Knit-wits help children cope with medical care

by Linda J. Dalgliesh

A small group of Winnipeg Women's Institute ladies have been working on a special project for the Pine Falls Health Complex. They make knit-wits! These small stuffed knitted dolls are to be given to comfort children who may find medical care a little overwhelming. Finger puppets are a recent addition to the crew of multi-coloured dolls which are "no two alike".

Peggy McMullen, Sharon Ogg and Edith Bourgeois met at the Library Allard over cups of tea to sew some up. They would like to produce at least twenty a month.

The knit-wits are very well received at the hospital by nursing staff and young patients alike.

Donations of scrap yard and stuffing are gratefully received. Knitters and stuffers and sewers are also needed. Contact a WRWI member for more information. The WRWI performs many similar worthwhile projects. They know how to combine work with fun and fellowship.

American Consul-General visits Fort Alexander

by Linda J. Dalgliesh

The American Consul-General for the Prairie Region, Bill Witting of Calgary, recently made a tour of his region meeting with various government leaders. He met with Premier Devine of Alberta, Premier Filmon of Manitoba, the government house leader of the North West Territories, and Chief Jerry Fontaine of Sagkeeng First Nation on the Fort Alexander Reserve.

Chief Jerry Fontaine said in a telephone interview on Tuesday, October 15 that by including Sagkeeng in his tour, Witting was giving "the government awareness of the First Nation status."

Witting was given a tour of the reserve on Saturday, October 12. He had a discussion with Fontaine and other council members. He was then treated to a feast with entertainment by the White Eagle Singers and the young Fort Alexander square dancers who have impressed local people with their high calibre performances this past year.

Witting wanted to find out first hand about the aboriginal people in Canada. Witting and Fontaine spoke about native self-government, the future of native people, and the relationship of Canada and the U.S.A. with special emphasis on Free Trade and native people.

Fontaine said that reserves are an ideal Free Trade zone. They have special advantages such as their unique taxation situation and a system of government conducive to business. He also said a reserve is in a sense like a Third World or developing country in the midst of the North American industrial heartland.

Move clocks back

Manitoba clocks move back one hour in the early morning of Sunday, October 27, when standard time returns to the province.

Under the Official Time Act, daylight saving time, uniform for the entire province, begins the first Sunday in April, and ends on the last Sunday in October.

This year, the official reversion to standard time occurs precisely at 3:00 a.m. October 27, at which time clocks are turned back to 2:00 a.m.

Peggy McMullen, Sharon Ogg and Edith Bourgeois are part of the "Knit-Whit"ty WRWI members making dolls for Pine Falls Health Complex's young patients.

Biker raises $3,000 for MS

by Jill Papineau

I would like to thank all those who contributed so generously to the Multiple Sclerosis Bike Tour 150.

The second annual tour attracted 548 riders up from 295 last year. In total we raised $140,000 in 1991.

The amount which I raised was over $3,000.00, coming in second highest fund raiser in this provincial event.

This year's event went off without a hitch. Magnificent coordination of 200 volunteers; help from corporate sponsors and cooperating weather made this an event everyone looks forward to returning to.

Yes! I rode all the way --

WR Planning District will host 12th annual district seminar

by Linda Papineau

The Winnipeg River Planning District will be hosting the twelfth annual planning districts' seminar on Monday and Tuesday, January 13 and 14, 1992 at the Great Falls Community Hall.

The theme for the 1992 seminar is Planning in One Industry Communities. (Industry also refers to agriculture.) The keynote speaker will be Dennis Young, chairman of the Association of One Industry Towns in Canada.

Richard Lowing, chairman of the Winnipeg River Planning District will make opening remarks. The WRPD is hosting this noteworthy event. John Whiting, director of Municipal Planning will also speak.

Efi Walterson will speak on The State of Our Rural Communities. There will be a video on the agricultural community. A speaker will address the Portage Airbase closing. Hon. James E. Downey, Minister of Rural Development, will give words from the province. Grandview, Pinawa, Russell, and Winkler communities will make presentations. There will be a panel discussion. Tours will be available of the Pine Falls Newsprint Mill and Great Falls Generating Station. Workshops by a development officer John Reimer and on a municipal case study will be held Tuesday.

This province wide event will attract visitors from all over Manitoba. Let's do our best to show them the beauties and potential for business in our unique Winnipeg River District.

Contact Marlene Watson, secretary-treasurer of the WRPD for more information.

National Family Week

Winnipeg River WI sponsors poster, poem contest

by Linda J. Dalglish

National Family Week was held October 7-13. The Winnipeg River Women's Institute sponsored a poster and poem contest on the theme Building Better Family Environments. Posters were for those up to and including 10 years old; poems for ages 11 and up. The posters are on display at the Library Allard. There were no entries in the poem contest this year.

Erin Boychuk, a new resident to our community, received an international prize in a Parents Without Partners non-fiction writing contest recently. Boychuk wrote the story two years ago when she was in Grade 5. She competed against entries from all over Canada, USA, Australia, and some from Europe. There were many other categories in the contest, including Art, Calligraphy, Printing, Crafts, Sculpture and Writing.

Boychuk first won at the local level in Winnipeg where she used to live. The Winnipeg chapter is Stepping Stones Chapter 350. Approximately 600-700 people attend Parents Without Partners in Winnipeg. A number of local people commute to Winnipeg to attend the sports, social and family events.

Erin's mom Marilyn married Leo "Spuddy" Dean of Powerview in July. Their "blended" family consists of Erin (12) and Cameron (10) Boychuk and Robert (11) and Joey (9) Dean.

Erin wrote her book The Children's Book of Divorce with the help and encouragement of her school counselor Mrs. Barger of Lavallee School. The book is part of the collection at the school library. Erin said the book helped some of her school friends handle their parents' divorce better.

Erin Boychuk has chosen to share her book with The Review in hopes it will help more young people deal with this widely prevalent family situation.

The Children's Book of Divorce

by Erin Boychuk

I know a lot about divorce. I know because my mom and dad are divorced. You kids may be pretty sad, but I hope you'll get over it, like I did.

When I found out my mom and dad were divorced, my dad left for five days -- and then he came home and told us where he'd been and all about the divorce. He said he would have to move out and live somewhere else.

What I'm saying is that not all marriages last forever. Like my mom and dad's -- and maybe your mom and dad's. There are probably more divorced families in Canada and in the U.S.A. than anywhere else in the world.

Do you know what I am telling you or do you understand what I am saying about your parents being divorced and how sad it can be when your family is split apart? If you are the littlest in the family -- like two or three years old -- you will see your dad less than when you were living with him. If you are seven or over, you will probably see your dad for a whole weekend, but if you are younger, you might see him for only one day, because your dad might not know all about raising the younger kids. So if you are older, your dad may have your little sister or brother for one day a week. Please be patient when your dad has your baby sister or brother. After he takes them home, maybe he will spend the rest of the weekend with you. I hope you understand what I'm telling you. I HOPE you do.

Now I'm going to tell you a little story about how I felt after the divorce: well, I really did keep to myself a lot more than usual. I could hardly eat or sleep. I was so upset because I missed my dad. All my friends wanted to know what was wrong, but Parents Spuddy and Marilyn Dean are proud of daughter Erin Boychuk who wrote the prize winning book "The Children's Book of Divorce".

I couldn't tell them yet. (I was shy because I thought they would make fun of me.) But when I finally told one friend, she understood because her mom and dad were divorced too. Then I told all my friends and I was so glad that they did not make fun of me...so now I don't keep to myself any more.

If your parents are divorced, you really should tell someone (like a really good friend), like I did. My friend was Lorri-Ann Rochon. I'm glad I told her first. Thanks, Lorri-Ann and you will be so glad you did...that's the end of my story about how I felt after the divorce.

Please remember, don't blame the divorce on you because you have nothing to do with the divorce of your parents. It happened because your mom and dad didn't love each other any more. So don't blame it on yourself. Tell your mom and dad your feelings about the divorce, and how you feel about dad moving out. Sometimes it's the mom who moves, but in my case it was my dad. When you see your dad, talk with him if you can. Some parents won't even let their children see or talk to the parent who moves out.

I know when you get used to the divorce, you won't feel so bad inside. But please tell someone about what's happened -- like a friend or teacher -- or a teddy bear that's your favorite -- or even a pet -- and you'll feel better.

If you remember all the things that I told you about divorce, I think your life will be happier than it was before.

Manitoba Clean Environment hearings Abitibi-Price seen as good corporate citizen

by Linda J. Dalglish

Manitoba Clean Environment Hearings regarding Abitibi-Price Inc.'s Woodlands operation request for a continuation of their Forest Management License were held in St. Georges on October 16, 17, 18 and in Winnipeg on October 19.

Abitibi-Price personnel put together an excellent presentation on the 1991-98 Forest Management Operating Plan. David Chown, Harold Peacock and Vince Keenan presented the material using overhead projectors, slides, pictures, videos, maps and literature. It was a well coordinated, thorough report. A great many people in the Woodlands department contributed time, effort, expertise and suggestions. Months of labour went into the presentation.

Synthen Resources Limited made a similar presentation regarding the Environmental Impact Assessment they had been hired to execute by Abitibi-Price. Harold Westdal, Peter Ashton and Ruth Marr provided insight only into current conditions but projections into the future and recommendations on how to deal with programs.

The Clean Environment

Commission consisted of Maurice Blanchard of Portage la Prairie, Len Flett from Winnipeg, Joan Vestby from Swan River and Barrie Wester from Winnipeg, and Dale Stewart. Acting chairman was Randall Smith of Brandon.

Presentations were made locally by the North East Sustainable Development Association, Pineview Economic Development Group, and TREE. Other presentations were made in Winnipeg.

The commission has 90 days to make a report to the minister. Following that, the minister has to make a recommendation to the provincial government. Representatives were in attendance from the Department of the Environment. Their report seemed fairly positive.

The Review will be making a more detailed report on the hearings in the next few weeks.

The first impression most people received was that Abitibi-Price is regarded as a good corporate citizen, but because these detailed assessments were unique in the province, many groups were using it as a forum to discuss a wide variety of environmental and forest management practises.

The Abitibi-Price Pine Falls Woodland Department presented their suggestions for a new eight-year plan to the Clean Environment Commission Hearings in Pine Falls last week. Left to right: William G. Ryall of Fillmore & Riley, David Chown, Harold Peacock and Vince Keenan.

Clean Environment Commission members Maurice Blanchard, Len Flett, Joan Vestby, Barrie Webster, and Dale Stewart. Acting Chairman was Randall Smith.

Full investigation will be launched into baby's death

by Linda J. Dalglish

On Wednesday, October 9, a baby from Little Black River died at Pine Falls Hospital. A review is being undertaken by the Provincial Medical Examiner Dr. Peter Markestyn. Val Mackay, hospital administrator, said that the report will take anywhere from weeks to months. She said that everyone at the hospital is upset.

Residents of Little Black

River are also upset. Everyone knows everyone in the small community of 750 people. When one family grieves, the whole reserve grieves.

Chief Frank Abraham said that they are pushing for a full investigation into the death of the baby. Abraham is not happy with the quality of medical care available to people of their community and would like to see changes made.

The other side of gun control

For many western Canadians, the idea of growing up with a firearm hanging on the wall is as natural as digging the potatoes in the fall. To many eastern Canadians, they just do not understand.

Thus this month we have been thrust smack back into the middle of the gun-control debate (again) and, this time, the allegations are coming thick and fast from a well-organized anti-gun lobby with offices in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Vancouver.

In an interview with the president of the Coalition for Gun Control Wendy Cukier earlier this month, she levelled her sights straight on the Commons' committee studying the issue. And, to make certain where the heavy anti-gun lobby was coming from, I also ascertained that the CGC has as one of its officers Heidi Rathjen of Ottawa, who was a student at the Montreal Polytechnic when Marc Lepine did his shoot-out against women.

Cukier now claims that MP Dr. Jim Hawkes has stacked the committee "with MPs who are sensitive to the interests of gun owners".

In our interview, she fired from the hip: "The gun lobby cannot win on the facts. The experts — doctors, police, criminologists — want gun control. The mayors of cities across the country want gun control. And the polls show that the majority of

Warren Speaks

Canadians want gun control. But Jim Hawkes has stacked the deck."

She claims that the Commons' committee is loaded with rural MPs — Dave Worthy of Cariboo-Chilcotin, B.C.; Doug Fee, Red Deer, Alta.; Blaine Thacker, Lethbridge, Alta.; Rear-Admiral Fred Mifflin from Bonavista, Nfld.; and others.

"The bias of this committee is obvious," she told me. "People who are most likely to support gun control, women and city dwellers, are not represented on the committee."

I really do not know whether we need any tighter laws than we have now, with our legislation being far tougher than American rules. Besides that, the Americans have a vastly different psychological feeling about firearms than we do because "the right" is written into their constitution.

Cukier figured, in our interview, that "common sense and the will of the majority would pave the way for reform", but I am not sure she has been reading the same public-opinion polls I have seen, particularly those surveys from western Canada, specifically rural western Canada.

Despite the fact that I do not think many rural Manitobans would want to join the Coalition for Gun Control, I promised Cukier that I would be fair and make their number public for applications, kits, and postcards destined for MPs — 1-416-979-5316.

And, also to be fair, I'll pass on the facts and figures that this group claims to represent gun trouble in our country today:

I have not been able to check the Coalition's statistics with any official figures because they did not reveal whether they were quoting from StatsCan or their own sources.

However, in the hope that a reader of this newspaper can inform us all, whether they are correct or not, Cukier told me (among other things) that:

More than 1,400 Canadians die from

Chief Fontaine says business/native community are co-dependent

As of October 15, Chief Jerry Fontaine said that the boycott of several local businesses is on-going. Some discussion is taking place. Fontaine said, "We made our point."

Fontaine pointed out that the local businesses and the native community are co-dependent. "If the mill closes, we'll stay," he said. "It's our home."

Chief Fontaine believes that "Sagkeeng, Pine Falls, Powerview and St. Georges...we are a community. We have to look to solving our problems in a community."

Letters to the Editor

Canadians must ask plenty of questions

Dear Mr. Editor:

Canada revisited, renewed federalism, shaping Canada's future, or Meech Lake II? Take your pick.

The proposals announced in Mulroney's recent constitutional package require Canadians ask themselves some important questions.

Questions such as:

- 1) Do we want a "distinct society" clause, or do we want a clause recognizing "the uniqueness and equality of all of Canada's citizens, and the uniqueness and equality of all of Canada's provinces?"
- 2) Do we want jurisdiction of environmental protection to be given away to the provinces, or do we see this requiring a national (indeed, global) policy structure?

(Mr. Bourassa, no doubt, will see the current proposals as his ticket to complete his pet James Bay Hydro Project, no matter how this affects the James Bay Cree, Inuit and the environment.)

3) Do we see the council of the federation as an innovative and necessary third level of government, or do we see it as enshrining the Meech Lake process...in law?

4) Do we see the council of the federation as an innovative and necessary third level of government, or do we see it as enshrining the Meech Lake process...in law?

Read the fine print on this one folks. Clever phrasing! (? smoke and mirrors for entrenching secret deals behind closed doors).

most of the senate seats to two provinces...Ontario and Quebec).

I urge Canadians to ask plenty of questions and to make their concerns known.

If you want a referendum on the "final" package, for goodness sake, SAY SO.

Any government at 12% in the polls will say they are "listening" to the people. Only your letter or phone call will make them "pay attention".

gunshot wounds every year, more than people who die from AIDS and (on a per-capita basis — gun-ownership versus automobile-ownership) way more than the "approximately 3,000 people" who die in car accidents annually.

She also claimed that fifty percent of all Canadians who die from gunshot wounds are women. Frankly, I do not see the relevance of that figure.

I have done my duty and reported the other side of the story from a column carried earlier this year. But please let me know what you think about this latest lobby.

Scandalous case of discrimination

Things I wouldn't know if I didn't read the weeklies...

When Alberta's weekly editors were invited to meet in Edmonton with Messrs. Mulroney and Mazankowski, one who responded was Hugh Johnston of the Devon Dispatch. Part of his report warrants national attention.

"Joyce Webster, publisher of the Coronation Review and president of the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association, voiced the concerns of the weeklies directly to the prime minister."

"She deposited a copy of Maclean's magazine which mails for around six and a half cents, a copy of the Edmonton Journal which mails for around nineteen cents to out-of-town subscribers, and a copy of her small weekly that after next March 1, will cost fifty-one cents to mail to out-of-town readers."

She told the PM that this scandalous case of discrimination would be particularly hard on senior citizens who like to keep in touch with their home towns. A clearly surprised Mulroney promised to take the Webster comments up with officialdom.

Not all the news is of the inspirational variety.

I was offended when I read in the Opasquia Times about Dave "Tiger" Williams making an ass of himself.

Williams was guest speaker at a chamber of commerce dinner. His racist remarks were so offensive that a local doctor interrupted the presentation to register objections. The mayor of The Pas and representatives of local Indian bands walked out in protest.

In its next edition, the Opasquia Times said that in the battle against racism we must not only look for bedsheets and cross-burnings, we must look within ourselves, we must wonder about the degree to which we may "...enjoy cruel and derogatory comments about our neighbors and friends..."

There's another aboriginal story from southeastern Manitoba. When the Roseau River First Nation decided to go into the gambling business in a big way, the Steinbach Carillon questioned this decision.

The Carillon laments the "exploitation of vice" exemplified in operating a casino and big-dollar bingos. The Roseau Reserve bingo has an admission price of eight dollars and prize money of sixty-thousand dollars.

Back to the bad news department. The Lac du Bonnet Leader reports that several area farmers have been informed that no longer can they deduct farm losses from their off-farm income. Revenue Canada has declared these farming operations have no reasonable expectation of operating at a profit.

(On this basis, the tax department could wipe out the prairie farm industry.)

The weeklies also keep me in touch with interesting seniors, like Ralph Butchart, of Lac du Bonnet.

Ralph is a youngster of eighty-five who's been golfing for seventy years. He does so with remarkable determination. Not only does he play four rounds a week all summer, but last winter he played one-hundred and thirty rounds in Texas.

I also read about tough-luck golfers like Brent Graham, of Swan Hills. When Brent went golfing in the Barrhead tournament, he knew that the Treasury Branch was offering five thousand dollars for a hole-in-one.

He got a hole-in-one. He went to collect his money. Only then he learned that his ace was scored on Monday, and the offer was good for Sunday only.

Druids is the sort of book I wait patiently for, and every couple of years one does turn up. If you read Lion of Ireland you will have been waiting for this new book, and you will not be disappointed.

Ancient Gaul is the place, and this is in the time of Caesar's campaign to take over Free Gaul. The tale is about the Celts and their ancient ways. It is about men who greet one another with "I greet you as a free person"; tribes who followed the old ways, the old religion. It is about a people who sang, and it is about lost dreams.

This is the story of Ainwar, chief druid of the Order of the Wise. His sorcery and his struggle to keep his people and their earth in harmony is a fascinating tale.

Chief Fontaine says 5% okay, but wants additional benefits

by Linda J. Dalglish
Chief Jerry Fontaine said if you had asked him ten years ago if he would be supporting a pulp and paper industry at any time, he would have said no. Today, he is giving provisional support to the local buy out of the Pine Falls pulp and paper operation.

Fontaine in a telephone interview on October 15 said that "the mill deal cannot go without us." Initially, Sagkeeng wanted a higher percentage but now they are satisfied with the proffered five percent. They are asking for a number of additional benefits, such as a guaranteed commitment to employment and business opportunities such as trucking, and silviculture businesses such as a tree nursery and tree planting. They would also like a new scholarship fund to be set up to provide five Anicinabe people each year with opportunities for higher education in engineering, business administration or computers which would assist them in getting better jobs in the new company. They are also discussing possible economic development funds in the form of loans and grants for entrepreneurs in small businesses, particularly in the service industry. They will also have a seat on the board, which will provide them with an opportunity for continued input.

Fontaine says they are not going into the deal blindly. They want environmental assurances regarding the discharge of effluent, stricter environmental guidelines, and an environmental audit. The projected modernization of the mill and woodroom should solve most problems. They also strongly support the projected new company's interest in recycling and de-inking. They do not see a future involvement unless these concerns are addressed.

The chief does not have 100% support of his people for his involvement in the new deal. Many feel that it violates their personal beliefs and values to support a pulp and paper company. Most people, like Fontaine, see it as an opportunity which will benefit their community.

Our efforts were rewarded by believing in our cause and knowing we were helping with money for research, support groups and equipment.

One out of 500 Canadians has M.S. but one out of 350 Manitobans has M.S., making us highest per capita in Canada.

At the windup in the Westin Hotel October 1, Panasonic presented me with a five disc CD player for my fund raising efforts, which included canvassing family, friends, knocking on doors and holding a bike sale.

I couldn't have done it without the unselfish support from all family members, good friends and the community who gave so generously.

On behalf of all those you have helped, thank you.

MS meeting to form self-help group

The Multiple Sclerosis Society is striving to set up a Multiple Sclerosis self-help group in eastern Manitoba for people with MS, their family and friends. The group will try to include individuals from Oakbank, White-mouth, Pine Falls, Pinawa, Lac du Bonnet and Beausejour. Meeting will take place in Beausejour.

An organizational meeting for this group will be taking place on October 24, 1991 at the Beausejour Provincial Building at 7:30 p.m.

Stews — a comfort food

As the weather cools down outside we often turn to the indoors for comfort. There's nothing like a pot of stew simmering on the stove to warm the heart.

The Manitoba Vegetable Producers' Marketing Board has a good supply of root crop vegetables; namely, beets, carrots, cooking onions, parsnips, potatoes and rutabagas. These are all perfect for a tasty pot of stew.

A winter stew pot simmering on the stove provides a flavorful and inviting aroma that triggers memories of a different era when home meant comfort, security and family.

Old time favorite stews complement the health conscious, fast-paced lifestyles we lead. Stews are one of the most economical and nutritious meals ever invented. This one dish entree combined with one dinner roll covers all four food groups in the Canada Food Guide. A stew containing an assortment of root vegetables is packed with the vitamins and nutrients we need to fend off the winter chills.

Stews require little fuss, supervision or time. With a little pre-planning the day before they're even easier. Just cut all the vegetables the day before and then all you need to do is throw them in the pot the next day.

Whether you use the oven, stove-top, crockpot or microwave, a stew requires little more than two hours of cooking. This is enough time for all the flavors to blend and still keep the crisp texture of the vegetables.

Chunky pork stew
1 lb. (500 g) lean pork, cut into 1-inch (2.5 cm) cubes
2 tbsp. all purpose flour (25 ml)
1 tbsp. (15 ml) vegetable oil
5 onions
1 clove garlic, minced
2 carrots, sliced
1 celery stalk, sliced
1-1/2 tsp. (7 ml) chopped fresh thyme or 1/2 tsp. dried
1/4 tsp. (1 ml) pepper
1-1/3 cups (325 ml) chicken stock
2 potatoes, quartered
1 cup (250 ml) frozen peas
1 tbsp. (15 ml) cold water

Lightly dust pork with about half of the flour. In heavy ovenproof skillet, heat 2 tsp. (10 ml) of the oil over medium-high heat; brown pork. Remove and set aside. Chop one of the onions. Add remaining oil, chopped onion, garlic, carrots, celery, thyme and pepper to skillet; reduce heat to medium-low, cover and cook for about five minutes or until vegetables are softened and browned. Add chicken stock, stirring to scrape up brown bits from bottom of skillet. Return pork to skillet; cover and bake in 350°F (180°C) oven for 20 minutes. Add potatoes and remaining whole onions; bake for 20 minutes. Add peas. Stir remaining flour into water; stir into skillet. Bake for 10 minutes or until stew boils and thickens. Adjust seasoning, adding salt if desired.

Mona Bossi honored for her valued contribution to Library Allard

by Linda J. Dalglish
Mona Bossi was recently honored at a farewell because of her outstanding contribution to the Library Allard and the community where her family has lived for the past ten years. Prior to coming to the Winnipeg River area, Max and Mona Bossi and their children Vahid, Naim and Omid lived in Selkirk for eight years and Winnipeg for one year. Max and Mona have lived together or separately in such places as Iceland, Switzerland, Tanganika and Iran. They are moving to Duncan, B.C. on Vancouver Island but will be summer visitors in St. Georges.

Mona, who is keenly interested in the welfare of children and enjoys a wide variety of arts and crafts, proved a welcome addition to the Library Allard staff for the past eight years. She helped establish a children's arts and crafts program and story time, quilting workshops, parka workshops and a Friends of the Library program.

Max also took an interest in the library. He helped with the interior design of the library, and built some of the furniture in it.

Max Bossi has held a variety of positions in the community both for employment and as a volunteer. Max will continue to work for NESDA, developing a series of educational and recreational trails in the area. He will commute from Duncan, B.C.

Vahid Bossi is presently studying in Haifa Israel and Naim and Omid are attending a B'Hai School in B.C.

Mona and Max are well known for their volunteer work in a variety of organizations including the Winnipeg River Women's Institute, the Manitou Rapids Arts Council, the 4P Festival and others. Mona's cheery Book Nook articles will be missed by Review readers.

While Mona and Max will be missed by area residents, they will remain in close touch with their many friends and acquaintances. They will be returning frequently to the community they made their home for ten years. The Bossi's have a gift for developing relationships with their friendly manner, ready humor, quick wit and deep enjoyment of people and life.

Fire by-law gets third reading by Village of Powerview council

by Linda J. Dalgliesh

At the Village of Powerview meeting on October 8, the new fire by-law researched and compiled by Councillor Allan Tardiff received third reading. Mayor Frank Thibedeau commended Tardiff on a job well done. One provision of the by-law requires burning permits. Contact the Village office for more information.

It was decided to purchase more Christmas lights for Powerview. Purchase is to be overseen by the Public Works Department.

The revised water rate study was to be discussed on October 11 at a special meeting.

The fence will be removed around the old lagoon as it is not necessary any longer.

The drain on Main Street needed to be attended to due to prior plugging. A video camera from the sewage people determined that roots was the problem.

Ka-Wawiyak Friendship Centre was given a grant of $15 towards their annual children's Hallowe'en party.

The board of revision will meet Tuesday, November 12 at 7:00 p.m. to discuss tax assessment raising and lowering.

It was decided to postpone discussion about purchase of a FAX machine until next year's budget considerations.

Mayor Frank Thibedeau reported that the Pine Falls General Hospital will be holding community meetings in the immediate future.

Grey Cup '91

The mother of all parties

by Jack Matheson

They're going to play a football game in Winnipeg on the 24th of November. Which may or may not be a good idea, we'll find out soon enough.

This will be the 79th Grey Cup game, of course, and the first time they've ever taken a chance on Winnipeg. Probably the last, too, unless Kindly Cal Murphy, the Blue Bomber GM, gets the domed stadium he has his heart set on.

The game, for the football championship of our home and native land, is the crown jewel, at least it's supposed to be. Before that, though, will be the mother of all parties, because that's what the Grey Cup, or Grey Cup week, is all about. Presumably, the city will have everything nailed down.

Skeptics say that there's so much activity on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday that the world is one huge hangover on Sunday and the game is practically incidental. Picky, picky.

There'll be something for everybody, that's a guarantee. From a free family party for one and all to get things

Curious?

Manitoba Hydro is clearing and levelling ground for a staff parking lot behind their present building.

Pine Falls had two Winnipeg surveyors, tracking down long metal spikes and taking measurements on the lot beside the Legion Hall on October 3. The Legion Hall is planning a building expansion and parking lot some time soon.

rolling to a fancy dinner at $160.50 (gulp) per plate. From a kickoff pep rally on the Wednesday night to the post-game shindig four nights later. From the Miss Grey Cup contest with all that beauty to the Blue Bomber alumni with all that brawn.

Something for everybody, indeed.

This is the whole schmeer, as they say, in chronological order:

Wed., Nov. 20, 5:45 - 7:00 p.m. — Family kickoff with fireworks, entertainment and that's when they turn the Christmas lights on for the next month or so. Free coffee and hot chocolate.

Wed., Nov. 20, 7:30 p.m. - 3:00 a.m. — Kickoff rally at the Convention Centre. Food, entertainment, mingling with football VIP's and pretty girls. They're expecting a few thousand, so get there early.

Wed., Nov. 20, from 7:30 on — Pin trading, and this is one get-together that will never stop. Well, you know how pin-traders are. This is at the Convention Centre, naturally.

Thurs., Nov. 21, 7:30 a.m. — Eye-opener breakfast sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, at the Westin.

Thurs., Nov. 21, 7:30 p.m. - 3:00 a.m. — Rendezvous de la Coupe Grey, and you know what that means. Aboriginal and francophone communities team up to present their style of food and festivities. At the Convention Centre.

Fri., Nov. 22, 7:00 - 10:00 p.m. Convention Centre — Miss Grey Cup '91. An eight-course meal, featuring a traditional delicacy from each CFL city, plus all that pulchritude, or is that a sexist comment?

Fri., Nov. 22, 7:30 p.m. - 3:00 a.m. — Wild West Blintz, at the Convention Centre. Just what the name implies, check your horse at the door.

Sat., Nov. 23, 1:00 - 2:30 p.m. — Through the streets of Winnipeg. The Grey Cup parade, what else? The theme is Heroes and don't be surprised if it's the best parade ever. One of the heroes, incidentally, will be S. Claus, from the North Pole.

Sat., Nov. 23, 7:30 p.m. - 3:00 a.m. — Third and Goal, with the Blue Bomber Alumni front and centre. This party's for those who can't afford the Grey Cup dinner, obviously.

Sat., Nov. 23, 7:30 p.m. — Still at the Convention Centre, the gushy, glitzy Grey Cup Royale Dinner, at $160.50, which includes the GST, thank goodness.

Then, of course, there's the game on Sunday, just don't ask who's playing. Kickoff's at 1:30 p.m. with Burton Cummings singing O Canada. After the game, everybody back to the Convention Centre.

Meanwhile, Calgary Stamps will have a breakfast. So will the Eskimos. The Roughriders (Sask.) have a party after the parade, the Rods will have a reunion on the Friday, there'll be a festival at Le Rendezvous, the symphony and the opera will have Grey Cup specials, there'll be the CFL Outstanding Player Awards, etc., etc.

That's what the man said, the mother of all parties. Absolutely, and if you don't have any stamina, stay home. Just remember that it'll likely never happen again, an outdoor Grey Cup right here in our front yard.

Digging deep for farmers

On October 10, my cabinet colleague, the Honourable Bill McKnight announced an $800 million farm aid package to assist Canadian farmers with their current financial difficulties.

The $800 million package is a major contribution from the taxpayers of Canada and the bulk of the aid will be given to grain farmers, who have been hit hard by low world market prices for their products. The current low prices have been created by large subsidies from the United States and the European Economic community. Elimination of trade distorting subsidies would cause wheat prices to rise but until that issue is settled through GATT, the Canadian government will help farmers to the greatest extent possible. Seven hundred million dollars in aid will be given to grain farmers. The delivery method of that aid will be determined by the Third Line of Defense Committee, an advisory group of farm leaders and government officials.

The $800 million aid package is in addition to the $2.5 billion that GRIP and NISA will provide to farmers. Farmers will have paid a total of $550 million in premiums to GRIP and NISA, providing them a net benefit from taxpayers of $1.95 billion.

This latest farm aid package continues the extensive support the government of Prime Minister Mulroney has provided to farmers, particularly western grain farmers.

1986 — $1 billion — Special Canadians Grains Program.

Your Canada, Your Parliament, Your Business

by The Honourable Jake Epp M.P. Provencher

1987 — $1.1 billion — SCGP II.

1988 — $850 million — Crop Drought Assistance Program.

1990 — $500 million — Special Income Assistance Program.

1991 — $640 million — Farm Support and Adjustment Measures (announced earlier and not included in $800 million package).

These special programs have been provided in addition to the established programs like the Western Grain Stabilization Program, the Canadian Wheat Board and interest free cash advances.

Eight hundred million is extraordinary aid that does not come cheaply. This large sum will come from the pockets of Canadian taxpayers. The $800 million was not in the last budget so the aid will be provided through a combination of tax increases and program cuts. The deficit will not be increased, so the special aid will require sacrifices from the people of Canada.

We will continue to fight for the end of the U.S. and European subsidies. When GATT negotiations are completed there should not be billions of trade distorting subsidies. This will be good news for farmers and taxpayers.

Thank You

We, the concerned farmers of Manitoba, would like to express our sincere appreciation for the support of the Farm Rally that was held on October 9, 1991.

The interest and support of individuals, businesses, and farmers was instrumental in the success of the Farm Rally. Without your involvement, that day would not have been the success it was.

All of you made a difference.

LGD of Alexander council

The wheels grind slowly

by Linda J. Dalgliesh

Martin Shauman wants to subdivide Pt 13-16-12E in the RM of Lac du Bonnet. This land is designated rural farm land and was formerly a pasture. Since his father sold his cattle five years ago, the land has not been utilized. Shauman decided to make a new cottage development on the property.

Shauman says the land is not suitable for other agricultural purposes. It's rocky and is only thirty-six acres in size. Shauman went to the RM of Lac du Bonnet to get approval to change the designation so he could subdivide. He thought the procedure would be fairly straight forward. The tax income from the development would be higher than from farm land.

Shauman discovered that only fifteen lots were left in the RM of Lac du Bonnet to be developed according to the recommendations of a study on water use. After these lots were developed, the municipality would be closed to further cottage lot development in this area.

A further problem was encountered. The land borders the LGD of Alexander and access would have to be through the LGD of Alexander. The RM of Lac du Bonnet said that the LGD of Alexander would have to agree to build a road to the property before they could agree to the subdivision.

Martin Shauman visited the LGD of Alexander on October 8. He proposed building a road from Sunset Bay subdivision which was adjacent to his property. The LGD of Alexander did not approve of this because of possible complaints from Sunset Bay residents with regards to dust and noise which are already a problem in that area.

Shauman then proposed a road through the north half of 18-16-13E which was also his property.

He would build the road but he wanted the LGD of Alexander to maintain it.

The problem with both these suggestions is that the LGD of Alexander would be required to maintain roads to service the RM of Lac du Bonnet subdivision. They would be required to pay for this out of LGD of Alexander taxes but would receive no income. The RM of Lac du Bonnet would get income from the taxes. Councillor Jill Papineau was also opposed to building a road to access an already congested waterway.

Shauman proposed developing three lots on 18-16-13E to provide a larger tax base. He understood that only three lots remained in this area for development in the LGD of Alexander. He discovered if he wished to subdivide these lots he had to apply to the Winnipeg River Planning Board.

Some LGD of Alexander council members proposed a possible cost sharing of the road with the RM of Lac du Bonnet or a swap of road care in an agreement. Councillor Nick Roman said this might be a possible solution. Councillor Diane Dube suggested that little could be done until a new development plan was put into effect. Some councillors suggested a condominium plan with the lot owners caring for the road. This was met with disfavor by Shauman because it could jeopardize sales.

At the Winnipeg River Planning District meeting on October 15, Shauman asked to have the land in 18-16-13E zoned SR1 which is for seasonal resident from agricultural. Ron Jackson, from municipal planning said there was still an eighty lots capacity in the LGD of Alexander for development into cottage lots.

Shauman said he would develop 8-16-13E to generate revenue to justify the road for the LGD of Alexander. He would be willing to develop up to ten lots.

Jackson said that at this stage with the new development plan presented for approval, it may not be possible to change the old plan until the new plan is approved.

The development plan was submitted seven months ago. It could take three to four months longer and it may take up to six months after that to change the new development plan. Shauman could appeal to the municipal board to speed up the processing of the development plan. He cannot register at this time to change to land designation. He said it won't hurt to appeal at the meetings which may be held in November or December.

LGD of Alexander Councillor Nick Roman who sits on the WRPD, said that the LGD would probably be willing to share costs for a road in a case when the RM of Lac du Bonnet traffic goes on the LGD of Alexander if a prior arrangement could be made. WRPD member Ted Pichor said he thought the RM of Lac du Bonnet should be willing to cost share the road.

Shauman rushed away from the WRPD meeting to meet with the RM of Lac du Bonnet at their meeting on October 15 as well, so he would not have to wait for a future meeting.

At the RM of Lac du Bonnet meeting, the council listened to Shauman's report. They decided to discuss the road question with the LGD of Alexander and consider such possibilities as cost sharing or a possible swap of maintenance costs with another road. Shauman was to be given a letter for the LGD of Alexander dealing with the issue.

At the point of writing this report on one man's struggle in local government, Shauman does not have a subdivision or a road to get to it. He has spent a lot of money and explained his case many times. It will be interesting to see when he will be able to cut through the red tape to a successful conclusion. Some progress has been made and Shauman has learned a lot in the process. To use another old analogy "The wheels grind slowly.."

Hollow Water Band Office burned

by Linda J. Dalglish
When the Hollow Water band office burned to the ground on Thanksgiving Day October 14, the Hollow Water people were thankful that at least no one had been killed in the fire or in the fire fighting.

pedite affairs. They will be asking contractors for bids to replace it as soon as possible because they need the office space. They are working around the clock on it. Replacement costs are high especially with a possible winter construction.

Bushey estimates it may cost seventy-five dollars per square foot. The former building was 6,000 square feet.

Chief Bushey said the destruction of the band office was "a real loss to the community" of seven hundred and fifty people.

The fire was spotted about 7:00-7:30 a.m. when an elderly man from the community located north of the Winnipeg River saw smoke in the building. He called Chief Rod Bushey and the volunteer fire department was called.

They concentrated their efforts on saving the clinic beside the administration building. They were hampered when a tree fell on a power line, due to high winds and killed the power.

The five million dollar building is only five or six years old. The building can be replaced and some records can be duplicated by Medical Services and Indian and Northern Affairs, but Bushey says many valuable items were lost including records, history, minutes, trophies, plaques as well as personal and hand memorabilia.

The band office is temporarily situated in a forty-five-year-old Catholic School building on the reserve. There are no partitions and Bushey is uncertain about winter heat but business is going on.

The band is making plans to rebuild as soon as possible. The insurance company, Christensen and McMaster, are assessing the site. The fire commissioner's office needs to report yet. Indian and Northern Affairs will be sending the blue print of the old building to them to ex-

Native doctor says there is no prejudice in medical field

by Linda J. Dalgleish
Lorne Clearsky, his wife Angela and three-year-old daughter Melissa attended the Pow Wow at Fort Alexander on Sept. 24. Clearsky is one of half a dozen native doctors in Manitoba and one of only 35 in Canada.

Clearsky is finished with medical school and is taking his family medicine residency at the Health Sciences Centre and Seven Oakes Hospital. When he finishes, Clearsky may practise in rural Manitoba or out west.

His native ancestry has never created any problems in his medical work. Few people are prejudiced against a doctor who is helping you.

Clearsky says that one reason why there are so few doctors is a lack of encouragement and role models. He hopes to speak to youth to encourage them to pursue medicine when he is finished his studies. He said that when he was growing up a bright student was encouraged to be a teacher, a nurse or a priest. He feels that as time goes on there will be more and more native professionals.

An active program is available in Manitoba to help native students pursue careers in dentistry, medicine, or physiotherapy. The students get a lot of support. The Canadian Native Physicians of Canada held their first meeting recently.

It is not more difficult for a Native woman than a native man to become a doctor. In fact, Clearsky says the first three native doctors in Manitoba were women. The enrollment is about even.

Many medical students are mature students. Sometimes they have a prior background in the field. For example, a nurse goes back to study medicine, or a dental therapist becomes a dentist. They have the drive to make it and the capability.

Clearsky says that many native health problems are caused by lost values, and the breakdown of the family. These need to be addressed by the local people. Native health professionals can help.

Clearsky said that he would like to come to terms with native medicine and scientific medicine. He would like to start acknowledging and accepting it. Clearsky said that some countries have hospitals with traditional medicine in one wing and scientific medicine in another. There are traditional and scientific pharmacies and doctors to help the patient together.

Clearsky doesn't think his life is any different than his colleagues, handling residency and a young family. The difference is that he will hopefully understand his people better.

Clearsky had some words for young people. He said, "Whatever they believe is possible, is attainable. Be doctors. Work for our people in whatever capacity."

Proof Positive
A criminal lawyer was questioning his client, a recent widow.
"Did you hear your husband's last words?" he asked.
"Sure," she answered.
"What did he say?"
"Go ahead and shoot. You couldn't hit the broad side of a barn."
