jackie Joss gave a short progress report on the hospital building project and possibility of completion of present phase in April 1987.

Convenor Lenore Bartlett introduced Maude Luchuk of Winnipeg, formerly of Pine Falls. Maude has completed twenty afghans for our future Sunnyside Manor.

At 2:30 past provincial president Joyce Beaulieu presented Lil Kinghorn with a life membership in the Pine Falls Health Auxiliary for her past support and dedication to our auxiliary, during the years she lived in Great Falls. She now lives in Lac du Bonnet and we were pleased to hear that she was hoping to start a hospital auxiliary in Lac du Bonnet. Our loss is their gain.

Helen Lazaruk, Alma Hebert, Marvel Neddow and Mary Meckin honored us by pouring tea.

Mrs. Gloria Pitre and Mrs. Lenore Bartlett, co-convened the tea and made this a very successful afternoon.

A beautiful cake made by Mrs. Gordan Bjork was raffled and won by Leora Witt and Leora also won a baby jacket donated by Sara Amos.

Mrs. Lilian Kinghorn was presented with a life membership in the Pine Falls Health Auxiliary at the recent Crocus Tea.

The book nook

by Mona Bossi

There wasn't a "Book Nook" article from the Library Allard last week and in order to clear up any confusion as to the library's open hours, here they are:
Tuesdays: 1:00 - 4:30 p.m.
Wednesdays: 6:30 - 8:00 p.m.
Thursdays: 1:00 - 4:30 p.m.; and 6:30 - 8:00 p.m.
Fridays: 1:00 - 4:30 p.m.
Saturdays: 10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Thanks to the thoughtfulness of different patrons travelling between Lac du Bonnet and St. Georges, we have received a new shipment of Natural History Encyclopedias and a block of 100 French books on loan from Public Library Services.

Last Friday, pre-school story-time made history when the four year olds from "Le Petit Soleil" in St. Georges and "The Three Bears Day Care" from Pine Falls crowded in the children's corner of the library for stories.

By the way, did you know when the first history book was written? Herodotus, a Greek author, known as the "Father of History" was born sometime in the fifth century B.C. His book History, describing the wars between Greece and Persia, is generally considered to be the first deliberate attempt to see the events of the time against a historical background.

"I am giving," he says in his opening words, "the results of my inquiries (historia) so that the memory of what men have done shall not perish from the world nor their achievements, whether of Greeks or of foreigners, go unsung..." Taken

4-P logo designer modest local artist

by Pyteke Blaauw

Five years ago when the Iraper, Power, Pea and Pickrel Festival was born, the design, which was to become the identifying logo for the 4P Festival came about as unassumingly as the festival itself.

John Bonekamp, then working for the Manitou Rapids Arts Council went to his brother Nick and asked him to "draw" something.

Nick (27), the oldest son of the Bonekamp clan, was happy to comply. Without any thought to copyright he set to work and comprised the strange title for a festival into an easily recognizable visual logo.

There is the powerdam in the background, a roll of newsprint rolling away from it, a pickrel jumping out of the Winnipeg River and the green peas growing to the side.

It has not bothered Nick that few people have given him credit for this design. "Drawing is just a hobby," he states. "I picked it up in school." Nick admits that he would like to do some more "pencil work", but other commitments prevent him from spending more time on this artistic pursuit. "Some day I'll pick it up again," he adds.

Meanwhile the result of his skills lives on. Every 4P poster, every pamphlet has featured his logo in the past four years. No change is anticipated in this fifth year of the festival.

The Winnipeg River Lions Club, has, with permission from Nick, turned this logo into the club's official pin. This charming pin, measuring three cm in diameter, certainly does justice to the already strong local Lions Club.

With Bonekamp's visual interpretation of this varied and diverse district we all have been helped with the identification of this area. Long overdue, but on behalf of the community we thank Nick Bonekamp for his contribution.

Mrs. Maureen Cini with her daughters Dana, Jaime and Erin from Watford, Ont. was visiting recently with her parents Sally and Andy Anderson.

While Maureen renewed old friendships at a St. Boniface nurses' class reunion in Winnipeg, Sally and Andy enjoyed a good visit with their granddaughters.

On returning to school Dana had to write an essay on her trip. It included a family reunion at her uncle Mervyn's home in Winnipeg, a trip to the zoo, snowfall and a few days later being caught in a thunderstorm and witnessing lightning strike the hydro lines behind the arena. Also just as thrilling, was listening to a million frogs singing.

She thinks Pine Falls would be a fun place to live.

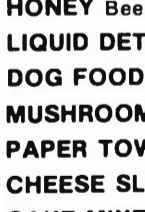

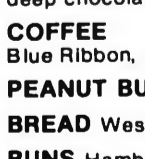

An 80th birthday celebration was held in honour of Mrs. Mable Lougheed on May 3-4. Present were Darlene Lougheed, Stephen and Vanessa of Ottawa, Jean Affleck, Shauna Rona and Bobbie-Jo of Kamloops, MaryAnne and Gerry Chartier, Noel Rochelle and Tim of Powerview. Also many other family members and friends were present. There was a supper Saturday at the parish hall. Sunday a barbecue was held at the Chartier home.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Flogging a dead horse

Much has been said the past few weeks about cabinet ministers who have taken advantage of loopholes in the tax system, or what has been termed "legalized theft".

And now we have another Minister of the Crown, Gerard Lecuyer, who has admitted his accountant had invested some of his hard-earned cash into a "research" project which resulted in a tax savings of many thousands of dollars.

The public and the opposition has lashed out at Pawley and his Cabinet enough. The message has been sent loud and clear that the taxpaying public are a little upset and because the NDP government is skating on thin ice, they will, in future, be much more cautious as to their personal conduct as it may well backfire in the next election.

It could also backfire on Gary Filmon and the opposition Conservatives too, if Filmon insists on hammering at Pawley and demanding the resignation of Parasuik and Lecuyer. There's no doubt these two individuals made a grave error in judgement but to keep nagging them now for their resignation is like flogging a dead horse. It might make him feel better but the horse won't feel a thing!

Filmon might do well to let the issue sit on the back burner for a while, handy for future need, but should leave well enough along at this time — especially when the federal Conservatives image is being tarnished with an even more shady issue in the Sinclair Stevens' affair.

All this means, of course, is that whether federal or provincial, NDP or PC — politicians are human and some have trouble separating public trust from personal gain.

So, for now at least, Filmon should challenge the NDP on other more meaningful matters and bide his time and let the House get on with the job of tackling the real issues. The voters will decide next time round if these individuals have really made unforgivable mistakes.

Property rights should not be enshrined

Here's a message for the extreme right wing; forget about your property rights. You aren't going to see them enshrined in the Constitution.

Each week as I scan the weeklies, of one thing I can be certain; there will be half a dozen letters on property rights. Many of the writers identify themselves as members of COR or WCC.

Their persistence finally moved me to do something about it. With a new notebook under my arm I ventured forth once again in the role of Joe Reporter. In the course of a week I interviewed a judge, a constitutional lawyer, a professor of political science, and I checked the written record.

Surprise No. 1 was to learn the breadth of the legal definition of property. I had assumed from those letter-writers that they were talking about real estate, like farms and homes. As property is anything that has value, real estate is only one part.

Property is anything that is capable of being owned. Your cars, books, trucks, livestock and household possession constitute your property just as surely as does your real estate. And no, you don't have a constitutional right to any of them.

Part of the reason has to do with "eminent domain." This is a legal precept under which all property is vested in the name of the crown, which makes the rights of the individual subordinate to this superior authority. Under eminent domain you are guaranteed compensation if your property is taken from you to serve some public purpose. Those of you who have had your land expropriated for the widening of a highway will know all about this.

Surprise No. 2 was to be introduced to some unusual thinking displayed many years ago in the U.S. Some social welfare legislation was challenged by right-wing forces on the grounds that taking a dollar out of your purse to give it to a welfare recipient was a violation of property rights.

There is general agreement by the experts that no authorities are likely ever to give you a right to real estate that is fixed forever and cannot be challenged. If this were to happen there might never be another highway built, nor another addition put on any public building.

Topping all the other reasons was the reluctance of the federal authorities to meddle in a field which is so clearly within the rights of the provinces.

Is all of our property at risk? Not a bit. Over close to a thousand years the courts have built up such a body of Common Law that you have considerable protection for your possessions.

Surprise No. 3 was to learn the amount of time spent in discussing this subject when the Constitution was being debated. The record shows that when it was time for some hard decisions, both those on the left and those on the right decided that there were substantial reasons why property rights should not be enshrined.

A few of those letter-writers take the position that property was withheld from the Constitution as some sort of plot to keep the state paramount and to keep the serfs in their places.

Not so. Those who believe this haven't done their homework.

A new Legislature begins

Lieutenant-Governor Pearl McConigal (left), who read her first Throne Speech at the opening of the 32nd Manitoba Legislature in February, 1982, is escorted to the Chamber by Premier Howard Pawley to deliver the first Throne Speech of the new 33rd Legislature May 8. It was her final Throne Speech, as her term as lieutenant-governor expires in October.

Peatland farming can be a viable operation

Mention peat to most people and they'll probably think of the bogs of Northern Europe.

But the fact is that over eight million hectares (20 million acres) of peatlands are found here in Manitoba. Of that, about 800,000 hectares (two million acres) have potential for farming.

Long considered a substance good only for fuel, peatsoil is a viable resource for forestry, agriculture and even horticulture under proper management.

Unlike other soils, peatsoil is an organic substance. Historically, low-lying areas saturated with water most of the year produce aquatic plants. Over time, this material builds up to create a depth of decomposed organic matter classed today as peatsoil. Such soils vary in composition. However, they are usually high in nitrogen, low in phosphorus and potassium, and can lack micronutrients such as copper and manganese.

In Manitoba, peatsoils occur mainly in the Eastern and Interlake regions, although pockets are located elsewhere in the province.

To the farmer trying to crop them, peatsoils offer some challenges. According to peatland specialist Bruno Sterckeman, the greatest challenge is the weather.

"You're always trying to beat the frost," says Sterckeman, currently the project manager for the Manitoba Peatland Farming Association (MPFA). "Because they occur in low-lying areas where cold air is channelled, peatsoils carry a higher frost risk than clay soils. Peatsoils are also poor conductors of heat, which mean they develop a cooler microclimate than you'll find on clay soils. Sometimes you see a month's difference in the growing season on peat."

Then there are weeds to consider. Weed control, especially of perennials, is difficult because seeds proliferate in the organic soil, and soil incorporate herbicides are not effective in peat.

Foliar herbicide application, tillage and crop rotation are the recommended methods for fighting weeds on peatland.

Insufficient natural damage in many peatlands also often necessitates special drainage techniques for reclamation.

Still, peatsoil is a soil like any other, and some crops grown on peatsoils can produce yields equal to those on clay soils, Sterckeman says.

Short season crops such as barley and early-maturing canola can do well on peatlands. Experiments with vegetable production show promise, partly because the root crops need little cleaning. But the most reliable crop is forage, either for feed or seed. Perennial forages such as Timothy are the easiest to manage on peatsoils, says Sterckeman.

Because peatsoils are light and fluffy, they erode easily if tilled. Compacting the ground with packers before and even after seedling is sometimes necessary. Tilling at right angles to the prevailing winds is recommended.

By experimenting with management techniques, Manitoba farmers are learning more about growing crops on peatsoils, says Garry McRae, president of the 85 member MPFA. Erosion control is one practice which is stressed. In some cases, farmers are encouraged to limit tillage, McRae says. Because peatsoils types vary greatly, management techniques vary as well. "We tell farmers to keep it small and local," says

Despite their erodability, peatsoils may still require deep tillage for aeration, weed control and residue incorporation. Deep tillage may also help to bring nutrients up from the clay base underneath. Because it is

The farmer's corner Peatland farming a viable operation

Canola varieties

With the weather delaying seeding operations, some farmers are considering changes to their cropping plans. If canola is the crop of choice as delayed seeding becomes necessary, the following may be of value in selecting the most suitable variety.

The information is derived from work done by Agriculture Canada research stations across western Canada over the past three years. Westar (Argentina variety) is used as the standard and rated at 100 for yield (average yield 38.3 bus/acre). It is the choice among Argentina varieties, because Regent rates 83 and Andro rates 87 for yield. In addition, Westar matures in 96 days, while Regent takes 99 days and Andro 97 days. Westar also has the highest oil content at 43.3%.

Where there are serious infestations of wild mustard and stinkweed, OAC Triton and Tribute (Triazine tolerant varieties) can be grown to allow for chemical treatment of these weeds. However, relative yields drop significantly, i.e. Triton rates 67 (vs. Westar at 100) and Tribute rates 69. They are both longer maturing than Westar and have lower oil content 40.2%. These varieties are also more difficult to get established, so proper seed bed preparation is even more important.

Where seeding is delayed into June, it may be necessary to consider Tobin (a Polish variety). It matures in 87 days (vs. 96 for Westar) and has a yield rating of 86. Candle is a lower yield Polish variety (rating of 79), and is more susceptible to lodging. In most areas, Tobin is the choice of Polish varieties.

Over-delivery quota change for pedigreed seed purchase

The Canadian Wheat Board has increased the over-delivery quota, whereby, producers can acquire foundation, registered or certified seed of wheat, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, canola, field beans, field peas or lentils, and certified or commercial forage seed for seeding purposes. The over-delivery quota has been increased from 20 tonnes to 35 tonnes.

Poor quality grain from last year's crop is not germinating well in tests done this spring. Producers are well advised to take advantage of the over-delivery opportunity to purchase high quality seed.

Ag. rep. days - Lac du Bonnet and Whitemouth

Commencing May 20, we are going to start offering extension services through sub-offices at Lac du Bonnet and Whitemouth municipal offices. As required, I will be available on the first and third Tuesday of each month to make on-farm calls or meet farmers at the municipal offices. Requests for a farm call, or a meeting, should be directed to the Beausejour office at 268-1411, or to one of the municipal offices. Depending on the response, the service will be made available until late fall when meetings and other extension programs are being conducted throughout the district.

*This service will not mean that I would not be available to visit farms or attend meetings on other days as well. We simply want to set the first and third Tuesdays aside to better serve those two communities as requests are received.

organic, peatsoil often lacks important minerals such as copper.

Experiments currently underway by the MPFA are tackling the question of how and when to apply copper fertilizer. Aided by a grant from Agri-Food, a sub-agreement of the Economic and Regional Development Agreement, the association hopes to learn the long-term effects of copper on yields. The experiments, carried out in cooperation with Manitoba Agriculture and the University of Manitoba, also aim at finding out the need for nitrogen application to peatsoils in spring, since organic soils do not release their nitrogen reserves until sufficient warmed.

Dr. Geza Rac, head of the Soil Science Department at the University of Manitoba, says nitrogen requirements for peatsoils will be known in a year or two, and residual effects of copper will be answered soon after that.

Rac says developing organic soils is necessary to increase Manitoba's agricultural land base.

"We've already developed most of our good mineral soils and we have to look decades ahead. Fifty years from now our land area will have to increase substantially to meet the growing demand for food."

Right now, peatland is most valuable for forage production because of its moisture-holding capacity, says Gerald Huebner, Agriculture rep at Arborg.

"It doesn't dry out as quickly as sandy soils, and it can hold more moisture in wet years than mineral soils can."

Because peatland is a different growth medium than mineral soils, the traditional rules about soil management don't always apply, Huebner adds. But he says he's excited about the potential for peatsoils in Manitoba.

"We have to proceed carefully, but we still need to look at peatsoils seriously and not write them off. Peatsoils are a valuable resource. Crops of high value are being produced on peatsoils elsewhere, and they can be produced here, too."

4-P Festival prepares for 5th celebrations

Thompson.

Seek central main event

Bill Luschyk, sales representative for Molson Brewery, offered many helpful suggestions. One of which was a central theme. "There are many events taking place during the Labour Day weekend," he observed, "but a central theme is missing." Emphasis on one thing and bill that as the major attraction, be that the pickerel derby or canoe races or a pea shooting contest, etc. Attract people from far and wide for that specific purpose and all the other activities are bonuses for them. So they are sure to come back in years to come.

The 4P board agreed with this observation, and chairman Nault added that this year outdoor teams for the mixed slow pitch tournament would be attracted. It was generally felt though that the ball games should not take over the emphasis of the festival.

Ms. Teen pageant

Chairman Nault offered the suggestion that the proposed Ms. Teen pageant could be marketed as the governing theme. Planning for this pageant is already underway and is thought to be a good crowd pleaser. But again the matter of finances needs addressing. The pageant needs sponsors, the more sponsors the better the prizes.

Market square

Jill Papineau's remark about her plans to give the market square '86 a more agricultural - horticultural twist, in as much as trying to attract farm and garden produce sales, etc. was met with approval.

It was also suggested to have the St. Georges peas very visible and very much for sale.

Many ideas were floating around and many suggestions were made, there was a sense of enthusiasm. If chairman Nault would have allowed it this general information meeting would have turned into a full scale planning session. There is community pride in the festival and it is hoped that the board members sensed it and take it as a boost for their energy. They will be needing it, since organizing a three-day festival is no small task.

President Nault was happy to announce that the Manitoba government once again has consented to subsidize the hiring of a summer student under the Career Start program, and this will lighten the workload of the board members somewhat. Nevertheless the success of the fifth annual Paper, Power, Pea and Pickerel Festival will very much depend on the concentrated efforts of these twelve board members, their respective committees and the many volunteers willing to lend a hand.

St. Georges man jailed for 7th driving offence, false ID

Aimee Dupont, from St. Georges alias Archie Vincent was fined for supplying police with a false name and driving while disqualified.

Dupont, 27, pleaded guilty to mischief as well as his seventh offence of driving without a valid driver's licence in Beausejour judge's court on April 29. Judge Morlock handed him a $300.00 fine on the first charge and a 14-day jail term on the second.

On Aug. 29, 1985, Dupont was riding a motorcycle north of Henderson Hwy., Wpg. when stopped by the police, he identified himself as Archie Vincent, and the bike as belonging to one of his friends.

In checking the bike police discovered no front brakes. They later found Dupont's real identity by way of a tattoo.

job in keeping the canteen staffed by volunteers. Eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) was donated by the canteen committee to the P.F.R.A.

Arena insulation

The arena has been insulated and painted to the cost of $79,587.63. This with help of government subsidy. Entrance and lobby will be painted in 1986-87. Arnie Honcke has resigned as ice maker.

Swimming pool

The Pine Falls swimming pool opened on June 1, 1985 and operated for three months.

Recreation co-ordinating committee now defunct

Power reported that the recreation co-ordinating committee no longer existed since the two reasons for its existence had either disappeared or been solved - a) the monthly newsletter Rec-Time in co-operation with the Manitou Rapids Arts Council had ceased to exist, with The Winnipeg River Review taking its place; b) the recreation district was duly formed and a recreation director was hired.

(house manager), Mr. Fern Pitre (2nd vice-president), Abitibi-Price mill manager Bruce Hansen and incoming woods manager David Chown, will serve on the board as trustees.

Mr. Brock Bartlett, retiring woods manager was thanked for his ten years as trustee of the P.F.R.A.

No increase in membership fees

With no great expenditures anticipated in the area of maintenance for the 1986-87 year the proposed budget shows an increase of not quite ten percent over 1985-86, the fee structure for the upcoming year was left the same. Not to the agreement of J.L. Guay, who felt that if the swimming pool was budgeted to take in $5,000.00 in user fees it had to be reflected in the membership dues.

At present the non-P.F.R.A. member pays a half year's membership ($54.00) for the use of the pool, which is only open three months. After some discussion this remained the same.

Canteen

Proceeds from the canteen go

Fenez, suggested that if that was the case, the volunteers should pay rent to the P.F.R.A. for the use of the canteen, a suggestion which did not sit well with Ms. Palanuk.

The canteen volunteers will have to be called to a public meeting to ratify the plans for donations.

Stated Sharon Brown, "But nobody will come."

"But you call a meeting anyway," retorted J.L. Guay, "so nobody can say afterwards they did not know how decisions were made."

And that's how the democratic process can be typified. One has to go through the exercise of public meetings without a real challenge to the management, as this annual meeting proved, but to formalize proceedings and to make it judicially correct.

It would be so much more interesting if real debate, or even if people openly came out and said thank you to the dedicated board, who month after month ensures well functioning recreational facilities the community enjoys for the use of the entire population.

Power then resigned, vacated the chair for incoming president Richard Fenez, who was elected by acclamation together with first vice-president Glenn Pinnell.

in a separate fund, which is managed by the volunteers. The P.F.R.A. received a yearly donation, this year to the amount of $18,000, but the rest of the profit stays in its own bank account. Sharon Brown approached the chair with a request for a donation to the playground committee, thinking this had to be dealt with by the P.F.R.A. Evelyn Palanuk quickly explained that the money raised from the canteen is quite separate from the P.F.R.A. treasury; that the volunteers decide where it should be spent and that the P.F.R.A. had no claim to this.

RECREATION NEWS and VIEWS

by Peggy Boyle
367-2533

Well, it could be summer, it could be winter, one is never really sure what to expect. These rainy days must definitely have something to do with the fact that I washed by truck. I took a picture of it this time, though, so now I will always know what it looked like back in '86 when I bought it.

Applications are still being accepted for the two summer jobs available with the Recreation District. For more information about these positions, please call the Recreation office at 367-2533.

There is a training course for youth being held in Gimli on June 5, 6, 7, and 8. This course is designed for all persons aged 15-30 years who are volunteering or working for organizations to plan, organize or lead workshops, staff training courses, conferences and congresses. The registration deadline is May 30. For more information on this course, organized by Culture, Heritage and Recreation, contact the Recreation office.

Plans are underway for an Eastman Regional Playday, which all summer playground program participants will be invited to attend. This will take place Friday, August 8 in Steinbach. Further information will come to you through this column.

If anyone has any scraps of material, yarn, paper bags, or any other material that could be used in the arts and crafts portion of the summer playground program, please call the Recreation office to arrange for pick-up or drop-off.

For those interested in Summer Theatre School Manitoba, it is being held July 13-19 in Winnipeg at St. John's Ravenscourt. Please contact the Recreation office for a brochure. Summer Theatre School Manitoba is a program designed to help meet the needs of the community theatres through providing actors, directors and stage managers the opportunity to learn more about their craft. This is accomplished through involvement in workshops and structured programs.

Notice: To any or all persons who would like to play softball, but do not have the time on a consistent basis. There will be games held on Sunday afternoons, "pick-up" style, which means those who are able to play run around the field picking up those who thought they were able to play. No, not really. Pick-up, in this instance, means that those who are present split into two teams and play. The games are meant to be fun, recreational, relaxing and enjoyable! I guess it could be called "non-commitment" softball. (Some Sundays you might not be able to make it.)

So, come on out, bring that glove you haven't used in years and have some fun! For the first Sunday, May 25, it will be held at the St. Georges Community Club diamond at 1:30 p.m. If there is a conflict of times with other teams, we will change location, so watch this column for further developments. (FINAL NOTICE: there will be motorized scooters present for those who wish to run the bases but feel kind of out-of-shape)

See you next week!

VICTORIA BEACH NEWS

by Dorothy Gregory and Jocelyn Monsen

The passing of a pioneer

Victoria Beach is in mourning this week for one of our early pioneers who was highly regarded by all who knew him and will be sadly missed by us all. We have received permission from his family to include the following brief history of his life in this week's column.

Joseph William Reginald (Rex) Lester — peacefully, on Saturday, May 10 at the Victoria General, Joseph William Reginald (Rex) Lester, aged 78 years, of Victoria Beach, Manitoba.

Rex was born in Macclesfield, Cheshire, England on October 20, 1907. He was four years old when his family came to Canada. They eventually settled in Belair in 1921 where he lived and worked until his marriage to Lillie Trainor. At that time he took up residence in Victoria Beach where he established one of the first milk ranches in the area. During his 54 years in the milk business, he won many awards at fur shows.

Rex was known for his love of people. This led to his long time support and involvement in curling and other social activities. Rex will be greatly missed as a father and a friend to many in the community. Left to mourn his passing are

Summer students are on the job

by Pyteke Blaauw

Universities have finished another educational year. Many students are back in the area trying to make ends meet and to earn some money over the summer months.

Local businesses are prevailed upon to hire temporary help, and the provincial and federal governments give incentives to both commercial and non-profit establishments to help provide employment.

Challenge '86

The federal government announced that it has approved $331,449 for funding under the Challenge '86, a summer student employment program, for the riding of Provencher. A total of 214 students will be afforded jobs under this program. Said the Honourable Jake Epp, member of parliament for Provencher, "I believe this program provides an ideal way for students to obtain the type of experience that will help them in developing skills for permanent employment."

Careerstart

The Manitoba government offers funding for summer employment under the Careerstart program. Many community projects would not exist if it was not for this type of job creation program.

The Winnipeg River Review will be featuring an article in the near future about the type of projects planned in the Winnipeg River district under both government sponsored programs.

Back by popular demand

Ms. Leah Pitre, fourth year student in Human Ecology at the U of M, has started her third summer with the Manitou Rapids Arts Council, this year with help of the provincially funded Careerstart program. This summer Leah will be assisting the Adult Day Care. In previous years, Leah worked on the Winnipeg River Historical Project, and she will be available to this project on a volunteer basis.

Pine Falls 4-H sewing club achievement day

The Pine Falls 4-H Sewing Club Achievement Day was held on May 6. Mrs. Roberta Winnemuller, the 4-H program assistant for the Winni-Beau District, spent the day carefully inspecting the projects made by the 4-H members during the year. She chose one article from each girl for exhibit at rally which will be held June 14, at Dugald, Manitoba.

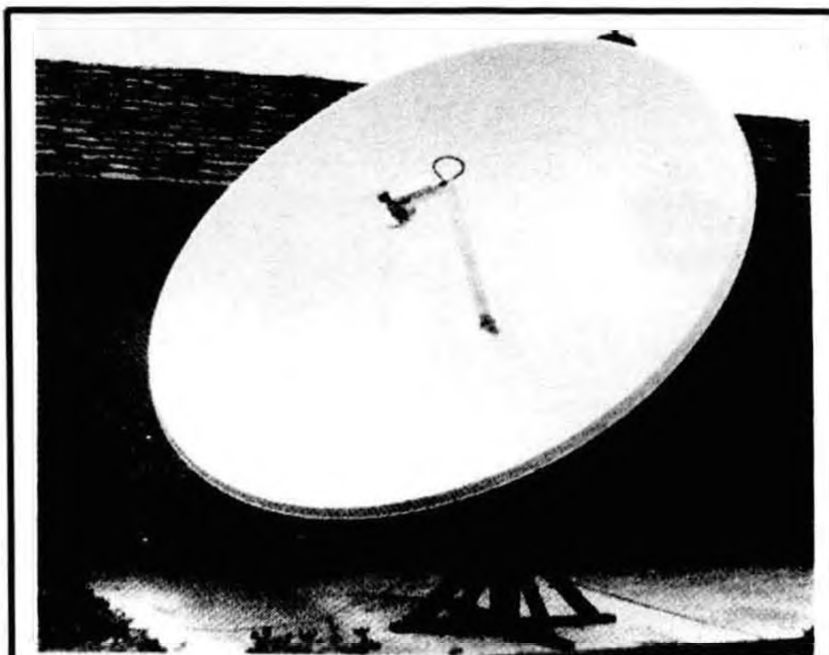

Six girls completed the Clothing 2 project: Roxanna Blaauw, Lana Cyr, Tammy Donnelly, Danielle Fenez, Christine

Power, and Ruby Ann Ouimet. Sheila Hills and Chantal Majeau completed Clothing 5, the final unit of the sewing program.

At the evening fashion show the girls modelled their garments before an appreciative audience of approximately 40 people. Mrs. Winnemuller presented 5 year membership certificates to Chantal and Sheila. Leadership certificates were presented to Marg Pitre, 16 years; Adeline Majeau, 8 years; and Bev Cronshaw, 5 years. The club president, Christine Power, spoke briefly on 4-H activities during the year. Mrs. Judy Fenez was asked to comment on behalf of the mothers.

After the fashion show the members served refreshments to their guests. Our thanks to Dorinda Watson for providing music for the evening and to Helen Hills for convening the Tea.

Manitou Rapids Adult Day Care program evaluated

The Manitou Adult Day Care Program has been running for one month. We would like to evaluate the program and to clarify some points.

Who qualifies?

Anyone who is using the Home Care Services, i.e. meals on wheels, or cleaning services.

Or, any person who would qualify for those services but does not use them at present. Those persons would be assessed by the public health nurse to determine if they qualify.

Where do the fees go?

The $3.50 participant fee goes toward offsetting the cost of: the meal, local transportation costs, salaries, administration and activity supplies.

The $4.50 non-participant fee was the actual cost of the meal to the program.

Present fee

People who come for just the meal will pay $3.50. People who come to participate in the whole program will pay $3.50.

Summer student

This summer we are fortunate to have the presence of Leah Pitre. Leah will be assisting us in various ways: volunteer driver when needed on our program days (Tuesday and Thursday); idea resource person for places to go and things to do. She will be making a list of available points of interest with easy access for us. She will also participate in our activities as much as possible. We share Leah with the Historical Project, so if you wish to talk to her about that, please do.

Transportation

At present we rely on volunteer drivers to transport our participants to the program and home again. The Lions Club is trying to purchase a Handi-Van for the use of the program and also for seniors in the community when not in use by the program. We have not heard if they have been successful in obtaining one.

Future activities planned

May 15 — tree planting with Abitibi-Price.

A day to go to the bank and/or shopping at The Bay twice a month.

Travelling — to Lac du Bonnet, Fort Alexander, Victoria Beach...any other suggestions?

Invited entertainment twice a month. Who would you like to see?

Official opening of the program with visits from the local political dignitaries on June 24, 1986, at 1:30 - 3:30 p.m. in the Pineview Lodge lounge.

New Horizons grant

We would like to apply jointly with the residents of Pineview Lodge for a grant to purchase an electric organ to be available for both groups to use. We need to set up a committee with representatives from both the Pineview Lodge and the Day Care Program. Could we have some volunteers? If we get the application in soon, we could have our grant in three months or so!

Volunteers

The response from our volunteers has been excellent! Thank you all for your participation.
