Jake Epp's large margin not gained from this area

by Noreen Ostash
Jake Epp, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Provencher since 1972, was returned to the House of Commons with a clear majority in the November 21 election, but his majority was not earned in the northern portion of the riding. Overall totals show Epp with 19,000 votes, Liberal Wes Penner with 11,121, NDP Mary Sabovitch with 2490, COR John Weibe with 357, and Reform Party Lawrence Feilberg with 1246. Local poll counts show:

	Epp	Penner	Sabovitch	Weibe	Feilberg
Lac du Bonnet	637	571	271	15	67
Pine Falls
Powerview	320	363	88	5	36
St. Georges	177	259	50	1	4
Great Falls	83	99	44	2	6
Pinawa	465	395	85	4	29
Seven Sisters	82	45	33	3	11

Judy Dreider, returning officer for Provencher, reported that 71 percent of the 48,286 eligible voters cast their ballots. She said that an area in Brookfield was inadvertently missed in the enumeration. At each election, enumerators are given a map and description of their area. They are not provided with an old voters' list, so each election enumeration starts from nothing. In the process, mistakes are made and people missed. The misses occur for two reasons. The enumerator does not make the call or the people do not call in when a message has been left for them to do so. Areas designated rural have open voters' lists and missed voters can be added if someone already on the list vouches for them. It is in the urban areas that voters who have not checked the voters' lists before the revisions are made cannot be added later.

"I applied for the position in Pine Falls because I wanted to be somewhere where I could do some anaesthesia," he said. Goodwill trained at the University of Manitoba as a general practitioner which included a six month residency in anaesthesia.

After finishing university, Dr. Goodwill practiced medicine in Deloraine where he worked alongside one other doctor for three years before coming to Pine Falls.

Goodwill compared the two communities as fairly similar, stating the Deloraine hospital was smaller and the patient numbers were lower, but the doctor-patient ratio was the same because of the number of doctors, four in Pine Falls compared to two in Deloraine.

Goodwill also noted that he much preferred the non-appointment system in Pine Falls over the appointment system in Deloraine.

"The appointment system gives the patient unrealistic expectations," said Goodwill who feels a doctor's schedule is many times delayed because of

Ontario government opposes Red Lake road link

by Marlene Watson
At a meeting held in Kenora between Manitoba and Ontario government officials, municipal leaders, and association representatives, to discuss the possibility of developing a road link between the two provinces from Red Lake, it was made known that the government of Ontario was not interested in building the road.

Steve Courtney of the Ontario Department of Tourism and Recreation stated that a study was done out of Thunder Bay by Northern Development in 1986 and the cost for a secondary unpaved road was estimated at $60 million, whereas the study revealed annual benefits of only $6 million. "The ministry's position based on cost benefits was that they were just not interested in the road," said Courtney.

The study was done when the government was pressured from residents of Golden and Red Lake, who had no alternate escape route during the massive forest fire which erupted in 1980. "There was pressure from Golden and Red Lake to do the new road and both towns kicked in money for the study which cost upwards of $40-60,000," said Dick Hanlon of Natural Resources.

Initial meetings about road link

Town leaders of Lac du Bonnet and Red Lake held an initial meeting in 1983 to discuss the road link, said Leo Drabky, Reeve for the RM of Lac du Bonnet, but nothing more was done to lobby for the link until the recent meeting in Kenora.

M.A. Darren Praznik stated he had been approached by various people in his constituency about the road link and after talking with Kenora MPP, Frank Michlash at a conference in Toronto, Michlash agreed to See ONTARIO / page 2

Community funds to provide personal care home extras

by Marlene Watson
The community fund for the personal care home, which sits at $205,587 as of the end of October, will provide certain proposed extras for the care home which is expected to be constructed in 1989, said hospital administrator Val MacKay. A solarium as well as additional space in the activity room and dining room of the downtown area of the care home will be some of the extras covered by the community fund, said MacKay, who also added that an additional bathing room is also proposed.

"We propose to build the downtown areas large enough to start with so we will never encounter space problems in the future," said MacKay, who says government allowances of square footage do not always necessarily meet the needs of patients, especially for wheel chair patients.

MacKay said she will be attending a meeting the last week of November with the Manitoba Health Services Commission and the architects to discuss a few minor points of the drawings before the project goes to tender. She also noted that the drawings were completed last spring so that the hospital would be ready when the government approval came through.

MacKay stated that she would be pushing the project to go to tender by no later than January so construction can start in the spring of 1989.

host the meeting in Kenora and the date was set.

Miclash was not in attendance at the November 26 meeting in Kenora, but had assistant Kimberly Smith sit in to report back to his office on the results of the meeting.

Residents of Red Lake, Madsen and surrounding areas were in attendance to give reasons for the necessity of the road link. They stated that another source of income was necessary besides the mining operation to ensure the livelihood of the community for future generations. They felt the link would provide necessary tourism dollars.

Residents of Lac du Bonnet and surrounding communities also spoke of the advantages of the link.

Bill Hood, the director of the Manitoba Prospectors and Developers Association, stated the link was necessary for the ultimate development of future mining discoveries. Hood noted that another mine discovery would more than cover the cost of building the road. He also said that at the last regular meeting of the association the members unanimously passed a resolution supporting the road link.

Another representative of Manitoba pushed for the link on the grounds of tourism, Twenty-six Manitoba and Ontario citizens turned out in Kenora for a meeting about a possible road link from Red Lake, Ontario to Manitoba. MLA Darren Praznik (centre) chaired the

stating that circle tours could be conducted out of Winnipeg. "People don't like to go down a straight road and come back again. They would rather go on a circle tour," said the representative. "Bus tours could leave Winnipeg and travel through Lac du Bonnet to Warner Lake then up to Red Lake and back through to Kenora before returning to Winnipeg."

Kenora mayor voices caution

Mayor Winkler of Kenora said he wanted to work cooperatively with the lobbyists for the link, but at the same time he felt the province should be upgrading existing roads before pushing new roads in place.

Winkler also voiced concerns for the natural beauty of the area and concerns for fly-in wilderness camps, which he said would be pushed farther north if the link road was developed.

"We could double the benefit to all communities if we proceed with sound planning," said Winkler who referred to the "Dryden Loop" which was established from Dryden to Aitkohan and caused problems for the community of Sioux Lookout. "The Dryden Loop spread the tourism business out so thin that no one is doing well."

Noreen Ostash of Lac du Bonnet, representing Tourism Eastman Region and the LaVerendrye Route, also voiced concerns regarding the wilderness camps. "The people support the idea of the link, but they worry about the conversion to designated camp and park grounds. They definitely want guarantees that the wilderness is not threatened."

Members agree to form a steering committee

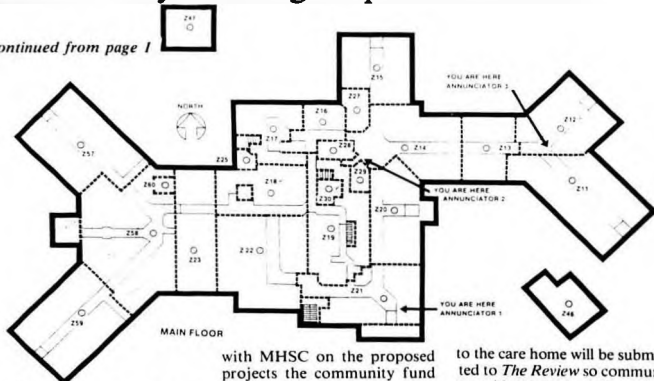

At the suggestion of MLA Praznik, all in attendance were in favor of the formation of a steering committee that would meet on a regular basis to formulate plans to build the link.

Representatives also voiced strongly that no more money should be wasted on studies, but to work with information already available from the 1986 study.

The next tentative meeting date was set for February 11, 1989 to be held in Kenora. Kenora Mayor Winkler agreed to host and organize the meeting.

and each patient room will have a toilet and sink. Two common bath areas will also be constructed.

The downtown central area features a dining room serviced by the hospital kitchen, an activity space and lounge, a nursing station and a solarium. The front door entrance way between the two wings will face the village green.

The government will be funding for the 20 beds, the activity room and dining room and one bathing facility.

"Some of the plans are four years old, so they will have to be resurrected and today's dollar value put on them," said MacKay, who hopes to have a cost estimate after the meeting with MHSC on the proposed projects the community fund will provide.

MacKay also stated that any news announcements in regards to the care home will be submitted to The Review so community residents can be informed as much as possible on the development stage.

a stressful situation occurs," said Goodwill, who also noted that one of his regular patients from Winnipeg travels to Pine Falls to see him because that patient says it is quicker than waiting for a scheduled appointment in Winnipeg.

About the Goodwill family

Dr. Goodwill was born in Brandon and grew up in Souris (graduated there) before moving to Winnipeg where he met his wife Shawn.

"Shawn is a dental hygienist and may be possibly starting work with the Main Dental Group of Powerview," said Goodwill.

Dr. Goodwill also revealed a multi-talented side of Shawn, stating she is a pianist and an organist. "She used to play the organ in the chapel at the Health Science Centre every Sunday." He also noted that Shawn enjoys teaching jazz dancing and ballet.

Together Shawn and Robert enjoy curling and water sports, but are currently busy with a young son, Cliff (one and a half years old), and settling in the house which they purchased on Poplar Street in Pine Falls.

Warren speaks . . .

'Cement curtain' — second part

Premier Gary Filmon's new name for Winnipeg's Perimeter Highway mentality — aptly dubbed the "cement curtain" — obviously struck a responsive chord with hundreds of people who live in rural Manitoba.

In the original column ("Cement Curtain Must Come Down", November 2), the premier suggested there are three distinct societies in this province — Winnipeg; rural, southern Manitoba; and northern Manitoba. I tried to make the point that we should attempt to clear up our own backyard first before we start bitching against giving the Province of Quebec a "distinct society" clause under the Meech Lake Agreement.

Readers of this newspaper, and many others, responded to that column with a sackful of letters and calls to my CJOB radio program. Without exception, they agreed Premier Filmon that we have to bulldoze down the barriers between these three, most distinct societies in Manitoba.

We must, the premier said, make all areas of provincial life more equal, more equitable, wherever anyone lives.

I did not realize the deeply-felt feelings about Winnipeg ("the city"), as most people called it in letters after that column). You were 100% behind Mr. Filmon, on issues that ranged from telephone rates, to lack of access for rural residents for social services, all the way to road repairs.

One Russell resident laid it on me: "Mr. Warren, the City of Winnipeg believes it is the be-all and end-all of this province."

Everything that is done, politically, economically, or otherwise, is for the City of Winnipeg. It's about time the Manitoba Legislature realized that we are real, live people living out here."

And yet, while we were attempting to debate the rural-urban division and the right to equality for all Manitoba citizens, the city jumped in with a discussion about how it could grow even larger.

And now Winnipeg City council and the entire Manitoba Legislature are involved in a lot of huffing and puffing about a proposal from developer and lawyer Leo Cholakis that the city boundaries should be extended beyond the western edge of the Perimeter Highway. Give Cholakis his due — if given the approval for his massive residential development, he said he would pay for extension of the sewer and water services.

He wants to put in a subdivision of more than 1,500 residential units. And I want to point out to rural taxpayers, right here and now, that this city expansion might have an impact on what YOU pay.

The long-term costs of such a development would leave the provincial government responsible for the costs of providing new schools and other services that are subsidized by the province.

Seems to me that, while we (as a country) have to stand ready to receive thousands upon thousands (if not millions) of refugees in the next 50 years or so, there is something wrong with allowing the City of Winnipeg to grow like Topsy. It will be like a top, a child's toy, if we don't stop it. And, because Manitoba is unique in that we have one major city, and only one, everybody and his dog will be drawn into the top and we'll end up with one, bloody great Detroit within those self-same 50 years.

Already many southern Manitoba farmers, hard-hit with the drought and economic conditions in the country, are being drawn into the jetstream to Winnipeg — hell, I called a plumber last week and he turned out to be a farmer from Killarney, unfortunately having to bootleg for the winter (and, for the record, he was the best damn plumber I've had in my house for a while).

Rural residents in this province should pay strict attention to what is happening in Winnipeg over the so-called "urban limit line." We could be building a mega-cropolis that will not be good for man or beast, and definitely will not be good for YOUR tax bill.

Let me know how you feel (as though I have not had enough letters on this subject already); more importantly, let your MLA know.

Dear Editor,

Christmas arrived early at our house on November 18 when in our mail was an envelope containing an Air Canada "Heart of Gold" Pin, plus an accompanying certificate with my name on it. Thank you!

We were both raised to believe that "helping out" in the community where you make your home is an important way of life — not for power or prestige but simply as an "act of being" and, even though we are now retired, we continue to do what we can in the area where we now reside.

Knowing nothing about the institution of these awards or how names are selected, I am left wondering how all this came about? Presumably someone or some organization in the Pine Falls area submitted my name. Am I permitted to know whom?? It would be nice to direct my "thank you" beyond yourself, the Community Newspapers Association, and Air Canada.

Was this project originally initiated by your association with Air Canada agreeing to sponsor or vice versa?

As I would also like to send a letter of appreciation to Air Canada would you kindly furnish the name and address of the person to whom I should respond.

We have enjoyed your editorials through the years we subscribed to The Leader and latterly to the Winnipeg River Review.

Sincerely,
Lenore Fraser Bartlett
(Mrs. T.W. Brock Bartlett)

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Dear Madam,
To answer your questions, firstly names of those persons making the nominations have not been released but obviously it was someone who believes you have made a valued contribution over the years in the Pine Falls community.

Secondly, the award idea originated from a fellow publisher in the Maritimes, who approached Air Canada who saw a lot of merit in the award program and took it across Canada through the seven regional associations.

To express your appreciation to Air Canada, you can write to: Mr. Ken Meck, Public Affairs, Air Canada, Montreal, P.Q.; and to Ted Morris, Manager, Public Affairs, 355 Portage Ave., Winnipeg, Man. R3C 2C3.

Once again, our sincere congratulations to you and the other 12 winners in the Leader and Review readership area.

PARENT SURVEY TO GO HOME

by Noreen Ostasz

Child and Family Services of Manitoba is looking for parental input in deciding the resources and programs needed to meet child and family needs in the area.

Surveys went home with the youngest child in each family in the Agassiz School Division and local daycares on November 25 and parents are asked to take the time to fill them out.

Each survey will have an envelope attached. When completed, they are to be sealed and returned to the school where they will be picked up by the Child and Family Services (CFS) Community Development Worker, Karen Wright.

Wright, a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan where she specialized in Family Studies, says that she hopes the length of the survey will not deter people from completing it because the collection of the information is very important for the development of programs both short and long range in the region. The survey deals with a wide cross section of family topics, ranging from marriage counselling services, parenting, communication, teen pregnancy, crisis intervention to drug and alcohol abuse.

In Beausejour, the community has identified the need for a Resource Centre where workers provide programs and counselling and volunteers operate a clothing depot and assist with support programs. The services of the centre are available to anyone in the region.

Resources range from preventative through supportive to crisis support in any area that affects the child's life within the family. What is offered in any region depends on the needs and concerns expressed by the people living there.

Individual replies are confidential although the composite information will be used for program decision making.

Anyone wishing help to fill out the survey can call 268-1571 and ask for Karen.

No Paper Kings' action this past week

submitted by Mike Osis

Well, the Kings never played on the weekend so there won't be much Kings' gossip to write about.

We were supposed to play in Beausejour but they had previous commitments that they could not break. As a result, the Kings have an eight day winning streak. Talk about impressive.

Since I can't conjure up an interesting article about the local boys, I'll try to improvise. Here's some juicy gossip from the world of sports and the filthy rich.

- How about them Bombers, eh? I thought the game was fantastic. No team really had an advantage until the final buzzer. If that game doesn't increase interest in the CFL, I don't think anything will.
- If it wasn't for Tony Cherry, the Lions wouldn't have looked so impressive.
- I think Matt Dunigan is the fastest white male who has ever lived. Don't be surprised if he's playing down south in the near future. The man sure has enough talent.
- Well, I guess everyone's seen or heard about the Kyt vs. Kocur fight. If you haven't, then it's time you got out from under your rock. Kyt was demolished. I've never seen Big Jim get flattened before, but the punch that KO'd him would have put Mike Tyson on the mat. Kyt hit the ice faster than Robin Givens could say. "I'll settle for $125 million."
- Speaking of the lovely couple. I feel sorry for Iron Mike. He fell in love and got burned (third degree). I never really thought too much of Miss Givens before but you've got to give her some credit. The women's smart. The little scam she pulled off will probably go down in history. Let's face it folks, she's going to be rich, filthy rich. It probably won't be hard for her to get a date in the future, but don't bet on another wedding for a long, long time.
- People say that one player doesn't make a team. Well, look at the new Los Angeles Kings. With the Great One in L.A. the Kings are in second place in the Smythe Division, slightly ahead of the Oilers. At this time last year, folks, they were battling the Canucks for last place. Sure, McSorley and Krushelniski didn't hurt the Kings either, but if it wasn't for Gretz the Kings would still be cellar bound. I like the Kings' new uniforms, maybe Vancouver should look for a new tailor also. I think the Vancouver fans are tired of watching the games wearing sunglasses.
- Last year Bill Inge won $1,000.00 on the Ol' Kings Grey Cup pool. Shirley Cyr sold him the ticket. This year's winner was Shirley Cyr. Talk about a coincidence. All the employees at Osis would like to congratulate Shir on the big win. Hint! Hint!

- The Jets should pawn off the Bandit. He's just a big suck who has a lot of growing up to do. Pokey and Chevy can handle the job. I stay get rid of the whiner for a goal scorer. If the Jets are going to rely on Neufeld for scoring punch then they'll be polishing up their golf clubs before the regular season is over.
- If Bob Probert can't stop dipping into the sauce then keep him down on the farm where he belongs. I think Jacques Demaurs showed a lot of guts when he shipped Probert and Klima down. It just goes to show you that no player can get too big for his britches.

Jari Kurri probably won't get 50 goals this year since Gretz is gone but you can bet your next paycheck that Wayne won't catch Lemieux for the scoring title.

Did you know that the Reichmans, who own Abitibi-Price and I think half of Toronto are listed by Macleans magazine as the seventh richest family in the world.

Back to Jim (ref, you could count to 500) Kyt. Since Jim's been dethroned as heavyweight champ, every goon in the NHL will want a piece of him now that he's not so invincible. On the other hand, I don't think anyone will want a piece of Kocur. Would you forget him?

Oh well, enough gossip. The Kings' next game is Friday, the second when they will play host to the Sagkeeng Hawks.

The GARDEN PLOT

by Cathleen Thurston

For the people who go out and cut down their own Christmas trees, freshness is not a problem. But if you plan to buy a pre-cut tree, remember they have been cut, packaged and stored for some time before you see them.

Bend a small branch or twig down, it should bend without breaking and should bend back into place when let go. Use your thumbnail to scrape a small piece of bark off the trunk — it should be moist and tender underneath. Tap the bottom of the trunk on the ground — some needles may fall off, but if lots do, the tree is not very fresh. Stand back to look at the tree and see if it is the shape you want.

When you get your tree home place it in a bucket of fresh water until you have the stand ready. Be sure to use a stand that holds water. Trim a half inch off the bottom of the trunk to remove the caked-over bottom. The tree will be able to ab-orb more water. For even better absorption drill a hole up into the bottom of the trunk and place a wick made from cotton inside.

Check the stand daily and keep filled, filling it with hot water or a Christmas tree preservative. If the tree dries out the tree will become a fire hazard.

There are commercial Christmas tree preservatives for sale, or you can make your own by mixing together:

- 4 l. hot water
- 60 ml. horticultural iron powder
- 500 ml. clear corn syrup
- 20 ml. liquid laundry bleach

Keep the tree stand full and have a Merry Christmas. P.F.H.S. News:

The Manitoba Horticultural Association convention will be held February 1-4, 1989 in Brandon.

If anyone wishes to attend please contact me for more information at 8215.

The Country Closet Giftware shop opened its doors for business on November 22 and owner Judy Johnston (left) and manager Kathy Dugard were on hand to greet customers and describe some of the uniquely Canadian gift items available in the shop.

Country Closet Giftware offers unique shopping

by Malene Watson
Country Closet Giftware opened its doors for business at the St. Georges community hall with an array of uniquely Canadian homemade crafts and designs.

The store idea had its birth one year ago when Silver Falls' residents Judy Johnston and Kathy Dugard began to assemble gift baskets for family and friends last Christmas. "The idea for baskets went over so well, we decided to make it into a business," said Kathy Dugard, manager of the new boutique.

Judy Johnston is the owner who started ordering supplies as early as the beginning of August. The suppliers, she said, are primarily Canadian from such provinces as Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia.

From Ontario, the boutique features a line of Lynn Sinclair fine soaps, potpourris and sentimental cards which contain sachets.

There is also a Northwind stoneware collection of pottery items such as tea pots, milk jugs, cream and sugar containers, utensil holders, spoon rests and salt and pepper shakers.

Henny's Hand-crafts from Ontario feature wildlife prints on oven mitts, pot holders, aprons and tea cozies.

From Anola, Manitoba, stock includes the famous Virginia's soups and potpourris. More familiar Manitoba items include the famous St. Georges peas and wild rice. An entire North Columbia Trading Company line of wooden crafts, such as crayon boxes, napkin holders, and memo reminders in stencilled art from the Country Pine Collection are in stock.

Hand woven and stencilled rugs, table runners, and place mats are only part of the Dove Tale Collection which also features a wooden decoy line of loons and ducks.

Special bright multi-colored foil gift wrap is available in sheet form with unique and different gift tags as well as bright colored gift bags. Candles, tin containers, jams, and stickers are only some of the remaining gift giving items.

Judy and Kathy state they purchased only a limited quantity of each item so they can renew their stock and keep area gifts unique.

The two ladies also offer their original gift basket idea, made to order to individual customer specifications. The walls of the giftware shop also boast some of their own craft creations.

Grand opening

On opening day, Tuesday, November 22, the customer flow was slow but constant, they said, and free stencilled balloons on a stick were given to everyone who stopped to have a peak. Coffee and a taste of three different delectable cracker dips were also available. The dips were a sample of seasoning mixes from the Dove Tale Collection line.

Kathy Dugard will be the proprietor every Tuesday to Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. She also said the boutique will be open on Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on a trial basis until after Christmas.

Winner!

Irene Roch was the lucky winner of the Rebekah Lodge Grey Cup dinner for 12.

Raffle winner

The winner of the Northeast Committee on Family Violence raffle of the knitted afghan was Derna Carlson.

The committee also thanks the area residents for their continued support.

Survey shows most are 'satisfied' with school system

by Superintendent Michael Czuhoka

In September, 1988, the Agassiz School Division distributed a questionnaire on its schools to all parents, teachers and senior students in Grades 10, 11 and 12. The purpose of the questionnaire was to determine how respondents felt about the following Agassiz schools: Garson, Tyndall, Beausejour Elementary, Edward Schreyer, Whitemouth, Reynolds, Lac du Bonnet Elementary, Lac du Bonnet Senior and Powerview. The Board of Trustees wanted this information so that it could initiate improvements as recommended by respondents.

The Board of Trustees had a special meeting on November 17, 1988, and thoroughly reviewed all information collected and summarized from individual responses. Each school was also provided with a copy of the results, and principals were instructed to set goals on the basis of these results.

The following ratings were obtained in regard to general "satisfaction" about our schools: very satisfied — parents 39%, teachers 58%, senior students 15%; satisfied — parents 43%, teachers 31%, senior students 49%; dissatisfied — 11% parents, 5% teachers, 27% senior students.

In terms of overall ratings, 34% were "very satisfied", 44% were "satisfied", and 15% were "dissatisfied".

Our system of field trips, report cards, reporting and parent-teacher conferences were evaluated very highly, even though a number of interesting suggestions and observations were made.

"Stricter Discipline" is always a high priority on all similar surveys done in Canada and the United States. Agassiz adult respondents generally felt that discipline should be "more strict" in our high schools. About one-half of our senior students, on the other hand, said that it is already too strict! About 85% of senior students said that discipline should either stay the way it is, or be less strict.

Should the Agassiz School Division retain corporal punishment or "the strap" as a last resort, for serious offenders? About 23% of our respondents said that corporal punishment should be kept; 35% said that it should be used with parental permission; 28% want to abolish it; and 14% gave no opinion.

Do Agassiz teachers show a willingness to help students both during and after school hours? Most teachers are apparently willing to assist students whenever the need arises.

The Agassiz School Division would like to thank all respondents for their time and interest. You can be assured that your responses and comments will be given consideration by the Board of Trustees. A similar questionnaire will be administered in the spring of 1990.

Reminder...

Natural Resources would like to remind the public that Christmas tree permits are available at the Resource Office Mondays and Fridays.

A $100.00 fine will be imposed on those caught with Christmas trees and no permit.

Great Falls W.I. news

1987-88 has been a busy-filled and educational year for Great Falls W.I. members as we strived to live up to the W.I. motto, "For Home and Country".

Educational programs included Wardrobe Planning, Microwave Cooking, Banking, "A laugh a Day Helps Stress", a Library Information Night, and "Suitcaseless, Moneyless, Timeless Vacation".

Our W.I. wind-up in June was a real treat as we enjoyed a houseboat tour from Otter Falls through the Whiteshell and a dinner at the Sportsmen's Family Restaurant in Lac du Bonnet.

Fundraising was accomplished primarily by catering at four functions. Funds were used to support W.I. work locally, regionally, provincially, nationally and internationally. We also donated to the Salvation Army, Lennox Lodge for cancer patients and families, the Peace Gardens' Fountain Fund and Agape House in Steinbach. In addition, we support a foster child in Ecuador and contribute to the care of the regional W.I. foster child in the Philippines.

Locally our W.I. provided and served lunch for bereaved families and friends. We donated equipment to the hall. Our most recent effort was a successful drive for food and clothing and household articles for the Henderson family who lost their home to fire.

We are starting our new W.I. year with a full slate of officers. They are: past president, Norma Wakefield; president, Anne Morgan; first vice-president, Rose Sanders; second vice-president, Leone Pommer; secretary, Pat Kropp; treasurer, Laurie Postnicks; foster child, Pearl Johnston; sick and visiting, Darlene Laforie; social convener, Sylvia McHugh; publicity, Dorothy Flanagan. W.I. education committee convenors include:

Agriculture, Pat Lapka; Canadian industries, Rose Sanders; citizenship and legislation, Darlene Laforie; international affairs, Norma Wakefield; home economics and health, Dorothy Flanagan; education and cultural affairs, Leone Pommer; Canadian unity, Marilyn Anderson.

The W.I. phoning committee consists of: Audrey Lehman, Clara Bracken, Norma Wakefield and Isabel Pert.

Plans are underway for our annual Christmas dinner to be held December 9 at 6:30 p.m. in Great Falls Hall. Lac du Bonnet and Winnipeg River W.I. members and their spouses are invited to join us.

Great Falls W.I. meets again on Thursday, December 1 at 7:00 p.m. in Great Falls Hall. Members are reminded to bring a Christmas gift for a Mental Health patient in Selkirk. The program will be "Christmas Crafts".

New members welcome.

FOCUS ON:

The best all-round exercise

by Marilyn Zarecki
 Extension Home Economist
 Manitoba Agriculture
 Beausejour, 268-1411

Cross-country skiing has lagged behind the downhill variety in popularity in the U.S., but in terms of all-around aerobic benefits it's the front runner. Using muscles in the shoulders, back, chest, abdomen, buttocks, and legs, cross-country skiers can burn as many as 600 to 900 calories per hour. Champion cross-country skiers spend upwards of 1000 calories per hour and have set records for the highest levels of oxygen consumption ever, indicating excellent aerobic fitness. The kick-and-glide technique, combined with the poling motion that propels you along, can provide a more complete workout than running or cycling, which emphasize lower-body muscles. It can also help develop co-ordination.

Another advantage of cross-country skiing is that it has a lower risk of serious injury than skiing on the slopes. Also, you can rent (or buy) skis, poles, and boots for a fraction of what you would pay for downhill gear. You don't need to make any reservations at high-priced ski resorts, because you can cross-country ski in a nearby park or even your own backyard. Most people don't need a lesson before starting out, yet a good instructor can help with advanced technique.

The sport combines skiing and hiking. Though a beginner may use the skis like snowshoes and tramp across the snow using the poles for balance, the right technique calls for zipping across the snow with your body at a 45 to 60 degree angle to the ground. The upper and lower body work together in a rhythm of kicks, long glides, and propelling poling motions.

The skis are longer than downhill skis (usually about as long as the distance between the wrist of your upstretched arm and the ground, though less experienced skiers may find slightly shorter skis more maneuverable), and they are narrower and lighter. They come either waxable or waxless. Most novices find it easier to start out with waxless because these require less fuss and tend to provide more control on downhill inclines. But once you've become more proficient, you may want the better overall performance and speed afforded by waxable skis. The boot resembles a walking shoe or hiking boot. The binding attaches only to the front of the boot, leaving the heel free to move as you take the long strides typical of good form.

Burning so many calories generates a lot of heat even on the coldest days, so it's best to dress in layers that you can peel off. You can start off in jeans or knickers (which are good for mobility), long cotton underwear, a couple of shirts, and a wool sweater, but veterans of the sport know the advantages of garments made of some of the new fabrics. For instance, polypropylene undergarments pull sweat away from the body, and outerwear made from other synthetics provide protection against the elements while allowing moisture to escape. Don't forget a wool hat and lightweight insulated mittens or gloves. If you plan on skiing all day, bring along a light backpack or "fanny" pack to hold cast-off clothes, and extra sweater for rest stops, and food and drink.

If you are over 40 or not in good shape, check with your doctor before you begin skiing. Gradually build up the amount of time you spend at it. Otherwise you run the risk of overuse strains (such as tendinitis) of the shoulders, knee, and arm. To prepare for a season of cross-country skiing, it's best to combine activities that primarily strengthen the upper body (rowing, swimming) with those working the muscles in the lower body (biking, brisk walking) to promote overall muscle tone. Cross-country ski machines, available at many gyms and health clubs, mimic the sport's motions and offer a good workout in snowless weather.

The BOOK NOOK by Mona Bossi

The "Friends of the library" tables at the St. Georges Community Club Bazaar sported a different look from their usual annual display. This time there were Unicef cards and gift items, plants galore, a "Book Fair" supplied by "Books and Volumes" of Winnipeg and the ever-popular donations of finely-crafted Christmas tree ornaments, baking and other handicrafts.

A new feature this year was a fishpond for the little ones and in spite of the numerous donations of gift items, the avid wee fisherfolk drained the pond dry by mid-afternoon of the first day. All monies raised will be spent on the library in 1989.

The draw for the three prizes donated will take place at the annual Christmas Library Board's dinner on Saturday, December 3.

The winners' names will be announced in next week's paper.

By-the-way, the children of the region raised $188.50 for Unicef with the little Unicef boxes that they carried with them on Halloween eve. Thank you all very much! While we're on the subject of "thank you" — a very special one to all who helped man the bazaar tables and the fishpond — also to all who so kindly gave donations whether in time or by making craft items — your efforts are most sincerely appreciated.

Thanks to the Book Fair, we now have a fine new selection of books for all age groups in the library. Some new adult fiction titles include "Till We Meet Again" by Judith Krantz, "The Matlock Paper" by Robert Ludlum, "the Final Planet" by Andrew M. Greeley and the long-awaited book three of Eugenia Price's "Savannah" series — to mention a few.

Junior and Teen readers will welcome new additions to the Babysitter's Club series and the ever-popular Francine Pascal novels. The very young readers will enjoy new titles in English and French by Robert Munsch, Kathy Stinson, Bertrand Gauthier, Mercer Mayer etc., etc.

Christmas being just around the corner, we will be starting our countdown at the library with a felt Advent Calendar for children to participate in. Then between December 20 and 24 we will be running a series of Christmas craft sessions for ages five and up. Watch for more information on this in next week's "Book Nook".

Fort Alexander public health nurse has good knowledge of problems

Phyllis Evinger started as the public health nurse at the Fort Alexander Health Centre on October 11 and with eight children of her own and having fostered 42 others, mostly native, she brings to the job an inner knowledge of native, family and health problems.

Born in England, Evinger came to Canada in 1953 with her Hungarian husband and one daughter.

"We moved to Canada because the housing situation in England was terrible," she said. The Evinger family lived for one year in a mining town in Quebec before moving to Winnipeg.

After bearing seven children of her own and adopting another in 1965, and raising 42 foster children between 1958-1972, Evinger began the task of upgrading herself in 1972.

She successfully achieved a Bachelor of Nursing Degree at the University of Manitoba with a background in psychogeriatrics.

She spent six months working at the Headingly Correctional Institute doing emergency work, counselling, teaching and routine administration of medicine.

Evinger lived and worked for one year at Norway House prior to coming to Fort Alexander. She and her husband, who is a retired contractor, have for the last three years owned a home at Gull Lake, and that was one of the reasons she sent a resume to the FAHC in July. She received a call from the health centre near the end of September.

Phyllis Evinger says she very much enjoys her position as the Public Health Nurse at the Fort Alexander Health Centre. Evinger has been employed at the centre since October 11.

tre's administrator and is also the chairman of the health centre's board. He has his own office at the centre and offers services as a full time court communicator.

"I assist anybody in conflict with the law by explaining what the procedures are in court as well as what the charges mean," said Fontaine who travels to Berens River, Little Grand Rapids, Pungassi, Bloodvein and Poplar River to deal with cases involving the courts.

Fontaine is also the probation officer for the Fort Alexander Reserve as well as for some residents who live from Pine Falls to St. Georges.

Three full time community health representatives are also employed by the centre, Marie Sinclair, Elaine Morrisseau and Joyce Courchene.

These representatives work in the community and make visits. They assist the public health nurse and the other full time registered nurse on staff, Corinne Sinclair, to organize immunization clinics and set up different programs. Phyllis Evinger also says these reps act as translators when necessary.

A full time secretary, Dora Guimond, who was hired three weeks ago, also works at the centre.

A dentist from Winnipeg, Dr. Yam, comes to the centre every Thursday, and both Evinger and Fontaine state the prospects look good for the employment of a pharmacist.

Lastly, a lawyer rents office space in the centre three days a week, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Agrivision open house

The Manitoba Agriculture office, Provincial Building, Beausejour, will be hosting a "Video Open House" from December 5 to 9. The open house is being set up to demonstrate the Agrivision library to district farm families. From 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily, we will be showing previews of videos which are available at the library. Information on all available tapes will be distributed.

We encourage all producers and their families to drop by, learn about the video library from our staff, and socialize over coffee and donuts.

Tree planting situation

P.F.R.A. advise that there are still some trees available for 1989. There is a small number of Colorado spruce, and a good supply of green ash, caragana, Scots pine, white spruce, and acute willow. There are no poplar, lilac, laurel willow, Russian olive, buffaloberry, or Hawthorn left.

Farmers can pick up application forms and planting information from the office. Remember that the land to be planted to trees in 1989, must have been summerfallowed in 1988.

Canola grade standards changes

The Canadian Grain Commission advise that canola grade standards will be changed as follows effective August 1, 1989.

The maximum limit of distinctly green seed in No. 1 Canada canola will be increased to 3% from 2%. There are no changes to No. 2 (6% max) and No. 3 (20% max). The change applies only to canola delivered to a country elevator. The limit at the export level remains at 2% for No. 1 seed.

The change is an interim measure, prior to the anticipated introduction of machine measurement of chlorophyll, replacing the "distinctly green seed content" in the grade. Currently, studies are in place to determine the mechanism for chlorophyll measurement.

Upcoming events

The Agassiz Soil and Crop Improvement Association Annual Meeting, scheduled for the Brokenhead River Recreation Complex, Beausejour, on Tuesday, December 6, commencing at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to members and non-members. The feature speaker is Mr. Wayne Cowan, agronomist, Ducks Unlimited, who will speak on "Water Management for Agriculture and Wildlife" (a very well illustrated and appropriate presentation). The meeting will also report on Agri-Food projects — discer/fertilizer placement, fall tillage, and soil sampling service.

A.I. course — Manitoba Agriculture will be holding an Artificial Insemination Course, December 12-16, 1988. The course will be held in a barn near the University of Manitoba. The cost is $350 per student. Interested producers are asked to enroll by contacting Mr. John Kalgenberg at the Provincial Semen Centre, Winnipeg, 945-7698.

Manitoba Hog and Poultry Days and Trade Show scheduled for December 7 and 8, at the Winnipeg Convention Centre commencing at 9:00 a.m. daily.

The new Winnipeg Livestock Sales Facility in the RM of Rosser has replaced the old Union Stockyards in St. Boniface. And while no one wants to argue with progress, an important era in Winnipeg's history is now just a memory.

"The new $1.8 million dollar Winnipeg facility (opened in September) exemplifies the indomitable spirit of cattlemen and their commitment to the industry," said Agriculture Minister Glen Findlay. "It's intended to meet the needs of a vastly changed industry and designed to allow greater flexibility to adapt to the future."

However, Findlay is among those who recognize the place Union Stockyards has carved out in Manitoba's history.

"The Old Stockyards were responsible for Winnipeg being called the Chicago of the North in the 20's. For many years the Union was a hub of activity, drawing large volumes of livestock from the three prairie provinces."

Peter Gregory, the president and general manager for Winnipeg Livestock Sales (formerly of Burns Brothers) has worked hard for the development of the new Winnipeg Livestock Sales Facility, but he too recognizes what the Union Stockyards meant to Manitoba.

"During their heyday, the Union Stockyards handled 25,000 carloads of cattle every year. It was a first rate facility for its time."

"The Union Stockyards was built when railways had a virtual monopoly on cattle shipping but once the highway network was built up, the railways just couldn't compete," Gregory said.

"In the last two to three years the facility was losing $350,000 a year. They had to raise yardage prices to where they were no longer competitive," says Gregory. That was the beginning of the end. But endings often mean new beginnings.

Obviously, producers approve. Volume is already up 25 to 30% over what was handled at the old stockyards.

The new facility is the only market in Manitoba open five days a week and features a totally computerized livestock scaling system. "We are one of the first in Manitoba to offer this kind of scaling facility."

As well producers are completely protected because the buyers pay cash or are completely bonded. "No other Manitoba market bonds buyers to the extent that we do."

The Strike Force triple of 3474 is the team high triple record and the Sweet Caps 1239 is the second team high single record. The Harrison team bowled 3412 for the second team high triple record. As you can see we did some good bowling on the alleys this week.

Friday Night Cash League

Week No. 2

by Sharon Mignon

The ladies high single games were Doris Kahle 275-223, Flo Vincent 251, Evelyn Dodds 225, Jeanette Doyle 216, Rita Morissette 216, Eileen Robertson 213 and Sharon Mignon 211.

The men's high single games were Gerry Gauthier 311-219, Pete Richardson 270, Lyle Velie 259-217, George Bodley 218-215 and Butch Boisvert 211.

High triple scores were Gerry Gauthier 692, Doris Kahle 672, Lyle Velie 644, George Bodley 632 and Pete Richardson 629.

Winners of the Cash League Special for high triple game of the night was the Richardson team (Denyse Smith, Rita Morissette, Gerry Gauthier and Pete Richardson) with their score of 2776. This score is the record to beat in the Cash League for Team High Triple and the Velie team holds the Team High Single with their score of 981.

A couple of the men seem to think there's a prize for the lowest game bowled as they were giving it their best shot (Brad Robertson 101 and Ken Dankowski 106). Sorry, but there's no prize for such "good" bowling.

The Roberts see three generations of students pass by

by Marlene Watson

The husband and wife duo of Charlie and Edie Roberts hung up their brooms after 30 years of custodian duties at the Pine Falls' school and were honored by co-workers and friends with a supper and retirement party.

Originally from England, the two came to Canada after Charlie's uncle, Fred Legall, wrote them about Canada, stating, "the streets were paved with gold."

Leaving a truck driver's job behind, Charlie and Edie travelled to Pine Falls with their eleven year old son, Brian, in 1956.

Charlie immediately secured work in the woodroom with Abitibi, and later changed to a beaterman's position on the paper machines before the school janitorial position came open in 1958.

The uniqueness of the position enabled both husband and wife to work together, and son Brian recalls some of his parents' daily duties.

"They would put hours in every day of the week," said Brian, who was in attendance at the retirement party. "In the beginning during the cold season, dad would have to shovel coal every six hours to keep the steam boilers running. I remember him always going down to the school at midnight to fill the boilers."

Presentations made

Principal Bill Borlase opened the speeches by acknowledging the fact that Charlie and Edie must have seen a lot of principals in their day, to which Charlie quipped, "some good ones too."

Borlase brought to light that the Roberts' had worked through three generations of children and introduced one of those children, a former student and present school board member, Bob Breton.

As Breton walked to the front, Edie joked "get your boots off." Breton smiled because he said he recalled attending Pine Falls school and being met at the door each morning by Charlie Roberts who always said "Boots! Boots! Boots!"

Breton said he remembers when there were no rugs and the floors had to be polished. "That old machine sure saw a lot of work," he said, and Edie retorted, "Yeah, so have my feet!"

In remembrance of their many years of work, Breton presented them with a special keepsake, a pair of old worn runners, "in memory of all the kids who walked through the school" said Breton.

Board chairman Glen Pinnell presented a gift and commented on the excellent condition the Roberts' were leaving the school in. "There were many problems that were fixed without anyone ever knowing there had been a problem," said Pinnell who added that students were always greeted in the morning with a warm and clean school.

Bill Borlase also presented gifts from the school staff and the community before asking the Roberts' to say a few words.

Charlie got up first and said how he had been trying for 30 years to graduate and now "they gave me the boot," referring to Breton's gift. He added that he had very much enjoyed his years with the school.

Edie echoed her husband's words, but could not hold back the tears when she spoke of the friendships made over the past 32 years, and from the bottom of her heart she thanked everyone for making them special.

Also in attendance at the party was the Roberts' niece, Eileen (Marsh) Cook who travelled from Winnipeg with Brian Roberts.

Brian noted that his parents were planning to stay in the community and added he would be encouraging them to enjoy an extended vacation, "now that they have the time."

Over 100 co-workers and friends attended the party which was held at the Manitou Lodge on Thursday, November 24 from 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.

10 Manitobans receive Heart of Gold awards

Winnipeg — Creativity, originality and a virtually limitless supply of energy characterize ten Manitobans who were selected from more than 350 provincial nominations to receive Air Canada Heart of Gold Awards at a provincial awards ceremony in mid October.

Contributions ranged from generous commitments in time, energy and money to support local activities and causes to exceptional concern for others in need.

Three seniors were among those being honored including Arthur Lightfoot of Winnipeg, Ann Lanoway of Beausejour and Myrtle Lane of Virden.

Mr. Lightfoot, a retired private investigator, was nominated for his originality in finding a creative solution to an existing problem. While watching kids from a neighboring school for the handicapped one day, Mr. Lightfoot noticed their fear of hard balls. He convinced his club to donate used tennis balls to the school for the kids. That started him on the road to helping handicapped children. In the last six years he has donated upwards of $400,000 worth of recycled toys and sporting goods including fishing equipment, badminton and swimming gear. The beneficiaries of his largesse include just about every school for mentally handicapped children in western Canada.

Ann Lanoway and Myrtle Lane, carry on a level of activity in their various communities which belies their ages — 78 and 85 respectively. Mrs. Lanoway raised funds to found the Beausejour Seniors Drop-in Centre. She is president of the Seniors Association, and active in the Catholic Women's League, the Agriculture Society, the Handi-Van Board of Directors and the Eastern Regional Seniors Board. In her spare time she bakes and sells baked goods for local charity fund-raisers.

Myrtle Lane, a retired teacher is dedicated to preserving local history in Virden. She has established the Virden Historical Society and the Virden Pioneer Home Museum. She is a founding member of the Westman Nursing Home, secretary of the Steering Committee for the Sherwood Senior Citizens' Home and has furnished a room in each of these homes. She raises money for the local hospital children's ward, teaches immigrants English and is active in the local Association of Community Living.

Another Virden resident is among the ten recipients. Patricia Yates, who imported her thespian talents from Britain, is being honored for her dedication to improving the arts and cultural life of Virden. Mrs. Yates is founder of the Phoenix Players, has raised funds to restore an old theatre, is active in the Manitoba Arts Festival and lends her theatrical skills to the local Brownies and Girl Guides organizations.

Cultural life in Dauphin is equally well in hand in the person of Joanna Cooper. Aside from fund-raising and volunteering for the local drama festival, the Dauphin Arts Council, the Theatre Amisk and the Ukrainian Folk Arts Centre and Museum, Mrs. Cooper is active in the Legion Pipe and Drum Association, the Agricultural Society and the Junior Rifle Club where she is a safety instructor.

It's amazing how much time a mother has on her hands. Take for example Darlene Beck, a mother of four who finds time to be captain of the Fire Department. Mrs. Beck established the Cross Lake Crisis Committee to counsel people in emergency situations. The local RCMP, who regularly call upon her, say she is responsible for bringing about a dramatic decrease in the rate of suicides.

The 12 children who belong to June Kowalchuk of Souris aren't enough to tie the woman down. Mrs. Kowalchuk was selected for her work in the I.O.D.E., the Music and Speech Arts Festival, the Women's Institute, the Horticultural Association, 4-H, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and Beavers. Where did she find the time? She is the founder of the first Day Care Centre in Souris.

Some people will do anything for their community even if it means overcoming a fear of dogs. In addition to establishing a Crime Prevention Committee, organizing the local Cancer Society campaign, being active in the Northern Manitoba Trappers' Festival and the Kelsey Recreation Commission as well as delivering books for the library, Sue Lambert of The Pas promotes dog racing and is currently trying to have it recognized as an official Winter Olympic sport.

Robert Williamson of Belmont comes with a strong professional recommendation. A high school teacher, he was nominated by one of his students for his work in teaching the students to play musical instruments during his lunch hour. He has founded the Noontime Band which regularly entertains senior citizens. Mr. Williamson is also active in the Lions Club, is the church pianist, referees minor hockey and plays baseball.

Music and children are Marcelle Champagne's great loves too. For many years on top of her teaching career, she has been giving music lessons, free of charge, to a dozen children. Ms. Champagne has also organized musical events, directed a 4-H group and a church choir.

These ten recipients were among 130 Canadians who were selected to receive this award. The Air Canada Heart of Gold Award program was operated in partnership with member papers of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association. More than 6,000 nominations were received from people across Canada.

Four Pine Falls residents receive award

by Marlene Watson

Three Pine Falls residents and one former Pine Falls resident were nominated by a community person as worthy candidates to receive the first ever Heart of Gold Award.

This award program was conducted Canada wide by Air Canada in co-operation with the Manitoba Community Newspaper Association.

Across the province 350 names were submitted, and more than 6000 across the country. Ten overall winners were selected from Manitoba and presented with airline tickets for two, anywhere Air Canada flies.

Those nominated from Pine Falls and receiving lapel pins with the Air Canada Heart of Gold emblem and a framed certificate were:

Myrtle Mackie

As a postmistress, Myrtle was always kind, courteous, and helpful, and at the same time a willing community worker.

Now retired, Myrtle continues to serve various organizations despite a few health problems.

She is presently the treasurer of the Senior's Golden Leisure Club and has been since its formation. She is the treasurer of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 64 of which she takes on an active role as the Sick and Visiting committee.

She is the kind of neighbor that anyone would enjoy, and over the years, she and her late husband were the unofficial but most friendly welcoming committee for any new resident who moved into town.

Gordon Hanson

As retired electrical superintendent, Gordon is constantly giving his time in executive capacities as well as performing mental and intricate tasks of repair and maintenance for his church, Royal Canadian Legion, Pineview Lodge, cross-country ski club, local historical society and any other organization that calls on him.

Gordon Hanson's untiring help in many areas have made the community of Pine Falls a better place.

Lenore Bartlett

Lenore Bartlett and family lived in the community of Pine

Falls from 1951-1986 up until the time her husband Brock retired and the two moved to Sundridge, Ontario.

While in the community, Lenore contributed her time and talents to the local hospital auxiliary, United Church, Legion Auxiliary, United Appeals, and any organization that needed her help.

Her generosity, thoughtfulness and kindness to others who needed her help or comfort were constant and sincere. A void has been felt since her absence from the community.

Cards of Thanks

As the honored recipient of an Air Canada 'Heart of Gold' Award for community service, November, 1988, I would like to express my sincere thank you to persons unknown for submitting my name.

the church, hospital auxiliary and the Horticultural Society.

She is available to anyone who needs her and her kind nature and Christian spirit make this community a better place to live.

Editor's Note: The Review extends congratulations to the four nominees and it is with sincere appreciation on behalf of the community that we say thanks for your many unselfish contributions.

What prescription?

A printer went to his doctor for a check-up. The doctor wrote out a prescription for him in a physician's normal illegible handwriting. The printer put it in his wallet and neglected to have it filled. Every morning for two years he showed it to the conductor as a railroad pass. Twice it got him into Radio City Music Hall, once into a symphony. One day he mislaid it at home and his daughter picked it up, played it on the harp and won a scholarship to a music conservatory.

Thank You Pine Falls

ARC Industries Selkirk (training centre for person with mental handicaps) would like to express very warm thanks to all those persons who supported the recent fundraising drive organized by Darlene, Ernie, Sharol, and Kim Cyr of Pine Falls. Sales of products from ARC Industries at the St. Georges Community Bazaar contributions for service clubs and proceeds from raffles amounted to $1,702.53. A snowblower will be purchased in order to provide yet another excellent training skill to trainees.

Special thanks to: Pine Falls Old Timers Hockey Club, Catholic Women's League, Powerview Ladies' Auxiliary, Knights of Columbus No. 4244, Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Coronation Rebekah Lodge No. 51, I.O.O.F., Royal Canadian Legion BESL, Winnipeg River Lions Club, Helen Poitras — Pine Falls, Daphne Webb — Pine Falls, Sharol, Kim, Darlene and Ernie Cyr.

NEIGHBORLY NEWS

by Fred McGuinness
Box 1020, Brandon R7A 6A3

Neighborliness: A triumph in cooperation

When neighbours get together and roll up their sleeves, dramatic things can happen. While I've known this for some time, my belief is now reinforced by a front page story in the Deloraine Times and Star.

Over 15 years Jim McKinney and Don Millar of the Waskada district talked about how much they'd like to have running water on their farms. Within a month this dream will be a reality, not only for the Millar and McKinney families, but also for 14 others nearby.

Construction is now underway on a 22-mile network of two and three-inch plastic pipes, which will be owned by the Waskada Rural Water Co-op. The water comes from a well drilled into an aquifer. Each household will have a meter and will pay an estimated two dollars per thousand gallons.

What this service represents is a triumph of cooperation. Provincial and federal departments cooperated in the design and engineering. While the total bill is $320,000, 65 percent is recoverable from public grants. Each family signing up for the service paid a deposit of $7,500, part of which will be returned. For those farmers with herds, the water coop may be a lifesaver.

The delivery of water near Fleming also calls for neighborliness, according to the Moosemoun World-Spectator. In a coop undertaking, nine area farmers rented six miles of aluminum pipe and began a 24-hour-a-day pumping service to fill a dozen dugouts.

At Assiniboia, according to The Times, they don't wait for disaster to strike before taking action. In preparation for that occasional outbreak of bad news they have organized SCAT, that's an acronym for South Country Assistance Trust Fund. This is a trust fund held in abeyance until a need develops. SCAT is in the news right now because it just spent $2,000 to put a ventilator, a mechanical breathing device, in the local ambulance.

As that old expression has it, many hands make light work. This was proven again at Virden recently, according to the Empire-Advance. When Dorothy Simpson had to be rushed to the big-city hospital, husband Geoffrey went with her, and was unable to complete his fall farm work.

Not to fret. In the absence of the Simpsons, 12 men and 15 women worked one long day to do the cultivating, haul 3,000 bushels of grain, clean the house, and then put the garden to bed for the winter.

I not only collect stories of neighborliness, I am also a direct beneficiary. A week ago, my neighbor's sons drove into the yard with their log splitter and went to work on my woodpile.

While I am making some recovery from an attack of arthritis, I'm still not ready to swing an axe, and for this reason these visitors were doubly welcome.

The machine is a homemade device, noisy and efficient. A run with a drive about 30 inches long forces the logs against a cutting head. With one lad

Christmas bazaar features wide variety for shopping lists

by Marlene Watson

Once again the St. Georges Community Club hosted a Christmas Bazaar which featured 46 tables of crafts, baking, books, and flea market items for every Christmas shopping list.

As is tradition, St. Georges pea soup and bannock was offered at the tea tables in the lower level of the community club. Also in that area, club members had shelves of Christmas crafts and tables of flea market items.

A new idea introduced this year by the club members, to the delight of many children, was a fish pond. Some of the items were new and some were used, but for a few coins, the children lined up to have a chance to fish for untold treasures.

The main level had 16 tables set up in the hall which offered food items, wall pictures, honey, wild rice, wicker, flower arrangements, crafts of every shape and kind, as well as several tree raffle items.

On the upper level, seven more tables offered books for sale, wooden crafts and painted wall pictures, as well as silk and lace crafts and knitted socks loading the monster, another on the controls, and me doing the stacking, we soon had stuff piled higher than I can reach. I bless them and their thoughtfulness every evening when I light the fireplace.

There's a little ballet performance enacted every time these young men lend a hand. I offer them money. They take offence. This means that I must pay them back with honey, with blue spruce, or with other favors. These help to keep the process alive.

On the second day, some new tables replaced those that were available on the first. Pat Lapka arrived on Sunday with a novel craft which featured room deodorizers dressed as mice. Also on Sunday was a table of home made wooden toys and decorations from a group out of Milner Ridge.

Many local crafters say they work months in advance to prepare special items for sale at the largest Christmas bazaar in the area.

The bazaar has grown over the years, and could get bigger yet, said club president Diane Dube, if there was more room. The club may consider using the work out room behind the downstairs kitchen as a display area as well.

Outside of the 4P Market Square, the St. Georges Bazaar is one of the only avenues for local home merchants, artists and crafters to display their art for personal sale.

The tables are booked in advance and the community club receives a fee for the space. The club is open Friday evening and early Saturday morning for set up.

The community also benefits from the two day affair and they reported a profit of $2200, which will be used towards the major projects the club is undertaking at this time.

Whether a buyer, a seller, or only just curious, the numbers passing through the doors of the community club on the bazaar weekend indicate the success and community need for just such an event.

Drama Club present presents 'Moster Mom'

by Adrien Dewey

Billy likes to wrestle and he likes his stuffed leopard but he doesn't like mealloaf. And he doesn't put up with any "guff" from his enemies — or his mom.

Maybe the real world is boring Billy, but it isn't trying to eat you. And your mom loves you.

It is into Billy's world that we travel for the Pine Falls Drama Club's newest creation, "My Mother the Monster". Yes, just when you thought it was safe to go home for dinner it's "My Mother the Monster".

"It was a lot of fun putting the show together," says the show's writer and director Dwayne Dueck, "we're using the youngest person on stage since I've been here in a show. We've aimed at children and adults and too, we will be using a few flashy effects in this one. Greg (Inge, who plays Billy), has a lot of fun in rehearsal and the show's two clowns (Jason Fisher and David Windsor) are full of funny ad-libs."

The show, which lasts about 50 minutes, will be presented on December 8 and 9 at 7:00 p.m. and December 11 at 2:00 p.m. at the Pine Falls Gym.

Tickets are available at the door.

Also, a special door prize will be awarded.

Powerview RCMP hosts third annual Novemberfest

by Marlene Watson

The Powerview RCMP detachment held their Third Annual Novemberfest dance, an event that was the idea of Sgt. Don Murphy who felt it was a good way for officers to meet the community.

Three years ago Sgt. Murphy said the local detachment had eight new officers, and the idea for the social came about at that time.

The event also raises funds for local groups, with this year's proceeds being split between the figure skating club and the minor hockey league.

The uniqueness of the social evening is that it is held on Sunday evening, the quietest work night of the week for RCMP, said Murphy, who added the Lac du Bonnet highway patrol cover this area while the Powerview officers are having the night off.

This year's social was organized by Cst. Wayne O'Brian, who announced early in the evening that a dance contest would be conducted throughout the social.

New recruit Phil Jeans who came to Powerview in July and who is known for his ballroom dancing ability, was selected as dance judge. At the end of the evening, he called upon Corp. Ken Morrison to come forward and accept the prize. Morrison "boogied" to the front and kicked off both shoes before accepting the prize of drink glasses.

Phil Jeans and wife Nicole were introduced to those in attendance by Sgt. Murphy, as was another newcomer, Cst. Brian Jack and girlfriend Leah. Cst. Jack also came to Power-view in July from Grandview, Newfoundland. He has been in the force for 10 years.

Mel Mitchell and wife Barbara also introduced their house guest, Alexandra, an exchange student from Brazil.

Renate Johnson catered the hot meal which was served to a full crowd of approximately 140 people.
