DON'T READ ANY FURTHER

That's right the important news of the week is right here and you won't want to miss it. The annual canoe regatta is to be held this Saturday, August 6th, at 1:00 p.m. at the pier.

There will be a guest disc jockey in the CFRW prize patrol to announce events. Don't miss it. This year it will be bigger and better. So, bring your canoe; bring your family! (If rained out Saturday the canoe regatta will be held on Sunday August 7th, 1:00 p.m.)

CHILDREN'S MASQUERADE

Another one of the big days for kids comes up this Saturday, August 6, 7:00 p.m. at the Sports Ground, or if the weather doesn't cooperate in the Clubhouse. Everybody gets consolation prizes of some sort, but official prizes are awarded to first, second and third place winners in 3 categories: original, comic and fancy. Age brackets are 3 and under, 4 and 5, 6 and 7, 8 and 9 and 10 and over — with separate prizes in all these events for both boys and girls. Lots of chances, and even special prizes at the end of the events for the best family costumes.

To speed up proceedings all contestants are asked to register prior to their competition. A registration table will open at 6:30 and everybody will be given a stick on tag stating their name, who they are eg.) fisherman, hula dancer etc., their age, and whether they are boys or girls (Manitoba Human Rights Commission please note — it is hard for judges to distinguish between 5 year old girl and boy pirates). The judging will begin with the smallest urchins at 7:00 p.m. and conclude with the families. So kids, start bugging your parents for ideas on what you can be at the Masquerade, and go find the scissors, cardboard, tape, crayons, clothes and aspirin.

ELECTION RESULTS

Here are the results of the Municipal Election held on Friday, July 29.

Peter Paulson — 531; George Ferguson — 429; Doreen Dennehy — 390; Alfred R. Nicholas — 358; L. Sam Mc-Morris — 355 and Paul Thain — 318.

JUNIOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

It's that time again for the major golf event of the season — the Victoria Beach Junior Golf Tournament. As usual there are lots of prizes to be won so don't miss the tournament on Tuesday, August 9th. Registration is at 12:00 noon and tee-off at 1:00 p.m. (shot-gun start).

There will be separate flights for each age group (10 and under, 11-12 yrs., 13-14 yrs., and 15 and over). Let's have a good turn-out, particularly the girls.

CRIME

Robert Jonsson, our hardworking Police Chief, reports the following violations between July 10th and July 27th, 1977. Highway Traffic Act — 14; Municipal Bylaws — 6; Liquor Seizures — 2. Total 22.

Mr. Jonsson has been receiving complaints about dogs being loose on the beaches — especially King Edward. It is not the job of the Police Chief to enforce the Bylaw which prohibits dogs from being on the beaches unless on a leash. The Municipality would have to hire a pound-keeper — at the tax-payers' expense — to control these dogs. So come on, folks, let's observe the Bylaw without supervision, and prevent the good old family pet from annoying the neighbours.

BRIDGE

Hello Bridge Fans. Last week's top scorers were: Bob Plaxton 1st with 5510; Mrs. Marjorie Buckland 2nd with 5160. There was some good playing with grand slams, small slams, doubled and redoubled — makes for an entertaining evening. We'll be getting together again next Monday as usual, why not join us. See you at 8:00 p.m.

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS

Copies of Looking Back 50 years with the Victoria Beach Herald are available at Stewart's store; Len's Fine Foods, Albert Beach and David's General Store. All proceeds from this book will be used for Victoria Beach Club facilities. The Club appreciates the generosity of these merchants in handling the books free of charge.

A VISIT TO THE MOVIES

I really like that soothing, sentimental song, "Love me tender", and thought it might be fun to see the young Elvis Presley sing it in the film of the same name.

Believing that the show would start at 8:00 p.m., I walked briskly to the Clubhouse, arriving with 10 mins. to spare. A small crowd of youngsters covered the steps outside the closed green door. All but the smallest wore jeans or brief, ragged cutoffs, and T shirts with bizarre emblems or slogans. Almost all carried a bag of sunflower seeds. One girl chewed in a sort of trance, rhythmically spewing out the shells onto the heads of the kids seated on the lower steps. Others alternately blew out and sucked in shocking-pink bubbles of gum. They kept a high-pitched chatter — none of it comprehensible to me. Well, there was more than one generation gap between us.

After many false alarms, the doors finally opened about 8:15 p.m. and everyone filed in and lined up at the box-office in a fairly orderly manner. I showed my membership card and paid my money. For 75 cents, I felt, I couldn't lose. I was wrong.

I found an aisle seat near the front. The audience was small enough that I didn't feel my adult height need block anyone's view. There was a further delay while the projector was set up. I watched a shoving match among the small boys on the front benches, listened to some teen-age girls discuss their friends' unhappy love affairs, and watched the floor rapidly acquiring a carpet of sunflower seed husks.

At last the lights were snapped out and with a whirr the film began. "Introducing Elvis Presley" the credits said — so it must have been his first film.

Wait! The lights flicked on again. The film was only using the middle third of the screen. Adjustments must be made. A blurry, full-sized picture of a Civil War soldier reading a piece of paper appeared and disappeared half-a-dozen times, while the audience hooted, jumped up and down, and made animal silhouettes on the screen by holding clenched hands in the projector beam.

Finally we're off again and the lights go out. A highly moral story unfolds about a noble hero who returns from the American Civil War to find his fiancée married to his younger brother — the hero having been reported dead.

Though it supposedly takes place in Louisiana just after the War, it is exactly like any shoot-em-up Western you've ever seen. Well, I used to like them when I was 10 years old. Today's children being more sophisticated, the entire audience was bored. Elvis, I discovered, was an appalling actor. He was reasonably entertaining in the few non-memorable songs he did, accompanied by his guitar and his characteristic knee jerks and hip swivels.

I kept wondering where they were going to fit in "Love me Tender" among all the gun-fights and horse-back chases. You won't believe this, but they never did. Due to the extreme age of the film, the last 5 mins., when the dying Elvis sings it to his wife, is missing. Norm Carriere's rendition as we filed out just didn't compensate.

BEACH EVENTS AND SPORTS DAY

We would like to extend our thanks to Silverwoods Dairies for their continuing support in supplying ice-cream for the children (and Adults). The traditional Dixie Cups were not available this year, however, the fudgies provided were enjoyed by all. Many thanks again to Silverwoods.

BEACH PEOPLE

Mrs. E. G. Bailey and Miss Melody Goatcher were recent guests at "Melody Lane", 414-7th.

Mr. & Mrs. A. Anderson, Sr., of Malmo, Sweden will be guests in August. They are presently touring the United States and western Canada with their son Arne who will accompany them to Victoria Beach.

Harold and Fran Parker, 330-3rd have Fran's sister Evelyn (Lynne) Lannan visiting them for a month. Their daughter, Penny Peter and husband Don and children Lisa and John arrive on August 8th for two weeks from London, Ontario. On August 12th, their son Bryan, his wife Arlene and daughter Patricia arrive for a two-week visit. Nieces Linda Herbert and Dale Chan also arrive from Calgary with their husbands and sons Paul & Chad.

Hope and Laurie Wilmot have been occupying their cottage at 307 Third Avenue, since early in May of this year. They have been pleased to welcome as visitors Archdeacon and Mrs. Crawley (their daughter Louise) and their two daughters, Hope and Sarah. The Crawley's have purchased and are in process of building on Lot 21 Hampton Subdivision.

A younger daughter, Hope and her husband Douglas Rowland and their two boys, Paul and Wade* were visitors at the family cottage for a birthday celebration on July 25 & 26th.

(*from Wakefield, Quebec.)

On Thursday July 28th, some of the King Edward Beach friends of Anita & Ed Buller (Willy and Eddie too) had a barbeque supper in their honour. The Bullers are leaving their cottage at 408 eighth. They are moving to a newly purchased cottage at Sandy Beach. King Edward's loss is Sandy Beach's gain.

Karen Jaeger (8) of 313-3rd injured her left foot when jumping barefoot off a sand cliff along the beach.

While suspecting a simple sprain at first, a subsequent trip and X-ray in Winnipeg confirmed a fracture of the 3rd metatarsal in her foot.

She now sports a knee-high cast. Her only regret is that her wings didn't work and that this finishes her swimming for the rest of the season. Speedy recovery Karen!

Dr. & Mrs. Rayner, Donald and Timothy, of Long Beach, Mississippi have been the guests of Mr. & Mrs. H. S. Hanson, 401 Sunset Boulevard.

TO ALL DOGS

Tell your families to get out the brush and comb and get you all spruced up for the Dog Show on Sunday, August 14th, at the Sports Ground. See you there at 7:00 p.m. Woof, woof.

HAPPY ENDING

You'll be pleased to know that the lady who was lost last weekend while berry-picking at Belair, was found safe and sound the next morning at 7:00 a.m.

SAILING

On the August long weekend our sailors competed for the Sprague Cup. Four races were held. Saturday there was no race due to bad weather but we managed to get in two races on Sunday in good winds and the other two on Monday in light winds. In the variation of wind conditions the skills of the sailors were put to their test. 1st place for the cup went to Tam Scott, 2nd to Dave Priestley, 3rd to Orest Dackow and 4th to Al Dack. We had 35 boats in the compound this year and the race committee is disappointed there are not more boats competing. Lets all get out there and see what we can do.

THE OLD MILL.

Ever wonder why the campsite on Highway 59, near Victoria Beach, is called "Old Mill park"? Someone told me to ask Mrs. Freda Jonsson, who, incidentally, is the Mother of our Police Chief. "Well," she said, "That narrow strip of land between the marsh and Traverse Bay was once a focal point of the community."

Just after the first World War it held a saw-mill, a house for the owners, a camp for 30-40 loggers, and a fishing station. It was a bit wider then, but not much. There was also a railway siding there and people came from all along the east side of Lake Winnipeg to reach the train. They came by boat in summer and over the frozen lake by dog-sled or on horseback in winter. If you had to travel, or meet a visitor, or ship or receive freight, that's where you came.

The owners of the saw-mill were brothers — Dave and Robert Thomson. They hired loggers, both Indian and white, to cut timber around Traverse Bay, including the Catfish Creek and Jackfish Creek areas. The logs were piled in the bush till freeze-up, and then hauled across the ice to the mill and dumped in front of it. A continuous belt fed them into the mill which cut them into planks to be sent by train to the lumber yards in Winnipeg. Any logs that remained when the Lake thawed were kept from floating away by a boom.

Unfortunately, the Thomsons were caught in the beginnings of the Great Depression. It cost them $80 per 1,000 board feet for lumber to build their mill. By the time they had some for sale the price had dropped to $40 for the same quantity.

However, they were enterprising. The Abitibi Mill at Pine Falls had opened by this time, so the Thomsons continued to send out men to cut logs for pulp-wood and shipped them straight to Pine Falls to be made into paper. This proved very profitable and they were able to regain some of their losses. The employment was a boon to the whole area, as jobs were scarce and there was no Welfare then.

The Thomson Mill was no longer in operation and was pulled down about 1929. The brothers continued to live in the house till about 1933 when they moved to Stead. Dave's son, Robert, still owns a 1,800 acre farm there. The Thomsons used the old Mill house as a summer home for many years after that, but it was gradually being destroyed by vandals, so, just a few years ago, they donated all that could be salvaged to the Faith Bible Camp.

The fishing station was managed by Mr. Jim Olafson, whose family still lives in this area. Fish were caught in Lake Limit of twelve people so hurry over to Norm Carriere's cottage to sign up and get more information.

Not only has all this activity vanished, but the train as well. Maybe, someday, no-one will remember why that barren strip is called "Old Mill Park".

OVER-NIGHT CAMP

Want to go camping for only two dollars? If you are twelve and under this is your chance. There will be an overnigher Monday, August 8th at 12:00 till Tuesday, August 9th, 10:00 a.m. Limit of twelve people so hurry over to Norm Carrier's cottage to sign up and get more information.

How many Herald readers have been passed by the gravel trucks close to the Beach and have received broken headlights or damaged windshields? The trucks seem to travel in groups of 6-10. There have been two incidences of damage this July. Is this a matter for Council?

MORE ABOUT FISH FLYS

With regard to the question posed in an earlier Herald, as to who had ridded King Edward Beach of the fishfly-maggot mess — Bouquets to Richard Grover! He devoted four or five hours one afternoon to raking, digging, burying. Pressed into service as his assistants were Sheila Grover & Mr. Matheson, but certainly the equipment & the initiative belonged to Richard. Well done!

A fool and his money are soon popular.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In spite of appearances, E. Howard Hunt and Gordon Liddy did not participate in events immediately preceding today's municipal elections. Former U.S. President Richard Nixon also stayed away, according to unofficial reports from Sam Clemente, although a close aide refused to confirm or deny this. Former U.S. Attorney-General Mitchell was unavailable for comment.

It seems therefore that the citizens of Victoria Beach managed to conduct their elections without outside help. Most residents were under the impression that the distribution of partisan election advertising was illegal in the 24 hours preceding the opening of the polls. An examination of the Manitoba Local Elections Act revealed, however, that it contains no provisions regulating the extent, cost, nature or timing of election propaganda. It is possible, of course, that other Manitoba statutes may apply and that the elections could be declared invalid, but since the Reeve of the Municipality, (returned to office by acclamation) is a barrister, one can assume that he would be familiar with the provisions of the various provincial statutes. It can be assumed that the distribution of his letter on the eve of the election, although a surprise, was not illegal. It denounced obliquely two incumbent candidates, and promoted the candidacy of Messrs Nicholas and Paulson. Posters urging people to "vote today" for these two candidates also appeared all over the beach on election day itself.

The Reeve's letter was interesting. One has no way of knowing whether it was truthful, of course, since the two incumbents attacked had no opportunity to reply before the polls opened. It could have been full of innuendo, half-truth and inaccuracy with a veneer of plausibility lacquered with just the right touch of regret at the necessity for intervening personally on behalf of individual candidates. It could also have been the truth, or one individual's most honest attempt at it. Unfortunately we'll never know, at least, not in time for the knowledge to affect our vote.

What did the Reeve hope to gain? It is possible that he wished simply to promote the election of those persons with whom he felt most capable of cooperating. It is also possible, of course, that he wished to secure the defeat of those candidates who were not afraid to examine his proposals to council, nor to oppose them if they judge them to be against the best interests of the municipality. A docile and manageable council which can be said to owe its election to the Reeve's intervention, might make things easier for him. It is unlikely that it would in any way improve the efficiency of municipal services, nor reduce costs. It certainly increases the possibility of errors of judgement and perhaps of abuses.

The timing of the distribution of the letter is crucial. It shows a disregard for principle of fair debate in favour of compliance with minimum legal requirements. It resembles the kind of political tactic employed by the Nixon gang. It may achieve its objectives, if it does, it will also spread cynicism and disaffection for the democratic political process.

The polls are still open at the time this article is being written. It remains to be seen whether the voters share this writer's dislike of the use of legal but unfair tactics.

Sam McMorris would like to thank all those who worked for him and who voted for him in the recent election.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all persons who worked for and supported me during the recent election.

I was comparatively unknown to many persons, and regret that I was unable to meet with many other voters, but time did not permit.

I feel that in future elections, public meetings should be held in order for new as well as old nominees to present themselves and their views to voters.

Thank you very much for your support and confidence. I will endeavor to serve as councillor for the next three years in a manner which will be most beneficial to our community as a whole.

Colorful cotton hammocks hand-woven in the Mayan Indian tradition that survives in the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico. These hammocks are of strong flexible web of cotton string unsurpassed for lounging or rest. Unlike the bed, the chair or the fishnet hammock, the Yucatan hammock follows your recesses and excesses, accepting the natural curves of the human body. You do not lie on this hammock—you are suspended by it. It's the closest thing to floating you will find.

COUNCIL CORNER (by the Reeve)

Well Beach elections are over for the next three years and some election it was. While I am certain the official results will be detailed elsewhere in the Herald, there are some statistics which may be of interest.

Of 1,692 voters shown on the list of electors, 736 cast their ballot, for a 43.5 percent turn-out, the greatest ever recorded for our municipality. When considering the percentage vote, one must remember that over 90 percent of our municipal electorate are non-resident owners. While the majority of non-residents naturally reside in Winnipeg, many are spread throughout the Province, as for instance Tom Farrell and wife, Tom being the Mayor of Thompson. Others are spread across seven Provinces, with homes as far west as Victoria, B.C., and east to Montreal.

Unfortunately I do not have exact statistics as to just who voted, and from where, or how many were added to the list of electors on election day. These facts are presently held under lock and seal by the Returning Officer pending the possibility of a demand for re-count, as only a few votes separated the fourth and fifth placed candidates. For this reason the following statistics may not be totally exact.

The Electors List is divided into two parts — resident voters and non-resident voters. Prior to Court of Revision and names added on election day, there were 160 resident voters and 1,532 non-resident, for a total of 1,692. However one must look more carefully at the list when determining actual voters and whether they are truly resident or not. For instance the list carries the names of many deceased persons, some who passed on several years ago. This is due to the fact that all registered land-owners are automatically recorded and in many instances land is left registered in the name of a deceased for many years.

Upon looking closer at the 160 electors shown as resident voters, one discovers that 30 of this number were not available to vote, or are shown as 'resident' by choice, and not by fact — sons and daughters of permanent residents who are temporarily resident elsewhere in Canada (5); school teachers who do not reside at the Beach during summer months (5); persons who have moved-away since the Electors List was completed (9); deceased (4); and summer cottagers who for their own purposes prefer to denote their cottage as their place of permanent residency (7).

Of the remaining 130 available permanent resident voters, approximately 90 percent went to the Polls last Friday. While their percentage turn-out is most commendable, their influence upon the eventual outcome is not great, being less than 16 percent of the 736 votes cast.

There are other interesting statistics that belie an often heard rumour that the eventual outcome of the election was greatly influenced by wide-spread 'plumping'. As you know, every voter had the opportunity of voting for four of six candidates, though could by choice vote for only one, two, or three candidates. There were 2,381 individual votes accepted by the Returning Officers, and as there were 736 voters, the average was 3.2 candidates per ballot. This is higher than is normal for similar elections across the country.

Another statistic of interest is that the successful candidates held relatively the same positions at both City and Municipal polls. The first-placed candidate who garnered a whopping 72 percent of all ballots cast, led both polls. Second-placed, who received 58 percent, was second at the municipal poll and third in the City, missing second-place by but three votes. Third-placed (53 percent) was third at the Municipal and second in the City by three votes, and finally the fourth-placed was fourth in the City while missing fourth place at the Municipal poll by eight votes, and was supported by 49 percent of the voters.

The highlight of the election, of course, was that for the first time in the history of our municipality, your five-person Council has a resident majority. The possibility of a re-count for fourth place would not alter this position, the candidates involved both being non-residents.

There are still some who claim that resident voters somehow or other were able to maneuver a position of strength vis-à-vis the non-resident voter. How impossible with but approximately 16 percent of those who went to the polls. The fact is that a majority of summer residents recognize the fact that we who by choice have selected the Beach, with its particular quality of life. Our permanent home, are going to zealously guard those qualities above all.

Personally I believe we have arrived at a well-balanced Council — two resident and two non-resident Councillors. Naturally I expect the likelihood of having to cast some once-in-a-lifetime-breaking votes. You can be assured that this will be done with the very best interests of all at heart. Of my 52 years, I have spent close to 30 of them as a non-resident voter of our Municipality and thus must surely qualify as one knowledgeable in the desires of the majority, to whose will, as Reeve, I am pledged.

I urge all interested to attend the Inaugural meeting of Council to be held, as usual, at the Sports Club, Pine Road. The date, as is fixed by Provincial legislation, is Friday, August 12th. The time is 7:30 p.m. (sharp). Free transportation is available from the parking lot for those who have difficulty in making the walk (between 7:00 and 7:20 p.m.). Please consider this date and support your Council and those who deserve special tribute on this one night which will not be repeated for three years. The meeting should not last more than one-and-one-half hours and refreshments will be served.
