Developers want to put up mall

by Deas Trudell

Council meeting of the LGID of Alexander had all in attendance with the exception of K. Danwyck.

Peter Raymond reported on his attendance at the day care in Pine Falls where discussion was again about the handivan, also the regional library board meeting which reported a deficit of $1500.00. This is partly due to the withdrawal of support by the Village of Powerview.

The revee attended a regular meeting of the Pine Falls and District Hospital, with news that Ms. J. Josse will be leaving as hospital administrator on July 30.

A delegation of Bert Trainor of Victoria Beach and B. Lesko and B. Brocker of Lac du Bonnet met after lunch break.

Mr. Trainor was requesting permission to locate a general office building along the government road allowance and No. 59 highway. Trainor did not like to set his building back 200' as councillors suggested as he has no intention of subdividing this property in the future. It is commercial and for his own real estate and commercial use, and it was where he felt a commercial strip should be. The councillors of his Ward 1 should be present for any further discussion, so they have tabled any decision for a following meeting.

The delegates from Lac du Bonnet met with council to discuss the proposed shopping mall. Lesko and Brocker are the developers enquiring about the various matters of concern regarding availability of property and utilities. The LGID council had no objections at this time.

A motion of resolution to contribute a donation of $2500.00 towards the purchase of a new ambulance for Pine Falls and district was carried.

Ernest Dupont has resigned as attendant at St. Georges nuisance grounds and the administrator will advertise for someone to fill this position.

Keeping a Sharpe lookout

by Deas Trudell

Bill and Marion Sharpe had arrived in Iroquois Falls on June 5 at 11:00 a.m., right on schedule! They were treated royally with a parade, dinners, and tours of the town, the Abitibi-Price paper mill and by helicopter for a tour of the woodlands. They reported back to their family in Pine Falls that they were in great spirits, good health and enjoying themselves immensely.

The Sharpe's have passed through Kapiskassing and Kirkland Lake, where each town's media has treated them like celebrities, with interviews about the reason for the walk, and tours. This might become second nature for Bill by the time he reaches Newfoundland, but he is constantly making people aware of the great potential of Canada's Forests as an industrial and economical resource. By the time the Sharpe's reach North Bay in two weeks time the long stretches of isolated forests and scarcity of habitation will be long behind them. They had planned to arrive in Ottawa by July 10, and it looks like this is a possibility, as time is passing much faster than they had expected.

They are still right on schedule!

Village of Powerview council meeting

Low rental housing, mall proposal on agenda

by Deas Trudell

The regular meeting of the Powerview council met on June 9, with all in attendance.

The low rental housing and a proposed mall were two of the more pressing matters that council would discuss.

The low rental housing in the new Dean Drive subdivision came up for some discussion as council is questioning whose authority these houses will come under. Those along Art Avenue come under the Powerview Housing Authority, but those on Dean Drive are not. The council wishes to look further into the matter before the next meeting. They will question who will be in charge, the kind of maintenance and eligibility of renters that the Village of Powerview will want to know all details of before council is satisfied. Not all low rentals become a problem but council feels it might be better to be aware of all possibilities before problems arise.

The PAA have asked the Village council to enter a five-member team to represent the Village for the fundraising "Battle of the Stars" type of games. The time and place will be decided on a later date, but the com-

Two passengers in this car were not injured after the car went out of control on Sunday morning in Pine Falls. A lamp standard was knocked over before the vehicle came to a stop in front of the Townsite building. This accident is under investigation and charges are pending.

This car came to rest at the corner of Pine and Oak Street in Pine Falls on Sunday morning. It was one of two cars which had lost control after high rates of speed were attained. A stop sign was knocked down and two passengers were taken to hospital. One has since been taken to Winnipeg Health Sciences Centre. This accident is under investigation and charges are pending.

Teacher upgrading, low-cost divisions and AIDS on agenda

by Noreen Ostash
 Upgrading teacher qualifications, low cost divisions, Workplace, Safety and Health, a mobile resource centre and extra curricular activities were all on the June 2 agenda of the Agassiz School Division board.

Superintendent Mike Czuboka requested that the board match an Agassiz Teachers Association contribution of $3000.00 in the 1988 budget for teacher tuition to the "Effective Instruction" program run in St. Boniface. Teachers who have been involved in the course and those who were introduced to it at a weekend workshop would like to see as many as 40 teachers take the program next summer.

While Trustee Richard Rattai supported and encouraged the willingness of the teachers to attend, he felt that the dollar figure should be a negotiated item.

Trustee Ruth Zink who did not want to see the monies added to the professional development budget.

Trustee Leone Pommer asked about similarities with the Project Teacher program which the board sponsored last year. She was told that that program had concentrated on teacher tutors, while this program deals with the learning environment. This led Rattai to speculate that it would be the same teachers going and the ones who needed the upgrading would not be taking it.

Trustee Barry Bence said that the lifespan of knowledge is about five years and that many teachers are teaching in areas in which they have not studied formally. He sees in-service as a band-aid solution and would like to see more long-term upgrading of skills.

The board agreed to the request.

contact with bodily fluids such as blood and saliva.

The committee also recommended that air exchange units be left on at all times, thermostats set only by the custodian in consultation with the principal, and that lights be left on in the classroom.

Mobile resource centre

Members of the Education and Policy committee will travel into the Interlake to look at their mobile resource centre. The committee has discussed the possibility of acquiring a similar centre over the next two years.

Extra-curricular activities

The board has agreed to spend $1,000.00 to send the Whitemouth boys' softball team to Swan River by bus to play in the provincial championships. A bus will be chartered for the trip.

Superintendent included an article from the Steinbach Carillon on high school hockey for board information. This brought a quick reaction from Trustee Zink who said she remembered the hockey trips and would not want to see the board paying for transportation again.

Lac du Bonnet Senior School got the go ahead on a request for a bus to be used for graduation night to transport students and guests from the hall to a private party.

Powerview students planning an overnight camping trip were given board permission to go. All expenses will be covered by the students.

Youth Job Centre news

Manager Lianne Anderstedt
Phone 345-6342

Each year the provincial government and many smaller community governments set aside one week of the year and proclaim it a Hire-A-Student Week. This past Sunday, Mayor Hirst and Reeve Drabky did just this by proclaiming Hire-A-Student Week in Lac du Bonnet for the week of June 29 to July 4, 1987.

Hire-A-Student Week is designed to promote the youth of our community to employers and to the public in general. At this time of year the students have just finished school and are looking for jobs. Most of the older students between Grades 10 and 12 will be looking for regular positions, but these students and the younger students as well are looking for odd jobs, too. These kids are eager and willing to mow lawns, run errands, babysit, wax windows or cars, or just about anything. An odd job is their chance to prove their abilities to you, the employer, and to gain some experience in the process.

During Hire-A-Student Week the Manitoba Youth Job Centre will have the names of all students and youth who are willing to do odd jobs this summer. They are the odd job Squad! If you need something done around your home or business, remember, Hire-A-Student Week is just around the corner and the Odd Job Squad is ready. Call the Manitoba Youth Job Centre at 345-6342 for more information or for the Odd Job Squad. Hire-A-Student Week is your chance to have a young summer.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

We don't need high school hockey

In an article elsewhere in this issue is a write-up on a recent Agassiz school board meeting. In that write-up is an ever-so-brief mention of high school hockey.

We do not know what the trustees' feelings are on the subject but we do hope that they are wise enough to leave the hockey program out of the schools and into the hands of the volunteers where it is now and where it should remain.

There is no doubt that sports plays a key role in the development of many of our youth but surely the present sports programs in our schools are quite adequate. Let's not forget that no matter how competitive we want our individuals and teams to be, the reason for our youth to be in school in the first place is to prepare them for a vocation or profession so that they can cope with the world once formal education is over, and not be a burden to society.

At present there is a hockey program in some of the schools in Winnipeg and community clubs have suffered at its expense. It seems the players would rather play through the schools with no registration costs than to play through their community clubs and have to pay hefty registration fees.

And why only hockey? Would we stop at fielding just one hockey team or would each town have several?

And why not a program then for ringette and perhaps figure skating?

All we can see flashing before our eyes are more and more dollar signs. Surely with more and more cutbacks in curriculum, we don't need to blow money paying hockey coaches $40,000 per year. Which in itself raises many more questions and problems.

Let's keep hockey and ringette and figure skating programs where they belong — in the hands of volunteers and away from school.

— R.P.

FAMILY VIOLENCE

What is battering?

Submitted by the Committee on Public Awareness of Family Violence

What is battering?

When most of us think about battering, we think of physical abuse. It's when we are kicked, slapped, punched and shoved around. Physical abuse may result in a black eye, or hospitalization from multiple injuries. Teenagers as young as thirteen are in physically abusive relationships.

But, along with physical abuse, there is the abuse that leaves no visible signs. It is psychological battering.

Psychological battering occurs from being isolated — not spending time with your friends or family. It is being called "fat, ugly, stupid", all those things that make us feel worthless and unhappy with ourselves. It is being threatened with physical abuse if you don't want to do what another person wants. Psychological abuse is used to control young women and sometimes young men, but because there is no visible signs, it is often more difficult for both the abused persons and the people around them to recognize that they are being battered. The battering is just as dangerous as physical abuse.

Battering sometimes includes forced sexual contact. Girls often enter into sexual relationships with boyfriends because they are threatened with loss of "love", are called "frigid", or are physically forced. As young women, they have the right to choose how and when they want sexual contact. When boyfriends deny that choice, it amounts to battering and rape.

Battering is a reality in many young people's relationships. It is just as important to acknowledge and end dating violence as it is to stop wife abuse.

Why do young people stay in abusive #### relationships?

For many young people, any relationship is better than no relationship at all. There is a lot of pressure on young people to have a "steady", someone to go to parties with and someone to give them social status. They are taught to believe that if they never have a "date", there is something wrong with them. Low self-esteem is a major obstacle to leaving an abusive relationship.

Initially a young person may feel furious after being abused and plan never to return to see the abuser again. The abuser often runs after the victim apologizing, acting loving and remorseful, and promising it will never happen again. Violence is a learned behaviour, a circle of events that will keep on repeating unless there is a reason to change.

Fear prevents leaving too. Particularly among young women who fear that their boyfriend will come after them and beat them up, or that people will say "told you so". They are afraid of the loneliness and scared they will not get any support from family and friends if they leave. They are also afraid that no one will believe them if they say what has been happening.

What you can do — for yourself

If you are being abused, find someone to talk with. There are problems in every relationship, but violence is one way to deal with them. If you got into an argument with an ordinary friend, who then hit you or was violent towards you, would you still trust them? No one ever deserves to be abused.

Too often young people believe that they are responsible for keeping the relationship. See What Is Battering / page 8

Kicking bad habit should not be at taxpayers' expense

Besides grouching about the possible postal strike, the weather, and the high cost of living — here's a new expense for our hard-earned dollar.

It has been suggested that to ensure smoke-free government offices and workplaces, employees who elect to try and kick the smoking habit may do so at our expense.

Employees who elect to become involved in drug or alcohol abuse rehabilitation, do so at their own expense or through the companies they are employed with, but government services expect the public to pay the expenses of government employees who wish to quit smoking, using the public's tax dollar.

This writer is against this type of reform, cure or incentive. (Call it what you will.) No smoking in government offices and buildings should be adhered to, and the smoker can either quit on their own or wait until he or she gets out of the building (that we the public support), before they light up.

Surely the government uses our tax dollars for a lot of foolish investments already — MTX and roads to nowhere are just two that come to mind — but why should the smokers be subsidized? My rights and yours, for a smoke-free place is just as important as their right to pollute. But only to pollute the air they breathe, not the air I breathe.

There may be two choices left to kick the habit. Whenever the urge comes to light up, one could clean the dirty ashtrays. The other alternative is much more final.

The Arts Council: a large task for a handful of volunteers

by Dess Trudell

This might be a good time to remind ourselves of the Manitoba Rapids Arts Council and assess the needs and activities of the many organizations involved. Our communities are enriched by the Arts Council activities, and with the variety of events the Arts Council sponsors. It is a large task for the handful of volunteers who attempt to cover all sides.

The adult day care program continues to be a special program to which many of the seniors look forward to as it brings in several new, as well as timeless, activities they can participate in. The drama group as well as several arts and crafts programs started, have produced many hours of entertainment for all ages in the communities.

One of the art groups comes to mind, as volunteer Nancy-Lou Ateah, who has just completed the eight week children's art workshop, sends word of the progress of the thirteen children whom she taught. In their classes they had created many lovely paintings and drawings, which Nancy hopes to be able to exhibit for them in a special children's portion at the arts and crafts exhibit in Victoria Beach at the Sports Centre on July 5.

There are plans for a series of lessons for this fall to begin about September 20 until Christmas for the adult beginners painting classes. Once the dates are definite, we will pass along this information along with details of times and places.

Sports seems to overwhelm the community at times, but arts and cultural groups are involved with the sporting side of life as well, in a lesser degree, perhaps. But cultural activities involve the active young people who manage to do both, as is evident in school programs.

Long-term lasting results are noticed when reality, instead of "pie in the sky" vocalizing, is put to the test. With new ideas constantly coming up for discussion, the need is recognized to put ideas into action. The dedicated volunteers who get involved as committee members, planners, and doers, are already preparing for the summer programs and workshops, to enrich our lives and the lives of our children. Our local MRAC has also donated towards other arts councils in Manitoba for projects that we may also enjoy, should we choose.

An example is the project of some magnitude in Neepawa. The stately old house on 312 First Avenue was the home of Margaret Lawrence, famous author of so many wonderful stories that depicted Manitobans, in particular, and it has been restored to its former quaintness. It will be officially opened to the public on June 24 at 8:00 p.m.

The week of June 21 to the 27 has been declared Margaret Lawrence Week in Neepawa.

The many businesses, organizations and individuals have been very generous. The kitchen has been enlarged and painted and now accommodate the office of the Viscount Cultural Council and Manitoba Holiday Festival of the Arts. Five artists now share the two studios on the second floor. In the Manawaka Gallery and the Margaret Lawrence Room, the walls and ceilings have been restored as have the trellises and woodwork, all creating their original use and beauty. It is more than an attractive space — it now contains a resource centre on the author, copies of her books and manuscripts, including articles written about her, photos from her childhood to her death, as well.

The entrance hall and stairway and the upstairs hall has been carpeted and painted. The gardens and yard have been prepared to take on its former beauty too. Donations have been received from Canada, the USA and Japan. The ML home has been open for public viewing since January 1987 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. When you are in Neepawa you are invited to take in the displays and wander about the gardens.

This project will become a tourist attraction and an asset to the town of Neepawa as well as being a real tribute to the famous author. What better way to combine the talents of the Arts Council Committee with the help and contributions from Culture and Heritage and Recreation.

If it can be done in Neepawa — look around — it might be accomplished here.

The MRAC will contribute timely information in this paper from time to time under their title to keep the public informed of their workshops and we will look forward to their regular contributions, like the following from Youth in the Arts program.

Youth in the Arts

by Leah Pitre

Summer is almost upon us, and the Youth in the Arts program is well underway. We are planning a wide variety of workshops this year. The July program includes a three-day sketching workshop for children ages nine and up. This will take place on July 7, 8 and 9 in the Library Allard reading room, and will be instructed by Nancy Ateah of Victoria Beach. On July 21, 22 and 23, Dwayne Dueck of Pine Falls will hold a three-day drama workshop in the Pine Falls Collegiate gymnasium for children ages ten and up. McPhee Workshops' Kathy Mills of Winnipeg will instruct a one-day workshop on leather working for children ages seven and up, on July 29. The location will be announced later.

In August, we hope to hold a puppetry workshop for children ages nine and up, run by Pat Borecky of the Winnipeg Children's Festival, and bring in Brian Ramsey, with his delightful concert "Jug Band Stuff". Also, we would like to invite back Lois Loewen and her very popular stained glass workshop, geared for children ages ten and up.

Information about fees and preregistration for the workshops is available at the Arts Council office. Drop by or give us a call at 8785. Class sizes are limited so register early to avoid disappointment. Come on out and have some fun this summer!

THE BEACHES CONNECTION

by Jocelyn Stewart
Like many people who have homes along the east shore of Lake Winnipeg, we spend a fair amount of time commuting to and from the city, up and down Highway 59. These past few weeks we've made daily trips and never once found the drive boring. Here's a few of the highlights:

First off, on a Monday morning, we were surprised at the number of skunks dead by the roadside. One was enough, but five or six passes later and we were convinced that if the poor creature doesn't have any other natural enemy, he does have the automobile to do him in. Sad as it is to see so many destroyed animals, the fact indicates the skunk population is on the rise again after two or three years recovering from a recent outbreak of rabies.

We've been amused almost every trip by the antics of killdeer along the roadway. These silly birds insist on laying their eggs in gravel, probably because they can hardly be seen. True, the killdeer is a sociable type of bird, not given to lonely nesting sites, but to choose the gravelled shoulder of a busy highway seems foolhardy. And the birds seem to spend an inordinate amount of time scuttling off the pavement just ahead of speeding cars, letting everyone know there's a nest nearby. Once we stopped and walked along the shoulder a ways. A male bird stayed very near us, crying plaintively, dropping one wing, outstretched in the sand, moving slowly away from us, as if tempting us to pick him up. We hadn't taken more than a few steps before we spotted three brown and white speckled, agate sized eggs lying in a saucer sized dent in the gravel, no more than three feet off the tarmac. Both parents swooped around us screaming till we got back in the car. With all the road construction this year it's a wonder any birds survive. But if they are unlucky along the highway, we're happy to report there are several nests along Hillside's shoreline where adult and baby killdeers are doing very well.

We had to do our commuting during the week they chose to resurface a twelve mile stretch of 59 just north of the divided four lanes. It was very interesting, and accomplished in less than a week, with very little disruption of traffic and hardly any inconvenience to the weekend travellers, with the large number of passing cars providing the final finishing work on the surface. During the last day or so of actual construction, two pilot vehicles worked the section, leading trains of cars and trucks in each direction, back and forth, whenever necessary. They kept everyone moving at quite a good speed too. Off the road here, on the shoulder there, across the centre line, around workers and machines, all with nary a mishap. Every time we had to stop, the flagmen (no girls this year, sorry to say) came along and chatted, keeping us abreast of procedures and progress. We learned quite a lot about road building — and human nature!

We were quite excited early one morning during the first week of June to see a large cinnamon-brown animal in a field just north of Dubas Creek, and west of the highway a few hundred feet. He looked a lot like a buffalo, but not quite. He was very broad of head and shoulder, seemed quite hairy, and had no horns we could see. He had a long body, and was quite tall, but not as tall as a moose. He stood aloof and quiet in a fenced corner of his field, and once there were several cows standing at a discreet distance. That's when we decided we could be looking at a beafalo, and possibly a local farmer might be starting up a new enterprise. We saw the animal three different days, and finally one evening I called Anton Chorney of East Selkirk, whose farm is nearby.

Mr. Chorney is Manitoba's champion grower of potatoes, and his wife Adele, sells Canada's best vegetables to lakeside dwellers all summer long. He told me he had recently seen some large animal tracks near Dubas Creek which runs through his farmland, but he hadn't taken time to check them out, though he said they might be moose prints. He also told me he doubted anyone had a beafalo raising project beginning in his neighborhood, and suggested I call John Neskar, a neighbor, who might have a large bull in the field. Mr. Neskar was ill, but I spoke to his wife, and was informed there was a bull on their property — a very large one, 1200 pounds maybe. The bull, she said, was white in color and a Charolais, which is a big shouldered bull indeed, I think he even has a hump. Still there's a bit of mystery, for the animal we saw was reddish in color. We'll do some checking another trip, see if we can discover more.

Back at home, we're still trying to assess the damage caused by a vicious hail storm Hillside's suffered at four in the morning on June 6th. Our vegetable garden was flattened, the tomato plants reduced to single stalks, and we couldn't even find the annual impatiens plants we'd put in the rock gardens. Some roofs were damaged in the neighbourhood, and we have a few pock marks in the cedar boards on the front of our house, but no other destruction has been reported. The hail fell during high winds with lightning and thunder, and was probably a very local phenomenon. A mile north, Victoria Beach had no hail, and friends at Lakeshore Heights, 20 miles south reported lightning and thunder but little else.

We had some problems with gear boxes and loose bolts before we could launch our boat this year, but the O.J. is now safely in her berth at the Hillside Marina. She had her first run of the season June 7th, after the storm had shoved the channel bouys around a little, and sorry to report she spent some time sitting on a sandbar. Not really an auspicious start, but along with hundreds of other boating enthusiasts, we hope for a fine season, with light winds.

There were eight schools represented in the school golf tournament held in Steinbach last week. Teams from Powerview and Pine Falls participated with Lynn Lazaruk, Jason Garand, Cameron Boulet, Greg and Rob Hollins, and Justin Borody representing Powerview; and Christy Power, Rob McMullin, Alan Anderson, Jason Sipolla, and Craig Webb for Pine Falls.

The Steinbach School won the tourney. They played 18 holes — in the rain! But they had a great time, especially as Powerview came third and Pine Falls coming in fourth. Selkirk came in second.

Todd Kembal of Powerview but attending school in Steinbach, as well as playing for that school team, had lowest overall score. Todd was also the winner of the day-long tournament.

Winnipeg River Historical Project will hold a special meeting in the Library Allard in St. Georges on June 25 at 7:00 p.m. The group is trying to get all the family histories prepared in time for the month end. They will have them sent for the first set of galleys ready for editing and hopefully, the book will then be completed in the next few months.

Father's Day is Sunday, June 21. I'm sure there will be a lot of smiling dads slaving over their new (?) barbecues dressed up in those fabulous "in styles", especially chosen by their darling offspring! Don't think it isn't all appreciated. They enjoy every minute. And later they get to show off on the links — just like the moms did in May.

Have you noticed the fire hazard sign in front of the Department of Natural Resources office? We are back to the extreme situation once more with all this heat. Be careful when you are out camping or driving. We are reminded to help prevent forest fires.

TAD is hard to beat

I have a new friend in my life. The manufacturer calls it TAD, that's an acronym for Telephone Answering Device. At the end of three months of experience I just have to be impressed with its performance.

If you haven't seen one of these gadgets, here's a quickie description: it's about the size of a large book; it requires a source of power; it has a socket into which you plug your telephone.

It is easy to operate. Turn the dial to 'ANSWER CALLS', and that is exactly what it does. It begins the process by repeating a message you have recorded on one of its two tapes. On the second, it records any messages your caller cares to leave. The price? They range from $60 to $300. On the more fancy ones you can call in from any other telephone and the machine will give you your messages. If you want to keep in touch with the world, TAD is hard to beat. This little slave will work on your behalf 24 hours a day without a single coffee break.

TAD is a great time-saver. My casual analysis shows me that at least half the incoming calls are of a type which can be concluded successfully without having you lift the receiver. These are calls in which the purpose is a simple transfer of information.

Yesterday after I shut down the tractor, and while Chris was in the garden, I entered the house and noticed that TAD's red light was shining. I flicked the control to "PLAYBACK".

"There's an envelope for you at Greyhound. It's collect $4."

"This is the bookshop; that book you ordered has just arrived."

"Your generator's ready at the repair shop. We're closing today at six."

There is one other series of calls for which I bless TAD's inventor, whoever he or she might be. These are the wrong numbers and other nuisance calls. Our number bears a resemblance to another on our exchange, in the household of which there's a lad named Colin. We're getting to hate a kid we've never met. Before TAD was plugged in, we occasionally got three wrong numbers per evening for this young fellow.

Good news!! Sales-solicitation calls are stopped dead in their tracks. Those pests who sell via Mr. Bell's invention ordinarily won't leave their numbers.

TADs are rising in popularity. If communications are important to you, it's hard to beat this simple means of receiving messages. Oh, some of your friends will chide you for going electronic, but that's a small price. I just say that it's better to have a 15-second message than none at all.

STOP THE PRESSES: Perhaps I should read the instruction book more closely. TAD has one more feature of which I was not aware. If you want some privacy in your life, you can unplug your telephone, and TAD will work in total silence. This could be a real help in some farm households when Dad's trying to get some shut-eye after an all-night shift on the seeder.

And then there's the case of a friend of mine who regularly uses her TAD for her own messages. When she gets home from the office she hears her

FOCUS ON: Decorating your floor

by Marilyn Zarecki

Decorating effects is a fun part of choosing home furnishings, but don't put the cart before the horse. Whether you are choosing flooring, draperies or a new table, decide first what you and your family really need and can afford. Narrow your choices down to those that fit your needs and budget and make your decorating decisions from these.

When you're choosing flooring, color will be one of your topmost concerns. Because floors "flow" from one area of the home to the next, they are a logical choice to provide continuity throughout the home. Choosing floor coverings whose colours blend nicely is one way to accomplish this. For example, imagine a home where most of the floors are covered with carpeting in a blue and grey mix. The kitchen could then be off-white with a blue pattern, the bathroom floor blue with white, and bedrooms could have either grey or blue carpets with "new" colors introduced in the other furnishings.

Keep in mind when choosing flooring that medium or light colors which blend with the wall color will make a room seem larger. Dark or contrasting colors add interest. A distinctly patterned floor can be very effective but may limit the choice of other colors and patterns in a room. A plain or subtle design may be less exciting but may make a room seem larger and be easier to work with.

If your number one priority is a floor that hides the dirt, choose one with an all-over pattern, in a medium shade, with a slightly textured surface!

Before making a final decision on flooring, take samples home and look at them in the areas where they would be installed. Put samples together that would be close together when installed. Judge the samples in daylight and under home artificial lighting (colors will look different in the store).

Flooring is a big investment. Don't rush or be rushed. Look at what is available, ask questions, weigh the answers, and decide what is best for your own situation.

own voice giving such reminders as "Put out the garbage," and "Remember that dental appointment tomorrow morning."

What is battering?

together and that they must help the abuser with their problem. But as long as they stay, the abuser has no reason to change. There are people who you can turn to for help.

What you can do — for a friend

If you know someone who is being abused, offer your support. Do not judge them and don't tell them they have to leave to keep your friendship. A battered person of any age needs to know that someone is there for them. Breaking the silence is the biggest step in getting out of an abusive relationship.

What you can do — if you are the violent party

Go for help as soon as you realize that you may have a problem with your anger. Contact your school counsellor or another professional who can help you build your self-esteem and channel your emotions without having to use violence.

On May 28 a public meeting on family violence was held at the Manitou Lodge. Eighteen concerned citizens attended and heard Verna Perry from the Manitoba Committee of Wife Abuse. She gave some startling information about the family violence which affects one in six Canadian women, and of the children who are living in these situations: one in four girls will be sexually abused by the time she is eighteen; one in five boys will be sexually abused by the time he is eighteen.

A woman will be abused thirty-five times before she will seek help. Why do women stay? There is a cycle in which violence follows: first there is the tension building, then the explosion, and then the "honeymoon" stage where the male is all forgiving. This is why women stay; hoping he means it this time. But, unless the woman takes action to change her situation, it won't change. The longer she remains, the shorter the "honeymoon" stage gets and the more violent the explosions.

What can we do as a community? First, we must be aware that this situation exists in our community — that it could be our neighbour, best friend, or even a family member. We must be understanding and not pass judgement. We must let her know that she is not alone and that she is not to blame. Show her respect and give her the Crisis phone number: 1-800-362-3344. This number will not appear on her phone bill.

We also need our school system to help educate the children who have had abnormal rearing, that violence is not an accepted behaviour in homes, so that the cycle of violence will stop.

Family violence will only stop when we all become concerned about this serious social disorder.

RECREATION NEWS and VIEWS

by Peggy Boyle

367-2533

Have you ever considered just how much times have changed since our parents' youth? It used to be that one looked forward to going home from the workplace and eating a large meal and then reclining for the evening.

Now-a-days, when one leaves the workplace it could be to hit the golf course, go for a jog, or to a gym to work out and then home to a salad. A restful or sedentary lifestyle is becoming less and less vogue.

Considering the types of occupations done back in those days were much more physically taxing than jobs done these days, a rest after work would seem much needed and appreciated. Present day occupations appear to be filled with more mental stress than physical stress, so the activity done post-work is one way that this mental stress is rested or relaxed.

Sometimes, I wonder if my mental abilities are too relaxed (you know, like jello?). Maybe I should arrange a program for mental aerobics — low impact, of course!

A meeting of the minds

Recently, the recreation director, the coordinator for the Youth in the Arts Program and the librarian from Library Allard met to discuss what each was offering for summer programs for the children of the area. We as a group tried to ensure that the summer would be filled with interesting, entertaining educational and fun activities for children from pre-school to the age of 12.

There will be arts activities, story-time and crafts at the library, playground activities in and around the local area from July 6 until August 21.

Publicity regarding each of these programs will be forthcoming, so watch the newspaper, look for posters, and visit the library to find out more, or call the Arts Council office, Library Allard, or the Recreation Office.

More summer activities

In order to complete the summer, several workshops or clinics from some different sports will be offered. Some of those being planned presently included weightlifting, board sailing and water skiing. These clinics would be approximately half-day in duration and could be geared for people 12 to 16 years of age. If you have some ideas of what you would like to participate in during the summer, let me know!

June calendar

If you noticed last week's paper, below the Recreation column was a June Calendar. This calendar will appear usually once per month in order that it can be used as a reminder of what is upcoming or planned a-month-at-a-glance.

If you have any special upcoming events you would like put on the July Calendar, call the Recreation office with the day and time and location if necessary. Deadline for submissions will be Friday's at 3:30 p.m.

Farm shelterbelts

Now is the time to order trees from the PFRA Tree Nursery, Indian Head, for planting in spring, 1988. Ordering any later can result in a limited selection of tree species. Trees are available free of charge for bonafide farmers, rural small holdings (one to 39 acres), municipal governments, school boards, etc.

Shelterbelts for farmstead or field must be planned well in advance of planting. The site chosen for trees to be planted in 1988 must be cultivated all this season to ensure a clean, sod-free seedbed for the trees. The site should have a permeable soil surface, free of straw and/or sod. The use of Round-up may be of value to provide better control of quackgrass and/or Canada thistle.

We have a listing of trees available, application forms and information about trees and tree planting. They are available at this office.

The trees are available free of charge, but the recipient is responsible for the freight charges from Indian Head.

Preplanting Planning Assistance (PPA)

A preplanting planning assistance service is being offered by PFRA to give farmers and other qualifying tree planters technical assistance in the design of field, roadside and farmstead shelterbelts. This free service includes a visit by Indian Head nursery staff who will provide information on shelterbelt design, species selection, and weed control. The service is particularly oriented to new farmstead plantings and field plantings. However, recommendations on major renovations and extensions to existing shelterbelts can also be given.

Each visit is followed up by a summary of site preparation and planting recommendations. For major plantings a scale drawing is also provided detailing the planting plan.

Any landowners with 40 acres or more may request this service. Please note that advice on landscaping and ornamental plantings is not part of this service. The PPA program is available on a first come first serve basis. Visits are normally carried out from May to October of each year, with the plans being drawn up in the winter. For efficiency of scheduling and to avoid disappointment requests should be made by July 1 of the year in which the visit is required.

Applications for this service can be made direct to Indian Head or funnelled through this office.

The GARDEN PLOT

by Cathleen Thurston

Here is some more about some of the more common annuals available for use in flowerbeds, borders, etc.

Celosia cristata — cockscomb or plume celosia — both forms of celosia are grown in borders, beds or as edging and can be used as cut or dried flowers. They both come in yellow, orange, red, apricot, pink and purple, and bloom from June to October. The plume variety has vertical, feathery flowers while the crested variety has tight convoluted flowers resembling cockscombs. These natives of tropical Asia grow six to thirty-six inches in height. Plant them in rich, well-drained soil high in organic matter; they will tolerate poor, dry soil. Space them six to twelve apart in full sun and water moderately. They both make long-lasting cut flowers and retain their color well when dried.

Bachelor's button — or cornflower (centaurea cyanus), an old-fashioned favorite with early summer blooms of blue, violet, red, pink and white, often used in beds and borders and for cut flowers. A native of southeastern Europe, the cornflower reaches twelve to thirty-six inches in height. Plant in rich, moist soil, in full sun, spaced six to twelve inches apart. Water moderately; they will tolerate drought and poor soil.

Coleus — a plant grown for its beautiful foliage which can be solid pink, red, bronze, yellow, maroon and green or variegated in combinations of the above.

The foliage also comes in a variety of shapes, sizes and textures. This easily grown plant can grow from six inches to thirty-six inches tall. Plant in moist, well-drained, rich loam, with six to eighteen inches between them. They will thrive in almost any light conditions from full sun to full shade. Keep them well-watered, watch carefully for aphids and pinch flowers as they form and prune stems to keep the plant compact dense. Can be brought inside in the fall.

Cosmos — (cosmos bipinnatus or cosmos sulphureus), these natives of Mexico are used for beds, backgrounds and cut flowers and grow eight to forty-eight inches tall. C. bipinnatus comes with magenta, white, pink, and lavender flowers and is an open, lacy, sprawling plant usually seen in cutting gardens or at the rear of a border. C.

sulphureus is somewhat sturdier with gold, yellow or orange flowers. Both types require staking. Plant in dry, infertile soil with sharp drainage, in full sun avoiding exposure to wind. Do not overwater and do not fertilize or the number of blooms will decrease.

Mr. John Ross and Mr. Tom Musty, of the Winnipeg Gladiolus Society spoke on the growing, care and exhibiting of gladioli at the last monthly meeting of the Pine Falls Horticultural Society. It was a very interesting and informative evening with the gentlemen showing slides of some very beautiful gladioli.

Please remember that memberships for the PHS are still available. Judging of the home grounds competition of the garden show will be early in July. See The Garden Plot / page 11

Now you can get help with one of your major farm expenses

In response to requests from farmers and farm organizations, the Manitoba government has developed the Special Farm School Tax Assistance Program. If you're a farm owner-operator, a farm lessee, or a shareholder in a family farm corporation, you could benefit from this program. In fact, you could receive up to $500 in school tax assistance.

The Special Farm School Tax Assistance Program will provide $12 million worth of assistance to Manitoba farmers. It will directly reduce school taxes on farm land—a major farm expense. And it will work hand in hand with other provincial school tax benefits available to farmers.

Manitoba has a commitment to supporting the family farm. And the Special Farm School Tax Assistance Program is one of the ways of doing it.

How to Apply

If you're an owner-operator living in the rural municipality or local government district where your farm land is located, you'll be able to apply for assistance through your local government office. All other farmers will have to apply to the Manitoba Tax Assistance Office, 309 Norquay Building, Winnipeg.

Application forms will be available at your local ag rep office, your local Crown land representative office, your rural municipality office, your local government district office, or the Manitoba Tax Assistance Office.

MLA Report from the Legislature

Clarence Baker, MLA, Lac du Bonnet

June 12, 1987

On June 9, Premier Pawley announced the new Manitoba natural gas initiative. This policy will lower natural gas prices to Manitoba consumers by $50 million per year and ensure long-term security of natural gas supply.

Through Bill 68, the Manitoba Consumers Gas Corporation will be set up to purchase and operate natural gas distribution within Manitoba. Long-term contracts with natural gas producers to supply natural gas to Manitoba consumers at prices below $2.00 per thousand cubic feet have already been signed. Currently Manitoba consumers are paying $3.00 per thousand cubic feet.

These actions will save Manitobans more than $50 million annually. For households using natural gas the savings will average about $150 per year, while small businesses will save on average $1,600 per year. More than 200,000 Manitoba households and small businesses currently use natural gas. The new corporation will be conducting feasibility studies on where natural gas service could be extended in the province. I will be working with my colleagues to see when this region can be considered for a feasibility study.

The purchase of the Inter-City Gas distribution system will be financed out of natural gas revenues. Manitobans will be gaining an asset which will be used to provide us with long-term fair prices and security of supply.

ly, so get your entries in now. There will be no regular meetings of the PFHS until September, but watch this column for news on upcoming events.

Happy gardening!

Last year as you may recall the Manitoba Society of Seniors, the Consumers Association of Manitoba, and other groups along with the Manitoba government all told the Public Utilities Board that Manitoba consumers were paying unjust prices for natural gas from Alberta coming into Manitoba. The PUB agreed but was powerless. The same Canadian natural gas was being sold to Americans and big businesses for a third less than what Manitoba consumers were paying.

Our actions in creating the Manitoba Consumers Gas Corporation are bold and likely controversial. To simply stand still and watch Manitoba consumers pay unfair prices would have been foolish. I am confident that Manitobans will agree a monopoly utility such as natural gas distribution can best serve the public interest when it is in the public sector. This venture will protect Manitoba consumers, create jobs and save consumers some $50 million per year.

THE BOOK NOOK

by Mona Bossi

A delectable, delightful, giant ice cream cone is this year's poster and bookmark design for the fourth province-wide summer reading programme. Appropriately named, "Summer Delights", this theme was chosen for its broad appeal, its potential for a variety of programme applications and its flexibility. Here at Library Allard from the 29th of June through to the first week of August we will be featuring weekly storytime and craft programmes for children of all ages. Co-operation and fine-tuned coordination with the Youth in the Arts programme and the recreation district activities will ensure no overlapping of sessions as far as it is humanly possible. Public Library Services have provided us with reading folders and every child who participates in the programme receives one in which to rate his/her book. There is no limit on the number of books read and rated. Children who are read to can also participate and take part in the special wind-up party at the end of the six weeks. So drop by the library and start reading!

Our display this week features books by Bethany House publishers with authors such as Jeanette Oke, June Maniers Bacher, George Macdonald and Lois Gladys Leppard for the junior readers. These are novels of a different genre with tales of pioneer days, romance, intrigue and an underlying thread of a spiritual nature woven through the fabric of these sagas. The Canadian West series are now complete as are the Love Comes Softly series and the Mandie Adventure series and the U section.

See you at the library.

Phase 1 of Abitibi-Price warehouse construction complete

by Desa Trudell

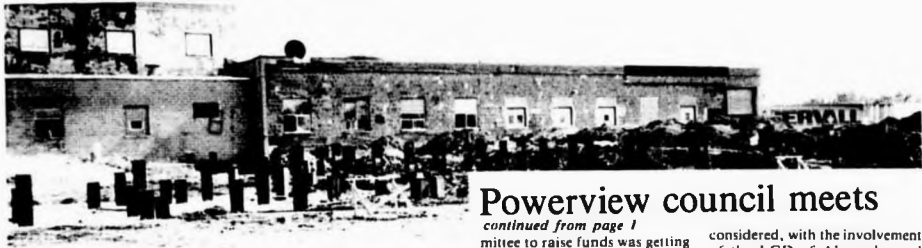

The first phase of the Abitibi-Price warehouse construction has been completed, with 192 steel piles in place. The piles are 12" by 12" square and were driven into the bedrock in preparation for the 25 poured in place concrete piles which are 30" in diameter. The warehouse is being built onto the back of the mill and its dimensions are 225 feet by 133 feet, with a capacity of 4,000 tons.

The construction work was started this year on May 6, when the first pile was driven in place, and the estimated time of completion is the end of September, 1987.

When the warehouse is completed there will be offices on the main floor where the control department and paper machine personnel will be located. The mezzanine floor will house a conference room and the engineering department.

The warehouse was built especially as a paper storage area, but the east end will have the offices, and the northeast end will be the crane area where spare paper machine rolls will be stored. They are scattered about the mill at present.

The construction is under a general contractor, Pre-Con Builders of Winnipeg. The building itself will be of steel, by Butler Steel Buildings. Once this phase starts, it will take approximately two weeks to erect the steel building. It will then require finishing, and the interior completion should be by September. At that time, the personnel from control, paper and engineering will move right in.

Construction of a warehouse behind the Abitibi-Price paper mill has been underway since May and expected completion date is late September. These steel piles will have backfill before an on grade concrete slab is poured. The steel warehouse will have a capacity of 4000 tons and will house offices for paper machine personnel, engineering and control as well as storage for paper.

PAA fundraising underway

by Desa Trudell

The Powerview Athletic Association has begun canvassing employees of Abitibi-Price for payroll deductions and so far it is going quite well. Canvassers are going door to door, and although response is good, if anyone has not been approached as yet, and wishes to donate, you may call Bev Dube at 367-8064, and someone will go to your home.

On June 25, from 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. the fundraising committee will hold a dance-a-thon in the Powerview Arena. Pledge sheets have been distributed to all students of Powerview School from K-Grade 9. Anyone may participate by contacting the above mentioned number for pledge sheets.

There will be three cash prizes for top pledge getter, and several door prizes. Receipts will be issued for donations of $5.00 and over, on request. In order to get the $60,000.00 grant from the Community Places Program, the PAA has until October 31 to raise their share of the necessary funds.

The possibility of having artificial ice for the coming season looks good, and with community involvement this summer and fall, we can make it a reality.

Powerview council meets

mittee to raise funds was getting things organized ahead of time to speed things up, so to speak, by finding out how many teams to anticipate. There are to be two women per team. Council appears to be game.

Council had been approached to consider a proposal for a strip mall to be located on crown land, formerly the Pine Falls Townsite. Mayor Trudell and Secretary-Treasurer Georges Harbottle will represent the Village of Powerview council at the Summit Planning Meeting which was held on June 16 at the LGD of Alexander council office in St. Georges. The idea of a plaza has been kicked around for some time but there have always been some drawback regarding the availability of sewer and water utilities. The meeting to discuss the possibilities, concerns, hear objections, proposals, and air concerns regarding any of this, will have representatives from the LGD, Village of Powerview, Crown Lands, Parks Branch, Manitoba Hydro, Planning Branch, Department of Highways, and any other government branch interested in the development of this property.

This will be of prime concern to those directly or indirectly involved, with the land in question in the LGD and bordering on the Village of Powerview and the Winnipeg River.

Water, sewer, environmental and traffic concerns require some long range foresight and planning with regard to the impact such a project would have on the economy, society, population growth, and the existing businesses already operating here. This will require much deliberation, with that decision resting squarely on the shoulders of the elected officials.

The MLA, Clarence Baker of the Lac du Bonnet constituency, will be contacted by the Village clerk for a meeting to discuss Powerview's lagoon. The meeting will be held in the council office in Powerview, or failing that in Mr. Baker's office. The lagoon must be attended to, as more subscribers are expected to be hooked up to the already overloaded system.

In their general business, the council has noted that the new cross walk signs are also larger, and have been placed at both Ari Avenue and Vincent Avenue at the number 11 highway and if this doesn't do the trick, painting in the crosswalk area will be next. So far, it seems to be working.

The Pinewood Hotel is now up for auction. This building has been around before the Village was incorporated.

A grant from the Village of $2500.00 towards the purchase of a new ambulance was to be considered, with the involvement of the LGD of Alexander and Pine Falls both matching this amount. The old ambulance would be used as a spare and in the summer would be used mainly in the Victoria Beach area as their population swells to a few thousand each summer, requiring the use of the Pine Falls ambulance. Pine Falls cannot be left without the use of the ambulance and personnel in case of an industrial accident. The council is in favour of the grant.

The RCMP Police have begun patrols at noon hour and at 3:30 at the Powerview School after some speedier types brought this to the attention of the Village council. The safety of youngsters and other vehicle riders have been at some risk, and the visible patrols have been a deterrent.

ATC and other off-road vehicles are again in the spotlight. With the new off-road Vehicle Act soon to be in effect, the Village has discussed some form of public notice, recommending a 5 MPH speed limit within the Village of Powerview limits. Since most riders are children, this could be a speed at which they might survive an accident should they ever become involved in one. When the act goes into effect, this speed limit may not be necessary, as the vehicles could very well be banned in most cases.

There is always those few who make such limits and laws necessary for the majority, and it was felt making the public aware can't hurt.
