

30% increase

Additional monies allocated for forest fire fighting

The provincial government is improving its forest fire prevention, detection and initial attack programs.

In announcing the new initiatives, Natural Resources Minister Harry Enns said, "We are taking this action to ensure that Manitoba forests are better protected from the type of disastrous fires experienced in 1989. Our focus will be on enhancing the initial attack capability, to enable fires to be actioned and brought under control before they become major outbreaks. By preventing major fires, overall suppression costs will be reduced and large forestry losses will be avoided. Additional funds allocated to carry out this plan represent a 30% increase over last year's base funding level."

The additional funding, about 2½ million dollars, will create approximately 80 new seasonal positions and will provide for extensions in the term of 50 existing seasonal staff. Most of the new positions will be based in rural and northern areas.

New seasonal fire prevention officers are being hired to augment existing efforts in building public awareness of the importance of sustaining our forest resource.

The main manpower contingent will expand the province's initial attack forces. Five new Helitac crews will be assembled for initial response by helicopter, with two crews to be stationed in the eastern region, one in the north, and the remaining two attached to a mobile response unit which can be used as needed throughout the province.

To further enhance fire suppression efficiency, a "Bird Dog" system will be used for the first time in Manitoba. This involves the use of a fixed-wing aircraft, to act as a bird dog in coordinating air traffic and directing waterbombing efforts. This system which has already been successfully used in

Icy waters claims young boy's life

The icy waters of the Winnipeg River has claimed the life of Clifford Joseph Prince, at about 11:35 a.m. Monday morning.

Prince, who was born May 3, 1986, apparently wandered away from his home on the nearby Fort Alexander Reserve.

It appeared the boy had been playing along the riverbank by the dock at The Rock and wandered out onto the ice and fell through about 20 yards from shore.

Searching for the youngster, his father and others discovered footprints on the shoreline and out onto the ice.

They spotted him motionless in the water. His father attempted to walk out but fell through the ice and was forced to retreat.

The father and friends were able to locate a small boat nearby, pushed the boat out onto the ice and were able to retrieve the child.

He was rushed to Pine Falls Hospital in a police cruiser at 11:50 a.m. where hospital staff attempted to revive him until pronounced dead at 3:15 p.m.

There was no indication of how long he had been in the water.

The 'silent majority' loudly voice concerns

by Manju Lodha

In a hall packed with about 200 people, Glen Keilback, representative of the Concerned Parents of Agassiz told the Agassiz School board they are "providing a private school at the expense of the rest of us."

On March 6, an extensive presentation was made by Canadian Parents for French, Agassiz Chapter. They had made numerous recommendations to the board to improve the French Immersion Program in the division.

In a brief presentation at the board's regular meeting on April 3, Keilback said, "We must voice our concerns and discourage any minority from dictating costly demands which are not in the interest of the vast majority of the children in Agassiz." He said that they do believe it is important that students should be provided education in their chosen language provided the numbers are adequate and it is financially feasible.

He pointed out that they were not opposed to bilingualism but if the requested expansion program would be carried out it would be a financial burden, and would benefit only a small minority of students.

According to Keilback when the French Immersion Program was started the parents and the taxpayers were given an understanding that the program would be offered if a minimum 23 students would be enrolled. In some of the classes the enrolment has dropped far below 23 and the possible need for combined classes was foreseen.

He said that there would be a shortage of classroom space if the small numbered French Immersion classes were to separate in junior high.

Keilback stated that the High School subject classes like biology, physics and computer sciences are essential for higher education and their numbers could not be compared to a single grade class.

One of the concerns was that the students are bussed for vocational programs to Selkirk due to costs. Why is this option not considered for the French Immersion Program.

Keilback said they support the board's decision to enter into, "the early intervention of learning disability program, and would like to see the program expanded." More funding for French Immersion may cause some cut backs.

It was mentioned that when hiring the superintendent, the board should go for qualities such as strong leadership, communicational skills and administrative experience and the quality of the decision

St. Georges parents say 100 families interested in centre

St. Georges Parents have identified 100 families who may be interested in their proposed Centre Scolaire/Communautaire, and have visited 73 of them.

Out of the 73 families, parents have indicated they would be interested in enrolling 143 children in the school. Forty-six of these are currently pre-schoolers.

Paulette Dupont, spokesperson for the St. Georges Parents Committee says "community centre" is not a really good translation for "centre communautaire" which, she says, would be a focal point and a cultural centre for the whole community, where a pride in their language and culture would be fostered.

She said capital costs would come from a joint federal/provincial program, and similar centres have had operating costs funded for up to ten years under the same program.

She does not believe the centre would be a burden on the local taxpayer and sees it adding to the overall community rather than detracting from it.

She says planning is in the very early stages and it is too soon to say what facilities would be included.

"I would like to see it built within one and a half to two years," Mrs. Dupont said, "but I may be dreaming in colour. I certainly hope it will be a reality within five years."

The committee has written to the Secretary of State and the Bureau d'Education Francais a Manitoba Department of Education branch, as the next step towards the realization of the project.

neighbouring provinces assures the safe, efficient and effective use of all aircraft resources engaged in fire suppression. Bird dog aircraft can be utilized for fire detection work as well.

Manpower additions will also increase the firecrew and fire ranger operations. Firecrew are highly-trained fire fighting specialists who are transported to fire sites as quickly as possible either by truck in road accessible areas or by helicopter in more remote areas. Twenty-five additional firecrew staff are being added. As well, sixteen additional persons will join the fire ranger staff which are stationed in fire-prone areas to organize local fire fighting operations.

The present steps are being taken as a result of internal reviews, and expert evaluation conducted by senior fire staff from neighboring provinces and a public review which followed last year's disastrous fire season. The program enhancements are also in line with suggestions which came forward during the Sustainable Development Forest Policy workshops held throughout the province in February and March.

The minister also expressed his appreciation for the hundreds of letters of support for expanding fire suppression activities, and referred to the NESDA meeting with Premier Filmon. "There's no question that kind of responsible lobbying helped my department get the extra money," he said, "in most cases departments have had to operate with the same money as last year."

"The fires last year raised the level of concern," Enns said, "we can't stand by and let that sort of thing happen again, it could affect the economic well-being of the entire region."

Glen Pinnel, Abitibi Logging Superintendent, said the company is pleased with the action the government is taking. "Most areas that we asked them to address are now being addressed," he said. "Now we have to make sure everybody is ready. This is shaping up to be one of the worst fire hazard seasons. There has been very little moisture for the last year, and no real moisture this spring."

should not be compromised by the bilingual requirement.

Summarizing his presentation Keilback said, "We the Concerned Parents of Agassiz, do not want to see additional funding from our limited tax resources, being funnelled into a minority group, when many of the English speaking students in the Beausejour area of the Agassiz School Division are not having their needs met, we see this as the creation of an elitist group, funded through the French Immersion Program at the taxpayers' expense."

After the presentation a lady told the story of her sons' school and pointed out that an English and French program can cause great divisions among students.

Another man said, "We are bickering about the French issue, we are not preparing them for university."

Chairman Barry Bence advised that the administrators are looking into provincial-administered testing but there is some opposition. "The issue you have referred to is being debated at the highest level."

Trustee Dave Fisher pointed out that the figure 23 students was not the target ideal class size. "According to the legislation, if parents of 23 students want education in French we are obliged. The school board makes the decision how to place them." He said that it would be hard to place ten students each of social studies, science and English together and it is also difficult to combine French Immersion classes to obtain classes as large as the non-immersion classes.

Trustee Richard Rattai said, "Dave is absolutely right. In Lac du Bonnet there was a delegation of parents who wanted French, but only for about 8 to 10 students, we turned it down."

Bence said he does not know how to respond, the whole country is going through it. The Supreme Court decision regarding French programs is being analyzed at the provincial level. He said that they cannot put everything in one school, they have to give the best possible education in the entire division.

Bence was asked how he will solve his "mini Meech". He said, "We will have lots of meetings, we are having one this week for French Immersion. At our regular meeting we will look at funding per student in all our programs."

Trustee Cheryl Hamilton of Powerview area was asked if they have similar problems in Powerview. She replied, "I don't think so."

Warren speaks . . .

Those electric cars: the final chapter

In 1976, the Province of Manitoba proudly called a press conference to announce the purchase of a number of several electric vehicles. Ed Schreyer was premier; Russell Doern was public works minister.

And this was little old Manitoba's answer to the world-wide scare about oil prices.

After all, did we not have all the hydro-electrical power we needed in this province? We didn't need those nasty OPEC countries, did we?

The facts were these:

The province bought seven electric vehicles at $10,988 apiece from the Electric Vehicle Associates, Inc., of Parma, Ohio; and one Batronic electric van for $21,000 from the Batronic Truck Corp., of Boyertown, Penn.

That was big money for a car in those days. We didn't get a bargain. The sedans were merely production-line Renault cars, converted by removing the gasoline engine and installing an electric motor. This change hiked the weight of each vehicle from 2,400 pounds to 3,300 pounds.

The telephone system received one sedan, Manitoba Hydro received three, the department of government services tested the others.

So what happened to the great experiment? It took several weeks to find an answer and I am grateful to Transport Minister Albert Driedger for the information.

Over 1976 and 1977, things went from bad to worse.

- The cars did not measure up to a claim of between 50 and 60 miles per battery charge; "the best distance obtained was between 15 and 16 miles per charge," according to Driedger.
- Electric Vehicles Associates did not honor warranties.
- The vehicles' heating system, which operated on gasoline from a small storage tank, could only produce heat at 65 degrees for six hours.
- The method of recharging "were poorly developed," the minister says.
- Actually, the province's Fleet Vehicle Branch is not aware of any significant advances in electric-vehicle availability or technology since that time.

"Some improvements have apparently been made in battery life, but basically electric vehicles are still on the drawing boards," the minister told me.

Sadly, the Manitoba vehicles simply gave up the ghost in 1979 and would not even start.

So what happened to them all? The story-behind-the-story is that these vehicles sat idle for a number of months in 1979. In December of that year, five sedans were disposed of by public tender at a salvage value of $1,860; the van went the same way in June 1980, for $2,000; the remaining two cars were donated to the engineering faculty, University of Manitoba, in February 1981.

Thus the great Schreyer-Doern dream of 1976 ended up on the scrap heap, as did your money and my money which went to pay for them in the first place.

4-P Festival needs volunteers

This year the 4P Festival will be including more events for children. President Tammy Kunz said, "This year we are really trying to make the festival a more family event." She said there will be a lot more work going into the children's Big Tent this year, but it's not just for little kids. She said, "There will be two teen dances and a scavenger hunt on bicycles for older children."

She said this is their busy time and they need help. "Last year the festival was run by six people, it's a bit tough for a festival which has become as big as it is."

Mrs. Kunz said she would like to see people volunteer for two hours or so during the festival so the work load can be spread more evenly.

Their next meeting is on April 23, in the 4P office at 7:00 p.m. Volunteers would be very welcome.

Happy Easter!

Hard working maybe, but what are the results?

Dear Sir,

In a recent report on the nomination of Darren Praznik for the Progressive Conservative Party in the Lac du Bonnet Constituency it was reported that Mayor Don Mazur of Beausejour applauded Darren Praznik as being "the hardest working M.L.A. the Lac du Bonnet constituency has ever had".

Well, he may be the hardest working, but one is inclined to ask, "What are the results?" It seems to me, in all fairness, that this constituency experienced the greatest benefits during the period between 1970 and 1985.

Let's look at the record. Highway No. 11 was re-built and paved. The Village of Lac du Bonnet had a lot of street work done. In Beausejour we saw the de-centralization of government services emerge in visible and meaningful terms in the form of the provincial government building, the highways garage,

Super-school may lead the way

In September of this year a little history will be made in the Village of Viscount; the citizens will celebrate the opening of "super-school". If luck is on our side this may lead to vastly better education in more prairie towns.

Cross your fingers.

When I discussed this story with Irvin Brunas, the Saskatchewan director of education, he said no single individual could be named as father or mother of this idea. "We spent a lot of time discussing the rapid changes being made in education, and we concluded it was time to design a brand-new school."

Viscount was designated as the site because it was a typical declining farm town. Village and district needed a school for 250-300 students. This one was to be as modern as technology could make possible.

To design super-school, Saskatchewan turned to one of the most innovative educators on the Prairies today. Dr. Warren Hathaway is an engineer who once built missiles for NASA, and today he applies his technological training to the classroom. He is currently director of school planning, Alberta Education. His personal philosophy is outlined in his book, Education and Technology at the Crossroads.

It's a rare week in which the weeklies fail to tell me about the closing of another school. Every time this happens, it goes without saying, a whole bunch of nice young people are condemned to spending still more hours on that yellow monster called the school bus.

Do all these schools have to close? Not if major innovations were introduced, and right there we encounter problem number one.

Let me repeat an earlier suggestion; cross your fingers. Viscount's super-school may lead the way.

Irvin Brunas describes it as teacher inertia. It's a happy thought that teachers everywhere want to go super-modern, but this doesn't always happen.

How major are the changes taking place at Viscount? I discussed them with Lance Macsymic, assistant director of education for the Lanigan School District.

Technology will be an enrichment to every course. Students will learn that computers are a vital learning tool, especially for research and independent study. Viscount students will have access to major data bases.

Macsymic himself is enthusiastic about the extent of the enthusiasm now being generated by trustees and teachers alike. The latter are all hard at work on an upgrading program.

The Viscount school is designed for life-long learning. Along with its K-12 classes it will also offer courses for university and community colleges. Connection with other learning institutions will be via electronic links which deliver one-way video, and two-way audio. Every resident of the Lanigan School division is viewed as a possible student. Those same residents have undertaken to raise $40,000 for a modern kitchen, a necessity in a school which is going to operate long hours.

A year ago, when I was a volunteer on a research project, the rural residents were asked to list their major concerns in order of importance. Education led the way, even ahead of health services and income.

Let me repeat an earlier suggestion; cross your fingers. Viscount's super-school may lead the way.

FOCUS ON: Dangers of children's balloons

by Marilyn Zarecki
Home Economist
Manitoba Agriculture
Beausejour, 268-1411

Of all children's products, balloons are the leading cause of suffocation death. Since 1973, more than 100 children have died as a result of suffocation involving uninflated balloons or pieces of balloons. Most of the victims were under six years of age, several older children have suffocated on balloons as well.

Accidents involving balloons tend to occur in two ways. Some children have sucked uninflated balloons into their mouths, often while attempting to inflate them. This can occur when a child who is blowing up the balloon inhales or takes a breath to prepare for the next blow, and draws the balloon back into the mouth and throat.

Some deaths may have resulted when children swallowed uninflated balloons they were sucking or chewing on. The commission knows one case in which a child was chewing on an uninflated balloon when she fell from a swing. The child hit the ground and, in a reflex action, inhaled sharply. She suffocated on the balloon.

The second kind of accident involves balloon pieces. Children have drawn pieces of broken balloons, that they were playing with, into their throats. If a balloon breaks and is not discarded, for example, some children may continue to play with it, chewing on pieces of the balloon or attempting to stretch it across their mouths and such or blow bubbles in it. These balloon pieces are easily sucked into the throat.

Balloons, by their very nature, are made to hold air inside, and to prevent any air from passing through. Should a balloon or a piece of a balloon be drawn into the throat, it will be just as effective in preventing air into the throat. Furthermore, balloons easily mold to the throat's contours and adhere. An uninflated balloon or piece of a balloon can completely cover and block the breathing passage.

Because of the danger of suffocation, the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) recommends that parents and guardians do not allow children under the age of six to play with uninflated balloons without supervision. The commission does not believe that a completely inflated balloon presents a hazard to young children. If the balloon breaks, however, CPSC recommends that parents immediately collect the pieces of the broken balloon and dispose of them out of the reach of the children.

Student business loans available this summer

I am pleased to announce that the federal government and the Federal Business Development Bank (FBDB) will once again offer the Student Business Loans program this summer.

Now in its sixth year, the program will offer interest-free loans of up to $3,000 to encourage students to start their own businesses and put their creative ideas to work. Student Business Loans are part of the federal government's summer employment program for students called Challenge '90. Employment and Immigration Canada has overall responsibility for the coordination and financing of the program.

How eligible students apply

Interested students must first pick up an application and applicant's guide from a Canada Employment Centre, Canada Employment Centre for Students or at any branch of the Federal Business Development Bank, or the Royal Bank of Canada. The application covers such items as the type of business the student intends to start, the number of employees, projected revenues and the repayment plan for the loan.

Completed applications must then be returned to a local FBDB branch for analysis no later than June 15, 1990. If the idea seems sound, students receive a letter of approval which they present to a participating chartered bank and the authorized amount is deposited in the student's account. The loans are based solely on the business merits of each application and bear no interest if students repay in full, on or before October 8, 1990. Participants who repay their loans before September 7, 1990, are eligible for a $100 rebate.

A program that works
The number and amount of loans as well as the number of jobs created under the Student Business Loans program have increased each year since the program began in 1985. Last year, 655 loans worth $1.7 million created 1,618 jobs or 2.47 jobs for each loan. In 1988, 566 loans were granted for $1.4 million.

Last summer, in Manitoba, 456 jobs were created by student entrepreneurs through 117 approved loans. They were worth $324,100.00. The program is also becoming increasingly popular among female students and younger students. The number of loans made to women increased 22 percent over the previous summer, greater than the 15 percent increase in loans to male students. And statistics on the age distribution of borrowers show that the greatest annual growth in 1989 occurred in the 15 to 18 year age bracket.

The Student Business Loans program will serve students in Newfoundland, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Yukon and the Northwest Territories. Assistance is available to student entrepreneurs in other areas through provincially administered programs of a similar nature.

The Federal Business Development Bank (FBDB) is a Crown corporation that promotes the creation and development of businesses in Canada. It pays particular attention to small and medium-sized businesses. The bank provides term loans and loan guarantees, venture capital, and a broad range of management training, counselling and planning services.

Winni-Beau District welcomes Colonies

by Roberta Winnemuller
4-H Program Assistant
Manitoba Agriculture
Beausejour, 268-1411

Another busy month has come and gone and we are all set for yet another. I have visited with the Brokenhead Busy Bunch, Whitemouth Combined Club, Lac du Bonnet 4-H Club, Winnipeg River Club, and Brokenhead Beef Club. They are all busy setting up their achievements days and good luck to all of you!

The Winni-Beau District would like to welcome the Greenwald and Whiteshell colonies into the 4-H program. I know that you will truly find it a great learning experience and I hope each of you will enjoy being a member.

Annelies Vervaeke, our district representative, and myself, attended the Manitoba 4-H council annual meeting held March 9 and 10, at the Westward Village Inn, Portage la Prairie. It proved to be a great learning experience as well as dealing with resolutions and other business matters pertaining to 4-H locally and provincially. It was a well run conference with time to learn some special skills as well.

Junior conference on March 17 and 18, was a huge success in spite of poor road conditions. The highlight of the weekend was, of course, a visit from Rob Black, a CBC sportscaster. 4-H members also took part in bowling, swimming, learning sessions, as well as a banquet and candlelighting ceremony. All 39 members, who ranged in age from 12 to 14, had a great time. The members who attended from the Winni-Beau district were Jos Vervaeke, Carrie Brown, Robert Lachance and Catherine Weselak from the Brokenhead Busy Bunch; Nicole Tridall from Whitemouth Combine; and Anita Winnemuller and Ian Shumilak from the Brokenhead Beef Club. I would like to thank my very able staff, Diane Kearn, Nina Edbom, Gilbert Therrien and Danny Drewniak. Without people like you an event such as this would not be possible.

A list of achievement days will perhaps be of interest to 4-H leaders and members to take part in another achievement other than your own. What better way to gather new information and ideas. The club achievements are as follows:

- April 17 — Lac du Bonnet Club Achievement, Catholic Church Basement, Lac du Bonnet.
 - April 23 — Winnipeg River Club Achievement, United Church, Pine Falls.
 - May 3 — Brokenhead Busy Bunch Club Achievement, Brokenhead Hall, Brokenhead.
 - May 4 — Whitemouth Club Achievement, Community Hall, Whitemouth.
 - May 7 — Beausejour Brilliants Club Achievement, Dugards Park, Beausejour.
 - August 11 — Brokenhead Beef Club Achievement, Agricultural Fair Grounds, Beausejour.
- I wish you all a happy Easter and good luck at your achievements.

Winni-Beau District Public Speaking took place on Friday, March 23, 1990, at the Edward Schreyer School, Beausejour. Congratulations to all who participated and good luck to those who will now advance to regionals in Steinbach on April 7. The Royal Bank sponsors the trophies for this event and the members would like to join with me in thanking them. The following members will advance to regionals: juniors — Kristal Goritz, topic Winter Fun, and Michelle Lachance, topic Cats, both are from the Brokenhead Busy Bunch. Intermediate — Carrie Brown, topic People Feathers; she belongs to the Brokenhead Busy Bunch and from Lac du Bonnet, Penny Byron, topic Emotions. Seniors — Jason Brown from the Brokenhead Busy Bunch, topic Medicine Show, and Jennifer Merke from Whitemouth Combined, topic Quit While You're Ahead.

We have all come back from spring break rested and refreshed for a very busy April. Don't forget the following dates: Regional Communications, April 7, 1990, in Steinbach, demonstrations starting at 10:00 a.m. and public speaking at 1:00 p.m.

Rally Planning Meeting, April 18, in the Beausejour Government Building, at 7:30 p.m. District Council Meeting, April 15, in Whitemouth at 7:30 p.m. Rally, May 12, in Dugald. The Winni-Beau District Spring Dinner will be on Friday, April 20, in the Brokenhead Community Hall, Brokenhead, at 6:30 p.m. The district gold watches will be presented at this time. So all 4-H leaders and senior members come out and enjoy an evening of entertainment and good food.

Plant growth, regulators, pH acidifiers, soil conditioners and other soil supplements Caution is advised with respect to spending money on pH acidifiers designed to lower the pH in the soil (to make the soil more acidic) and soil supplements which are claimed to improve root growth and development, and reduce the need for commercial fertilizer. Investigations indicate that many of these products will increase acidity for only a short time (like a few hours). They also do not add to phosphorus availability, are not a good source of sulphur, and do not increase yields as is often claimed by the manufacturers.

While farm fertilizers, i.e. 11-51-0, do not need to be registered under the Fertilizer Act, most so-called soil supplements or conditioners do need to be registered. If such products do not carry a registration number under Agriculture Canada's Plant Products Fertilizer Act, it probably means they are being marketed illegally.

Check with this office about pH acidifiers, soil conditioners, soil supplements, or low analysis organic fertilizers before purchasing.

Market outlook for 1990 crop
Wheat is the major crop with the brightest outlook in 1990. The problem is that current wheat prices have failed to reflect supply/demand realities. The Canadian Wheat Board initial prices, to be announced later this month, will likely be $150 to $155/tonne ($4.22/bushel). Not very good when wheat stocks are down everywhere in the world. If dryness threatens the winter and spring wheat crops in the U.S.A., prices could take off later in the season and C.W.B. prices could be adjusted.

Barley and the world feed/grain situation is also one of tight supplies and rising demand. Old crop barley prices and sales have been strong, but new season barley will react to the announcements of a large U.S.A. corn acreage for the year. Wheat Board prices for barley should be about the same in 1990/91 crop year. If so, domestic markets should be a premium compared to the new CWB initial price.

Oats for feed will likely have weak prices to start, i.e. $60 to $65/tonne ($1.02 bushel), but high quality specialty milling oats will likely be higher than those of 1989/90 because the export market for the oats is now better developed.
